J. R. Bancroft, President American Inst. of Finance Is Optimistic For 1933

Believes That Ground Work for Recovery Has Been Laid and Will Show Results During Coming Year

At a joint meeting of the Newton and Watertown Rotary Clubs at the Brae Burn Country Club on Tuesday, James R. Bancroft, President of the American Institute of Finance and a resident of Waban, as guest speaker of the day, expressed himself as optimistic for the year 1933. President Walter L. McCammon of the Newton Club presided, and Mr. Bancroft spoke in part as follows:

The year 1933 will be known, I believe, as the first year of general recovery in the long depression of the 1930s. One real basis for optimism is that, after three years of fighting depression by purely defensive measures—in the belief that normal conditions would again be restored automatically—we have finally come to a realization of what our fundamental problems are and are showing an increasing willingness to face and grapple with them.

These problems may be enumerated as follows:

The heavy load of debts throughout the world, resulting from the war.

The credit inflation and extravagance of the post-war reconstruction era.

Unbalanced national budgets—practically all countries.

World-wide excessive tariffs and tariff retaliation.

Drastic commodity price declines—particularly the maladjustments in price between various commodities that have risen in such declines largely a result of the four preceding conditions.

Actually, while much still remains to be done, there has been substantial progress in reduction of some governmental, corporate and personal debts. The Lausanne Agreement marked the practical end of German reparations payments, which had proved an unbearable load for that country and a constant threat to a complete collapse in the world commodity price level.

While unfortunately it was not followed up by a similar handling of the inter-allied debt situation, the default of France on her December 15th payment to this country and the great publicity given the correspondence between the allied nations and this country in regard to debts, has focused public attention on this problem, and substantial progress in its solution should be made in 1933.

In corporate activity there has been a marked reduction in indebtedness through default and readjustments. It has become clear that if readjustments are not made voluntarily, the situation will be rectified, as far as debtors are concerned, by outright default.

At home, we have corrected the credit inflation and the extravagance of the post-war reconstruction era. Extravagance in corporate activity has been replaced by what is probably the most efficient operating basis that we have seen in a great many years.

Readjustment of operating costs in democracies is always slow, but it has become increasingly evident to everyone that substantial readjustments in governmental operating costs are vital to business recovery, and hence the well-being of every citizen. We may be said to have reached the crisis in this field, and it is only at times of crises that politicians move. This problem will be solved, I believe, in 1933, by absolute force of circumstances. Substantial progress in the definite balancing of all budgets—federal, state and municipal—should be one of the outstanding developments of 1933.

Though progress in solving other basic problems, namely, tariff retaliation between nations and the inequalities in the decline of commodity prices, is much less certain, it is nevertheless evident as we stand at the beginning of the 1933 year that the relative stability in business activity of the last six months has a firm foundation in the steps already taken for deflation of debts; in the marked reduction in corporate operating costs; in the evident, though imperfect progress already made toward readjustment of governmental costs.

It is clear that the progress we make in 1933 toward restoration of normal business conditions will depend upon a willingness to readjust war indebtedness, further real and definite steps toward budget balancing, increased international amity, and in reduction of retaliatory tariffs. Given further progress along these lines, which I confidently expect, the year 1933 should be known as the initial year of definite recovery in this long depression.

School Committee Re-Elects Geo. H. Tracy Chairman

The Newton School Committee on Monday re-elected George H. Tracy of Newtonville chairman. It was voted to continue the survey of school costs in Newton by the sub-committee which has been studying this matter. This committee is comprised of Walter A. Amesbury, George H. Fernald, Jr., and Kirtley F. Mather. It was also voted to appoint a sub-committee to revise the rules under which the department has operated.

AUTO, BUS CRASH MOTORIST HURT

Wednesday morning an automobile operated by Harry Atamian of Uxbridge and a Middlesex & Boston bus operated by William Hazlett of Charles St., Auburndale collided at Commonwealth ave. and Lake St. Atamian received cuts on his face and hands. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. His car was badly damaged and the gas tank on the bus broken.

Local Campaign By Trademark Association

To Request Citizens To Support "Buy American" Movement

A local educational and money raising campaign is being organized in the city of Newton by the American Trademark Association, Inc. of Boston. Its slogan is "Buy American Products. Keep America Employed."

The local campaign manager is Donald B. Hyde of Randlett Park, West Newton. The local campaign for funds will be started on Monday, January 9. The citizens of Newton are to be solicited on behalf of the organization by a corps of workers taken from the ranks of Newton's unemployed. They will receive 20 per cent of their collections. The Community Chest will receive 10 per cent and the national organization will receive the remaining 70 per cent.

Those who contribute will receive a button carrying the insignia of the organization, which appears with this article. The members of the national advisory board of the organization are Elmer J. Bliss, and Howard Conoley of Boston, A. B. Newhall of Watertown, and Harry L. Bailey, Francis P. Garvan and S. A. Savage of New York. The home office is in Boston.

The tenets of the organization are summarized in the following excerpt taken from an advertisement which appeared in the Boston Transcript, September 29, 1932:

"Economic—Because it is based upon the belief that it is sound judgment to buy commodities that develop our pay-rolls, prosper our industries and maintain the purchasing power of our people.

"Patriotic—because the dollars spent here by those who have earned them here, for products that are made here, build up the country which prospers and protects us.

"Humanitarian—because it means the prosperity of the American wage-earners who, when employed on full time, are sufficiently well paid to enable them and their families to enjoy not only the necessities, but the comforts, luxuries and opportunities of life."

Newton School Janitors Accept Cut In Wages

The Newton School Custodians Association, comprised of the janitors, firemen and engineers of the Newton public schools held a meeting last Friday afternoon to discuss the matter of the 7 1/2% wage cut recently ordered by Mayor Weeks. The meeting was called by George Kellar, secretary of the School Department who is in charge of the school custodians. Supt. of Schools John Lund addressed the gathering and explained to the men the reasons given by the Mayor for the cut. It was voted to accept the reduction.

Mayor Weeks Is Firm on Wage Cut Of Newton Police

Notifies Them That He Will Not Alter His Decision

Today Mayor Weeks sent to every member of the Newton Police Department who signed a protest against the wage reduction of 7 1/2% affecting all employees of the city of Newton the following letter:—

"Dear Sir: You are hereby notified that I have decided, after a public hearing held before me of which you had due notice, that your compensation for services as a member of the Newton Police Department is hereby reduced for the calendar year 1933 in the amount of 7 1/2% of your 1932 salary."

"This reduction will become effective immediately."

"Officers entitled to the step increase in the year 1933 will receive a reduction of the same percentage on their increased salary as it accrues."

"I have determined that this rate of salary is proper compensation for your position for the year 1933. My reason for this is my belief that the taxpayers of the city expect this reduction in view of economic conditions: such reduction being in fact consistent with the purchasing value of your salary when first established."

Signed: SINGLAIR WEEKS, Mayor of Newton.

Hearings Held on The Police Wage Cut Protest

Public hearings were held at City Hall on last Friday and on Wednesday of this week on the protest made by members of the Newton police department against the wage cut of 7 1/2% recently ordered by Mayor Weeks. The protest was signed by 124 of the 127 members of the department. Mayor Weeks presided at the two hearings. The city was represented by City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett. The policemen were represented by George A. McLaughlin of Cambridge, counsel for the Massachusetts Police Association. The police contend that according to Civil Service rules salaries are not supposed to be reduced unless the financial condition of a city render such action necessary, and the fact that Newton is in an excellent financial condition and its tax rate has been lowered the past two years indicates that this city's financial condition does not necessitate the action taken by Mayor Weeks. Mr. McLaughlin at the hearing last Friday made the proposal to the Mayor that the police donate 10% of their salaries to the city instead of receiving the 7 1/2% wage cut. This proposal was not accepted by the Mayor, who asserted that the time has come for a downward revision in the pay of city employees, and that even with the 7 1/2% cut the wages paid them will be more proportionally than received in 1929 because of the reduced cost of living.

Among the witnesses on Friday were City Treasurer Newhall and John W. Murphy, chairman of the Board of Assessors. Mr. Newhall testified that in 1930 the city collected 75.78% of the taxes due, in 1931 it collected 74.27% and this year only 68.52%. Mr. McLaughlin asked that these figures be disregarded as this year's figures could not, as yet, be compared with the preceding years. Mr. Newhall also admitted that the city had not lost much through uncollected taxes as nearly all property seized the past couple of years for non-payment of taxes has subsequently been redeemed. Mr. Murphy, under cross examination by Counsel McLaughlin stated that Newton's tax rate in 1932 was reduced $1.60 through the medium of transferring $400,000 (Continued on Page 8)

First Inaugural Conducted At New City Hall

Collins, Gallagher Re-Elected Pres. and Vice Pres. Board of Aldermen

The first inaugural in Newton's new City Hall was held on Monday afternoon, January 2nd at 3 o'clock. About 75 persons were present when City Clerk Frank Grant opened the inaugural exercises by calling to order the first meeting of the 1933 Board of Aldermen. All the members of the Board were present except Alderman Murray. Alderman Norman Pratt was chosen as temporary presiding officer. He appointed as the committee to escort Mayor Weeks into the aldermanic chamber Aldermen Chandler, Grebenstein and Temperley. The Mayor was accompanied by Rev. Timothy A. Curtin, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, and ex-Mayor Charles E. Hatfield. Rev. Fr. Curtin offered prayer, following which the Mayor administered the oath of office to the aldermen elect and members elect of the School Committee. Aldermen elect who took the oath of office for the first time included Maynard Hutchinson of Ward 3, Dennis M. Cronin of Ward 4, Donald D. McKay of Ward 5, Ronald W. Cordingley of Ward 6, Franklin E. Smith of Fairmount ave., Newton, member on the School Committee from Ward 1 was also inducted into this office for the first time. Also for the first time in several years the entire seven members of the School Committee were present at the inaugural.

The inaugural address of Mayor Weeks, comparatively brief, and free from statistical details, is printed in full in another column of this issue. Following the Mayor's address and his departure from the hall, the Board of Aldermen organized for the coming year. Alderman Roy Collins of Newtonville was unanimously re-elected President, and Alderman Thomas M. Gallagher of Ward 1 was unanimously re-elected Vice President. Francis Newhall was re-elected by the Board as City Treasurer and Collector. The only business transacted by the Board was the filing of an application for a common victualler license by Yvonne Lacroix at 291 Watertown St., Nonantum, and authorizing the City Treasurer to borrow $4,500,000 in anticipation of revenue from taxes. This sum is for the conduct of the city government during the coming year.

The standing committees of the Board of Aldermen appointed for the coming year by President Collins are as follows: Finance: Gordon, chairman; Bowen, Chandler, Gallagher, Jamieson, Pratt and President Collins. Public Works: Murray, chairman; Floyd, Grebenstein, Holden, Howlett, Hutchinson, Temperley. Franchises and Licenses: Hawkins, chairman; Cordingley, Cronin, Farrell, Hill, McKay, Sproat. Mayor Weeks At Inaugural Says His Objective Is To Reduce Tax Burden

Says Economy in Government Will Help Unemployed In Long Run—Wage Reduction Made to Prevent Tax Increase

The address given by Mayor Weeks at the inaugural of the 1933 City Government at City Hall on Monday afternoon was quite brief as compared with inaugural addresses of past years. The Mayor refrained from going into statistical details of city affairs and confined himself largely to a discussion of the financial problem which confronts all governmental activities in the long continued depression. He asserted that he will endeavor, while Mayor of Newton, to keep the tax burden of this city as low as possible. He defended his action in lowering the wages of city employees 7 1/2 per cent. He stated that he had voted to increase the wages of the city employees during the prosperous years and that he would be one of the first to work for a restoration of the higher scale if economic conditions improve.

"Sixty years ago, or just after the close of the Civil War, Newton inaugurated its first City Government, and the situation as we meet here today to induct into office those new members of the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee who take their seats here for the first time, in a sense is somewhat analogous and deserving of comparison. The famous panic of 1873 was just beginning to take effect. In those distant days the world was in turmoil; many men were unemployed; hysteria ruled; corruption was rampant and many believed that the end of good times had definitely arrived.

"Today we are in the throes of a similar, though somewhat more severe, post-war depression which has continued to such an extent that many today look into the future with uncertainty and hesitation; but good times came again after the troubles of the 70's, and personally, although I have no illusions as to the possibility of immediate recovery, I have complete, and I believe justified optimism, as to the eventual outcome.

"It is my privilege, according to long established custom, to address you at this time and in doing so it is of course my duty to summarize the present condition of our City Government and to make such recommendations as seem to me wise for the year just before us. During the past year general conditions, instead of improving, have become somewhat worse from almost every standpoint, and the situation has begun to reflect itself in government generally. The year 1932 witnessed a substantial deficit in the operation of our National Government as well as the government of some States and municipalities. It was almost as if the obligations of some municipalities; payless pay days, running in the case of some cities of Massachusetts over a three to four months period, and in general a disposition on the part of government officials to ignore the fact that new conditions are with us and that government must conform itself to those conditions or suffer the consequences. Moreover, it reflected a new and heretofore unknown lack of confidence on the part of the investor in municipal and some State and county obligations, the natural sequence of which was high interest rates and for many municipalities an extremely poor market for the sale of their securities.

"During all this period, Newton has maintained its sound financial position, and its obligations not only find an unquestioned market but sell favorably, if not more so, than any other city in the State. Just as an example, on December 1st, Newton issued temporary notes in anticipation of revenue to the amount of $200,000 maturing May 15, 1933, and they were sold at a cost to the city of .77% per annum. We have during the past year not only kept our financial house in order but in 1932 we were able to afford the taxpayers of the city relief in the tax burden to the extent of $1.60, making a total reduction during the past two years of $2.20 per thousand of valuation. The present rate of $25 per thousand is the lowest rate of any municipality in the State and is $2.50 per thousand under the rate of Gardner, the city next in line.

"This result in 1932 was accomplished despite reduction of $2,512,450 in valuations as compared with the previous taxable period although this reduction was, as it happens, offset by new construction assessed for the first time on April 1, 1932. Since 1922, up to and including 1931, our valuations showed for the ten-year period an annual average increase of $7,400,000. This annual increase as indicated above dropped right out of the picture in 1932, and the present outlook indicates for the immediate future a shrinkage in valuations rather than otherwise.

"Under ordinary conditions at this time, it would be my duty to not only take account of stock but to indicate and recommend a reasonable course of action to follow during the year just ahead of us. Conditions are not ordinary today, however, and in view of the situation as I see it, the only course of action I can conscientiously recommend is that course which consists in operating our City Government from the most economical plane possible.

"Rightly or wrongly I am sincerely and honestly convinced that the burden of taxation in this country must come down, and that one of the brakes on the possibility of our

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

NEWTON LOSES TO MELROSE IN FIRST LEAGUE HOCKEY TILT

Newton High opened its hockey season last Saturday at the Boston Garden and received a 4 to 0 shutout at the hands of a speedy Melrose six which by its general play in comparison with that of the teams in the other three games of the afternoon is regarded as the most dangerous contender for the 1933 Greater Boston Interscholastic League title again.

The Melrose victory was well-deserved although Newton showed promise at times to indicate that it will be a thorn in the side of many an other aggregation before the season is ended. With Captain Charley Houghton and Nat Sostillo two of the most rugged defence players in the schoolboy game today the development of forward line and the drilling for team play instead of individual effort should go a long way to making a decided improvement.

Coach Dr. Oscar Martin was called to Chicago the night before the game because of the death of his brother but though Newton was perhaps affected by his absence the Melrose sextet was clearly the superior team. With Tom Foley turning in some great passing to his centre ice, George Carpenter, this pair turned in three of the plays that chalked up tallies for Melrose. Foster counted the other tally on a pass from Spadofora. Two of the goals came in the first period and the remaining two in the last.

For Newton the starting line-up was Manning, Iw; Kevorkian, c; Byrnes, rw; Houghton, ld; Sostillo, rd; Hennessey, goal. Green, Dennison, Griffin, Giles and McLeod were forward spares and Johnson a defence spare. Sostillo and Hennessey played throughout the game.

In other games Arlington surprised with a 4-0 win over Rindge, Captain George Ford personally piloted Belmont to a 3-1 victory over Stoneham while Medford was held to a scoreless tie by a hard working Cambridge Latin six.

The mild weather and no ice has resulted in the postponement of two league games for the Newton six this week. The first of the week Newton was scheduled to meet Medford and yesterday or today a trip to Rindge was in order. Tomorrow another set of games will be played on the Garden ice with Newton meeting Stoneham.

BASKETBALL FIVE OPENS SEASON AGAINST FACULTY
This afternoon the Newton High School basketball team will open its season in a game with the high school faculty. Led by Captain Warren Huston the Newton five is the smoothest working quintet that has represented the school since the sport was re-established four years ago. Coach Frank Simmons has Captain Huston at centre with Charles Flagg and Joe Mastropieri in the forward positions and Eddie Grothe and Gordon Bass in guard positions. Bill Tilley, another player of first team calibre, is at present ineligible and when he returns he will probably play at either centre or guard. Huston will drop back to guard when Tilley is at centre. Other players who are playing good basketball to hold their positions on the varsity squad and giving the so-called regulars a close run for the various berths are George Taylor and Howell DuPuy, forwards, and Palmer York, guard.

The faculty will have Coach Simmons, Ray Green, John Sullivan, Jeff Jones, Charley Considine, and other teachers as their leading players. Newton's first scheduled game will be played next week Wednesday afternoon on the Newton floor against the Westboro High school five and on Friday will travel to Quincy for its first away from home game.

SPORT NOTES
Our Lady Wins Opener
Our Lady High's basketball team, defending Catholic League champions, opened its season last Saturday morning defeating the Alumni, 40 to 25. Tony Marino, a newcomer filling a vacated left forward position, was the outstanding performer with 20 points to his credit. McCarthy with 8 points and Gallagher with 7 played well. Gannon led for the alumni with 10 points.

On "All" Track Team
Frank Kanaly of Belmont began his head coaching of the Yale track team this week. He has served for a number of years as assistant coach at Yale and prior to that was head coach at the University of Maine, M. I. T., and Colby. In a press interview the other day Coach Kanaly was asked to name outstanding performers in college track that he had handled. Among the list was the name of Jack Kellar of West Newton who was a leading discus thrower at Tech a dozen years ago.

On Husky Freshman Squads
George Bennett and Warren Springer are Newton youths on Northeastern University freshman winter sports squads. Bennett is a candidate for a forward position on the yearling hockey team and Springer is out for the basketball five.

CELEBRATE 25TH ANNIVERSARY
Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Madden of Hall-rton rd., Newton Upper Falls, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Monday evening. The house was profusely decorated with flowers. Many friends and relatives, including two sons and a daughter who have blessed the marriage, joined in congratulations and helped make the occasion one to be happily remembered by all present.

NEWTON UNDERDOG IN FIRST TRACK MEET CUSAMANO INJURED

Bill Cusamano, one of the leading performers on Coach Don Enoch's Newton High track team sprained an ankle while high jumping on Wednesday and will be unable to compete in the opening dual meet of the Newton season tomorrow on the local track. Lawrence High with a strong aggregation of competitors are the opponents and are favored to win through the loss of Cusamano and the possibility that other Newton point winners will also be unable to take an active part. Captain Doug Sloane suffered from an attack of grippe last week and it is uncertain whether or not he will be in shape to run the dash. Though it may be possible for him to compete with the layoff from considerable practice it is almost impossible that he can reach a peak performance. The visiting team from Lawrence has one of the outstanding schoolboy sprinters in Ellsworth Roberts who has competed against Sloane many times in the past couple of years with the Newton boy having the best of the bargain by the narrowest of margins. Dick Francis, a promising hurdler and sprinter, injured a knee in football which has not responded properly to treatment and his scoring attempts are other unknown quantities.

But despite these handicaps the Newton-Lawrence setto should be a good attraction for local track fans as the Newton mentor has considerable talent which is more or less untied. With Sloane and Francis uncertain in the dash the burden of this event will rest upon Bob Quigley, Gordon Frost, Gordon Wilkie and Louis Miller. In the 300-yard run Cusamano was the speediest orange and black performer with Dave McClelland giving him a close race in a recent time trial. McClelland may prove the dark horse of the meet against the Lawrence captain and flyer, Art Willis.

Palmer York will be Newton's bet in the hurdles with Cusamano and Francis on the shelf. Roger Maynard and Freeman will be other Newton hurdle entries.

A youth named Owen has been shaping up as a great 1000-yard runner and like McClelland may be the lad to pull the chestnuts out of the fire. John Conley and Halstead Smith are other long distance runners who may have a chance to shine. Long Tom Fitzgerald, 1000 yard runner last year, will take care of Newton's points in the 600-yard run.

Cusamano was about the only lad Coach Enoch could count on in the high jump and his loss may give the visitors a sweep in this event. Jesse Hale, Walter Cobb, and Roger Myrick will give the Lawrence brood jumpers plenty of opposition and the point winners in this event are uncertain. Cobb may also come through in the high jump with Len Beckwith doing his utmost to finish in the points. Newton's shotputters, Walter Rich and Tom Kinraide are slated to finish first and second in the weight event and Newton's advantage which should offset a disadvantage in some other event. All in all it should be quite a meet for an opening affair and regardless of the outcome should offer close and spirited competition. Next week Saturday Newton and Brockton run each other at Brockton.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE
Beginning Sunday, January 8th, the Paramount Theatre, Newton, will open at one o'clock on Sunday afternoon, until ten thirty in the evening. On Sunday the program will include Joe E. Brown, the screen's great comedian with the everlasting smile and humor, in "You Said a Mouthful." It is a comedy riot and a great picture for the younger set. On the same program will be Richard Dix and Ann Harding in "The Conquerors" with Edna May Oliver, a soul-stirring story. The last half of the week will be shown, "If I Had a Million" featuring Gary Cooper, Geo. Raft, Jack Oakie and fifteen of the screen's most popular stars. On the same program will be shown, "The Golden West" featuring Geo. O'Brien and Janet Chandler.
On Saturday evening the management announces five headline acts of vaudeville together with Jimmie Lindner formerly of Loew's Orpheum in Boston and his orchestra. Only high class acts will be shown to the patrons in Newton. The vaudeville is the first feature on the evening program followed by double feature picture bill.

Day Jr. High School

The Radio committee continues the sponsoring of "listening in" under the auspices of the "American School of the Air." This week's program includes: Geography, Scandinavian countries. Literature, Moby Dick, Music, Germany, Stories of Youth and Power, Elementary Science, Telling time by the Stars.

The school lunch room for the first time in its ten years of existence was truly a quiet room, despite capacity use and the customary passing of china, glasses and tin trays. The reason proved to be a sound-proof ceiling.

The guest speaker for the weekly assembly was Miss Mabel C. Bragg who entertained the school with three stories. As Donald Conant, chairman, suggested, Miss Bragg is an old friend and her stories are always anticipated with pleasure.

Miss Irene Wilson, formerly head of the English department at the Natick School, has joined the faculty in place of Miss Helen Fales who is now Mrs. Cowdrey.

BUILDING REPORT SHOWS DEPRESSION

The report of the Public Buildings Department of Newton for the year 1932 strikingly shows the effects of the long continued depression. While the total cost of buildings and alterations in the city for the past year is over $3,500,000 less than in 1931, much of the difference between the two years, as well as the 1930 figure can be attributed to the construction of costly municipal buildings in those two years, including the city hall and the Weeks Junior High School.

During the month of December only 38 permits were issued by the department. The estimated cost on these was $136,025. Ten were for private dwellings to cost $86,500, and nine for garages to cost $4700. During the year the number of permits totaled 530 and the estimated cost $1,343,208. In 1931 the permits totaled 929 and the cost $4,887,579; in 1930 the permits totaled 1073 and the cost $5,884,877. The various types of permits issued during 1932 and the estimated cost of the work done follows:—

Christmas Seal Sale
Chairman Asks All
Return Envelopes

Work Will Be Hampered Unless Receipts Are Increased

Mrs. Helen C. Taylor, Chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale committee of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, says that the amount of money received so far this season from the sale of Christmas Seals represents a fairly good response, but is still so far under the amount raised in previous years that important preventive work will have to be curtailed unless additional sums are received. The most of the money raised goes for local work for the prevention of tuberculosis. A small portion goes also for the bedside care of those ill from tuberculosis and being cared for by the Newton District Nursing Association. The fund has also financed undernourished children at summer camps, provides milk lunches for poor children and assists in many ways the needy afflicted with tuberculosis.

The money is expended under the supervision of The Public Health Committee of Newton Central Council. Those who received packages of Christmas Seals in December and have not yet made their returns may do so by sending the money to their local Christmas Seal chairman, or to the Newton Central Council, 12 Austin st., Newtonville. A few dollars, now, may save a life and many wasted years of usefulness.

Following are the results of the sale of Christmas Seals by villages at the end of the 6th week:

Newton Centre	$1143.57
Newton	$69.06
West Newton	$53.70
Newtonville	$13.70
Waban	$53.00
Newton Highlands	$362.70
Auburndale	$37.40
Chestnut Hill	$22.50
Newton Upper Falls	$7.25
Newton Lower Falls	$12.00

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION
ELECTS OFFICERS

The Annual Meeting of the Woman's Association of Central Church was held Wednesday, January 4. Sewing and the making of surgical dressings occupied the members during the forenoon. The luncheon was prepared by Miss Louise Sherman and her committee. The attractively decorated tables and dining room were the work of Mrs. J. Walter Allen's committee.

The speaker for the afternoon was the minister, Mr. Merrill, whose subject was "Charity Begins at Home and Ends—Where?" He said, with the home as its starting point, charity must reach out until it includes the whole world. Of all the money contributed in this country for philanthropy, only about 1-1/2% finds its way to foreign countries through the Mission Boards. As our civilization has been responsible for the new industrial and social conditions created in the Orient, it must feel the responsibility to help remedy these conditions. "A time when we are feeling the pinch, the need of the world is greater and the challenge to us more compelling that all human beings should have a fair chance." "Charity begins at home, but under Christ it never stops there!"

Mrs. C. A. Richardson read a sparkling report in which the officers and directors of the Association were dramatized as an orchestra, each through all the different events of the year playing her part of a splendid symphony with the theme, "Thy Church, O God." Mrs. Donald M. Hill, Assistant Treasurer, read the Treasurer's report. The report of the Nominating Committee was presented by the Chairman, Mrs. Walter S. Adams. The officers elected were as follows:

Pres., Mrs. Austin H. Decatur; First Vice-Pres., Mrs. C. W. Davidson; Second Vice-Pres., Mrs. W. M. Ross; Rec. Sec., Mrs. C. A. Richardson; Cor. Sec., Mrs. H. B. Nickerson; Treas., Miss Emma A. Miller; Assist. Treas., Mrs. D. M. Hill; Auditor, Mrs. Malcolm Ball. Directors: Finance, Mrs. J. D. Bennett; Housekeeping, Mrs. G. A. Kell; Luncheon, Mrs. R. E. Hills; Publicity, Mrs. W. C. Fairfield; Ways and Means, Mrs. F. W. Rust; Work, Mrs. C. E. Beatty; World Missions, Mrs. G. W. Harris; Nominating, Mrs. Walter T. Kelley. The new member elected on the Nominating Committee was Mrs. H. H. Lounsberry.

WEEKS JUNIOR HIGH

Reverend Samuel M. Lindsay of Brookline was the assembly speaker. His talk was on "Current Events." In America he recalled the kidnapping of the Lindbergh child, the national election, and conditions resulting from the depression. The seizure of Manchuria and the partial failure of the five year plan in Russia were items mentioned in connection with foreign affairs. Musical selections were rendered by the band.

The Junior High School basketball league games start new Thursday. The Weeks first and second teams play at the F. A. Day. In the class basketball game on the twenty-third, Rooms 209 and 311 were victorious over Rooms 216 and 212. The first game in the home room tournament of girls' basketball was played on Wednesday. Since the schedule calls for fifty-two games, all interested in this sport are given an opportunity to participate.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Shortly after noon yesterday two words were flashed around the world that shocked and grieved the nation. Every citizen of the nation, from the President to the most humble, bows in sadness at the sudden passing of Ex-President Calvin Coolidge. Although having retired to private life his wisdom and counsel continued to be a distinct asset in the political and economic life of the country. Slight of stature his strength of character and simplicity marked him as a great and silent statesman who will go down in history as one of the leading Presidents. The foundation of his national career was laid in the statement he made as Governor of Massachusetts at the time of the police strike—"there is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, anytime."

AMERICANISM VS. INTERNATIONALISM

A "Buy American" campaign is to be inaugurated shortly in Newton for the purpose of educating the public as to an avowed necessity for encouraging American industry over foreign competition. It is probable that many of the arguments in behalf of the movement are sound. By an unusual condition, our columns this week also carry the views of an internationalist whose remarks before the Rotary Club proved of considerable interest. There is much logic and weight to these arguments as well. The basis upon which each is founded is the eventual economic welfare of the United States. Both doctrines seek promotion of prosperity of the American people. The "Buy American" movement seeks to solve economic difficulties through a self-contained Americanized policy. The internationalist doctrine seeks to solve the problem through a world-wide consideration of the position the United States holds in the world. The fundamental problem itself is one that has existed for many years, although in the past decade changes have taken place because of which America must view the problem from an entirely different angle. In recent years, rapid changes have occurred which now make the United States a creditor nation for the first time in its history instead of a debtor nation. While as patriotic Americans our first consideration is for our own welfare, let us not forget that as humanitarians we have a moral obligation to the world.

NEWTON AGAIN HONORED

Newton is again honored in the re-election of Speaker Leverett Saltonstall as the presiding officer of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Under The Gilded Dome

Governor Joseph B. Ely was inaugurated for his second term yesterday noon at the State House by the President of the Senate, Erland J. Fish of Brookline at a joint convention of the two branches of the Legislature in the House of Representatives Chamber. Lieutenant Governor Gaspar G. Bacon and members of the Governor's Council were also administered the oath of office by Senator Fish. The gallery and auditorium were crowded with members of the House and Senate, judges of the Supreme, Superior and Land Courts, and other invited guests.

In his inaugural address Gov. Ely advocated economy in government stating that this cost had not been lowered to the new level of individual income and cost of living with the result that taxation is too large a part of the expense of business and living. He stressed the fact that the cost of education was a "local" problem with each community knowing its desires for various courses. Interest of the citizens should determine the cost of the schools of each community. He spoke in disfavor of biennial sessions although urging more intensive effort in the early days of the session as a method of speeding up the work.

Governor Ely urged the need for unemployment measures for which practically every dollar is utilized for labor. The Department of Public Works appropriation will be limited for highway construction and reconstruction, he indicated with the completion of a few links in trunk line highways which are necessary. The greater proportion of highway funds will be expended on what are termed rural highways.

In order to assist municipalities in financial distress he favored enactment of legislation permitting the borrowing, outside of the debt limit, the equivalent of municipal revenue represented by tax titles of which there are some $6,000,000 at present. He estimated that with the addition of 1932 taxes the figure will approach ten millions. He characterized it as a frozen asset which if freed would ease cash stringency. He further provided that the plan would be operated on a short-time loan basis. Tax collections should be made at regular intervals on a compulsory and not an optional basis.

He advocated the continuance of the three-cent gasoline tax but urged a broadening of the law so that such revenues would cover the expense of traffic regulation and policing of highways.

Referring to the burden of taxation carried by real estate, he stated that relief for the situation was important. He refrained from advocating any specific remedy but stated that he was ready to approve such measures that would meet the emergency whether through a general sales tax, a nuisance tax, or increased taxes upon income.

The Governor urged a fee where trial by jury is claimed be added to the present fee for entering a case. A fee of $15 would, if the same number of cases were entered as were tried by juries last year, provide a gross revenue of over $400,000 and would relieve general taxation from providing funds for operating jury courts to a great extent.

The Old Age Assistance act should be suspended unless sufficient revenue is provided by legislation other than the make-shift methods adopted in 1932.

Banking recommendations by the Governor included the extension of the life of the Co-operative Central Bank, changes permitting savings banks and co-operative banks membership in Home Loan Bank, a twenty million dollar corporation under special charter for a satisfactory liquidation of mortgage securities held in closed banks. This latter recommendation he made a year ago. Other recommendations were made relating to unemployment insurance, labor laws, holding companies and utilities, housing, capital punishment, prison made goods, prohibition, and the fishing industry. He also urged a message on prohibition to the legislature after the commission studying the question has made its report.

Both branches of the Legislature convened on Wednesday with Republican majorities in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. Prior to the assembly party caucuses were held and as was anticipated Speaker Saltonstall was elected by the unanimous choice of the Republicans for another term as presiding officer, the selection was made with enthusiastic endorsement. His name was placed in nomination by Rep. Scott of Springfield and was seconded by Rep. Clarence S. Luitweiler of Newton. Rep. Leo M. Birmingham of Brighton was the Democratic nominee for the Speakership for the third time. He received the nomination over Rep. Jones of Peabody by a vote of fifty to thirty-eight at the Democratic caucus.

Governor Ely administered the oath of office to the assembled House shortly before noon after which the lower branch organized. Mr. Saltonstall was re-elected for the third time over Rep. Birmingham by a vote of 144 to 88. Both Clerk Frank E. Bridgman and Sergeant-at-Arms Charles O. Holt were re-elected by acclamation.

In his speech of acceptance Speaker Saltonstall declared at the outset that the coming two years would be his last in the Legislature. He referred to the necessity of reducing all government budgets and tax burdens. The special recess committee investigating expenditures has advised reduction in salaries of employees of the state and counties. Mr. Saltonstall declared that such a step could not be taken properly until legislative salaries had first been reduced and hoped for prompt action to indicate to the people of the Commonwealth that the House intends to work unselfishly for the best interest of all. Four major problems must be faced—the im-

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Much of Newton's surface is composed of sand and gravel deposits brought here in the glacial period. But, there is plenty of rock cropping to the surface in this city. If you want evidence of this, visit the shafts sunk for the new sewer at Mount Ida st. and Tremont st., Newton. At the shaft near Winchester rd. on the west slope of Mount Ida, rock was not encountered. Instead, water, plenty of it, was found at this place flowing through the gravel and clay strata.

The sudden and unexpected death of former President Calvin Coolidge tends to give added weight to the contention that the duties incumbent on the Chief Executive of this nation are too burdensome for any one man to shoulder; that they should be divided. The strain tells.

Calvin Coolidge proved that an unassuming, plain living man, even in the glamorous age which is passing could rise to the highest place in this materialistic minded nation. He also disproved the contention that "an honest man cannot succeed in politics."

The prevalence of scarlet-fever in the Newtons the past year or two can largely be attributed to the lack of consideration on the part of parents who permit children from houses which are supposed to be quarantined to go out and mingle with other children. The disease has also been spread by the failure of parents to keep their children apart from other children when they show symptoms of the sickness.

At the recent hearing before the Board of Aldermen on the petition of the Standard Oil Company for a filling station on Commonwealth ave. at Chestnut terrace, an attorney appearing for the owners of the property told the Aldermen that the condition of things at the rear of the building had been a menace to health and a fire menace. Seemingly he did not know that his clients can be prosecuted for permitting such a condition. The Newton Health Department will watch this property closely from now on. And probably the Fire Department will do likewise.

WEST NEWTON BOY NEARLY DROWNED

James Fay, 14, of Pine st., West Newton nearly drowned in a cove at the Charles River at the West Newton-Waltham line off Rumford ave. yesterday morning. He broke through thin ice while skating. His plight was observed by Oliver Buntin of the Waltham Gun Club, whose grounds adjoin the cove. Buntin obtained a rope, went to young Fay's rescue and broke through the ice himself. Witnesses phoned to the Waltham and Newton police and fire departments and soon pieces of fire apparatus together with members of the Newton, Waltham and Metropolitan police rushed to the scene. Buntin had succeeded in rescuing the boy and both were treated for immersion by the assembled firemen and policemen.

THIEVES TAKE VALUABLE RUGS AT WEST NEWTON

Thirteen Oriental rugs valued at about $4500 were stolen from the home of Lucile Retan, 29 Forest ave., West Newton, by several men who obtained access to the house to clean chimneys there. On November 26 two men came to the house to clean chimneys. On December 19 they returned to ostensibly continue this job accompanied by two other men. Each time they are accused of stealing rugs from a store room. Newton police recovered seven rugs from a Boston pawnbroker. These rugs, valued at $2735 had been pawned for $90. Five men were arrested for having been implicated in the thefts. They are Irving May of Roxbury, Harry Kirker of Boston, Charles Novak of Dedham, Camelo Giacobbe of Malden and George Yazbek of Boston. They will be tried on January 10 in the Newton court.

diate slashing of governmental costs to effect immediate relief in taxes, immediate tender of assistance to some form to those municipalities which can no longer finance themselves; the relief of all municipalities from certain tasks that are now required of them; and the careful study and possible adoption of such measures as may make less likely so far as the State is concerned, the return of our present ills.

Rep. Clarence S. Luitweiler of Newton, Speaker Saltonstall's colleague from the south side of Newton was re-appointed Chairman of the Committee on State Administration. Rep. Baker, who has served for four years on the Ways and Means Committee, was reappointed along with other previous members including Chairman Albert F. Bigelow of Brookline. Rep. Brimblecom was appointed on the Power and Light Committee.

The Senate organized after taking the oath of office and elected Senator Erland F. Fish as its president to the position held by the now Lieutenant Governor Gaspar G. Bacon. At the party caucus Senator Arthur Hollis of Newton nominated Senator Fish. There was no other nominee. Senator Fish was elected Senate President over Senator Joseph F. Dorland of Dorchester by a vote of 25 to 13.

Senator Hollis received re-assignments to the several highly important committees that he held at the last session, namely chairman of the Committee on Mercantile Affairs, and a member of the Committee on Rules, Municipal Finance, and Metropolitan Affairs.

Rev. Arthur M. Ellis of Newton, Senate chaplain of the last session was re-elected after Senator Finnegan unsuccessfully tried to prevent action by a motion to postpone consideration of the appointment.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. Bentley

"Economize" has not appeared in any list of the ten most beautiful words, but beauty and necessity have not always gone well together.

"Please Pass the Sugar"

Coffee drinkers and tea drinkers now have something important to think and talk about while in their cups. A threat has been made to tax both these beverages in Massachusetts. It all started when word came from Washington that a Congressional committee, which had before it the sales tax plan, was seriously considering taxes on tea and coffee. Some inquiring newspaper reporters got hold of State Tax Commissioner Long who pointed out that among the taxation measures to come before the 1933 General Court was a tax of various drinks. Milk, however, was exempted. The Commissioner said that the Legislature could, if it saw fit to adopt a beverage taxation system, include tea or coffee or both.

Almost as hard to believe was the assertion, also made at Washington, that the nourishment value of these two was less than that of alcohol which, of course, is trifling if anything at all. If one of these statements doesn't stir the imagination and the content of the cups of tea and coffee drinkers then the other will.

Take the threat of adding to the cost of coffee. What a blight on the breakfast in every home. Some people grab their cups and toss off as much as time permits. Then they wash off for the train. Others lie in bed and have coffee brought to them. Either are going to feel it. The edge will be taken the day as well as off the spirits of the drinker.

Now tea is consumed more moderately and, by a large majority, later in the day. I don't mean that tea is the drink of the majority, but it is usually taken with more deliberation. With every swallow will come thoughts of the tax and the bravery of those who staged, in defiance of the British crown, the famous Boston tea party.

Let us not worry until the actual tax is imposed. It may not be. No such unpopular tax is likely to get by. But do let us take up the nourishment values. The person who must have his cup of coffee to start the day isn't going to sit idle, I hope, and allow anybody to challenge the value of his favorite beverage. Tut, tut, forget the very idea.

Now as to tea. O, well, what can be said against it? Whether it is nourishing or not it is highly palatable and doesn't that mean a whole lot? And maybe you remember what the boy said when an inquisitive bachelor asked concerning the spinster of the family.

"How old is your sister?" came the pertinent query.

"I don't know," the honest lad answered, "but tea rests her."

How About It?

Suggestions of new ways to spend the taxpayers' money are taboo, you don't have to tell me that. In face of the general and thoroughly reasonable demand for economy in government I have something to offer. My idea is that there should be a booklet published descriptive of our new City Hall. The cost could be met in the same way the State publishes its now famous Bird Book, copies of which are sold for the cost of printing and binding.

For years the State has published a book which tells all about the capitol on Beacon Hill and something about the Old State House down on Washington st. You ramble through either one and you are told many interesting things by guides. But you will find afterwards that some of the information has remained while a lot has been forgotten. The illustrated booklet saves the day. It is a highly interesting souvenir and one that few visitors fail to appreciate and preserve for years to come.

Now then, when we find Newton City Hall completed—I refer to the niches in Memorial Hall and the other touches that have yet to be added—why not a booklet with illustrations. I am happy to say that several representative citizens to whom I suggested the idea expressed enthusiastic approval. Certainly the new structure lends itself to such an enterprise. A booklet of this character would mean something to Newton residents and to those who were born and raised here and have moved to other States.

Assuming we are told that the law does not permit—I don't know that it does but I have in mind the City Solicitor's opinion about the proposed City Hall cafeteria for employees—why not an organization to carry it out? Surrounding cities and towns have their historical societies. One could be formed in Newton with the financing of a booklet on City Hall as its first step. Isn't it worth thinking about?

Ice Cold Memories

Envy fills my being every time I watch the fancy ice-skater. How would I like to be able to make beautiful scrolls and fantastic designs on the smooth surface of an ice-covered lake. Plain skating is not enough, although it is considerable in these days when you never know whether the mercury is going to drop low enough for skating purposes or not.

Something tells me that the people in far-off Northern countries are more expert because of greater opportunity. The long days when all outdoors is merely a field of ice must provide some form of recreation. Why not improve the time with skating here and there. No doubt that's how it all came about. I speak of it because I have learned that the champions of champions have the blood of Northern regions and consequently greater skill to spread eagle and twist and maneuver.

Turning back to the days when skating was sufficient attraction to cause me to walk miles to a pond or river in the cold of Winter—well, then, having turned back what is there to be remembered? The first thought is that every place where there was good skating was almost as distant as the Arctic Sea. That's because walking was required and there were not handy sport cars into which one could jump and dash to an ice carnival.

The one person who remains most vivid in my memory is the man who did the fancy skating. He was dressed for it. He wore a refectory; they don't make them nowadays because mackinaw jackets have the call—a cap pulled down over his ears. And these, by the way, are not of the same design. On his legs were ordinary trousers but underneath, no doubt, were something made of wool or flannel, for his trousers were long. His stockings were heavy and his shoes of stout leather, with a square hole chiseled in the heels to make the skates fit better.

I have an idea this man—he was really a young fellow, but I was a youngster and you know how they look up to older folks—was a vain individual. He didn't show it in his speech or manners, but he did like to have an audience. When he spun around and around with mystifying swiftness you stood aghast, forgetting your numb fingers and ears and nose. Then when he had finished and your astonished eyes beheld a marvelous design—ah, that was something to remember!

Where has he gone? Or is he still with us? Or has hockey charmed

West Newton Women's Educational Club

January 27th is a red letter date on the calendar of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, and one which they have been anticipating for some time. The public is invited to join them.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., by a committee of which Mrs. Edgar P. Hay is chairman. At 8 o'clock Charles Wellington Furlong, F.R.G.S., will give his fascinating lecture "Hitting the Trail in Masailand," which is the story of the explorer's latest experiences on a great plateau lands of Equatorial Africa.

Colonel Furlong has recently returned from six months under canvas in East and Central Africa, photographing and hunting big game, and studying the native tribes and European-African conditions. This Boston man covered eight thousand miles by lorry, boat, and afoot. He will describe methods of travel, hunting, and strange customs of the warrior tribes of the Masai and Nandi, through whose land much of his trail led. Storms of locusts, flooded rivers, an enormous python, and meeting people who live entirely on milk, meat, and blood, are but a few of his interesting experiences.

Tickets for the dinner and lecture are $1.00 each, those for the lecture alone are fifty cents, except to Club members to whom the lecture is free. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Hay, 18 Warwick rd., West Newton. The Travel Classes of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet January 9th at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Wells, to continue their study of Africa. Mrs. Ella Mason will assist the hostess.

Mrs. Malcolm A. Warren will read a paper entitled "David Livingston," and Mr. Alfred E. Thayer one on "Johannesburg." The next regular meeting of the Club comes on Friday, January 13th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Unitarian Parish House, when Dr. Helen I. D. McGillicuddy, of the Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene, will be the speaker.

Hart, Division of Legislative and Musical Travelogue, inaugurated on the 7th, by Elva R. Boyden, Contralto, of Brockton, will be carried forward in songs of the countries of "Northern Europe"—Norway, Sweden and Russia. Marian Leach Pulsifer, Pianist, also of Brockton, will be the accompanist.

The program for the 7th has already been announced. These State Federation broadcasts come on Saturday mornings, at 11:30 o'clock, over station WBZ, directed by Mrs. Charles L. Fuller. Newton clubwomen will be interested to know that Mrs. Fuller has invited their Club editor, Emma D. Coolidge, to give a New Year message, also, on the program of the 7th.

COMMUNITY BEAUTIFICATION CONTEST. In co-operation with Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, president of the State Federation, who is stressing as one of the Federation's aims making communities more beautiful, the BOSTON HERALD will conduct a Community and Roadside Beautification Contest during the coming months, ending in October, 1933, for which there will be prizes in three classes. Individuals, organizations, and towns or cities may compete. A similar contest was held in the western part of the State last year, under the auspices of the Springfield Republican, where Mrs. Ernestine Perry is Woman's Club editor, and its success doubtless was the incentive for the contest in the Boston section of the State.

Three classes are offered in the competition. Class A: To include all projects undertaken by individuals; home grounds; filling stations, tourist homes, tourist camps and roadside stands of all types, industrial plants of any kind. Class B: Projects undertaken by organizations in cooperation with city town or state; improvement of development of parks, playgrounds, railroad stations, river banks, ponds, trails, etc.; improving at least one-half mile of public highway; improving at least 50 feet of highway; improving vistas from highway by billboard removal, thinning, pruning or planting. Class C: Town and city gateways (combined efforts of abutting towns and cities to make a distinctive setting).

In order to present the proposition to organizations having interests allied with community beautification, a Conference was held at the State House in Boston last week, with Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter, chairman of the Massachusetts State Federation, presiding, assisted by Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, fourth vice-president.

Many organizations were invited to send representatives to the Conference. Those accepting were the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards, Chamber of Commerce, Emergency Planning and Research Corporation, the Game Plan, Massachusetts State Grange, Lions' International, Massachusetts Civic League, Massachusetts Forestry Association, Massachusetts State Conservation Department, Massachusetts State Highway Department, New England Council, New England Wild Flower Preservation Society, Colonial Beacon Oil Company, Society for the Preservation of the Natural Resources of Essex County, Trustees of Public Reservations and the Massachusetts Bill-board Law Defense Committee.

It would be a source of pride to the three thousand or more clubwomen in the city of Newton if some of these prizes, and improve, at the same time, some condition to assist in maintaining the city's name of "Garden City." It is to be hoped, therefore, that at least one of the federated Newton clubs will become enthused to enter the contest.

RECENT EVENTS

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Newton Centre Woman's Club was the setting for a most interesting and entertaining afternoon on December 30th. After a short business meeting, the president, Mrs. John F. Capron introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, president of the State Federation, whose splendid address to the Junior Club presidents of Massachusetts, special guests of the afternoon, was most inspiring. Especially appropriate were Mrs. Bennett's suggested New Year Resolutions. Miss Martha P. Wight, Junior Club President gave a message of welcome to the guests.

Mr. Edward Weeks, of the Atlantic Monthly Press, was speaker of the afternoon. His topic entitled "The Editor's Easy Chair" was exceptionally enlightening, in that it divulged the more intimate details of the work of a magazine editor.

A reception and tea to the new members followed the program.

Newtonville Woman's Club

Mr. T. Raymond Pierce, assistant vice-president of the First of Boston Corporation, gave a very instructive and helpful talk on "Investment Problems," before the Newtonville Woman's Club, on Tuesday afternoon, January 3rd, at the Club House. Mr. Pierce is a very forceful speaker, and his visit to Newtonville was made possible through the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company. Mr. Frank L. Richardson conducted a question period at the close of the lecture.

Mrs. Randolph S. Merrill rendered several delightful soprano solos, after which tea was served also by the courtesy of the Newton Trust.

At a regular meeting of the Post held last week Martin Stanton was elected to the Office of Trustee, to succeed William Maloney whose term expired on January 1, 1933, both of these men are well known Newton Police Officers.

Christopher Norton, Sergt. Major of the Daley Post, made and presented to Commander Keefe a handsome gavel made of black walnut and studded with mahogany at both ends, incidentally both comrades are members of the Newton Fire Dept. The gavel was first used at the last meeting of the Post.

Another in the series of whist and 45 parties will be held at the V. F. W. Hall tonight under the auspices of the Daley Post at which time several prizes will be awarded.

The next regular Post meeting will be held on next Monday evening, January 9, 1933, at the Post Headquarters.

Compulsory Insurance

William A. Muller, President of WILLIAM A. MULLER & CO., Corporation, who originated WAMCO INSURANCE, stated in a recent interview that over 10,000 property owners purchased WAMCO INSURANCE in 1932. This WAMCO INSURANCE was written in old and strong stock insurance companies, whose adjusters have settled hundreds of WAMCO claims. WAMCO INSURANCE is not paid for in advance, as has been the custom under old forms of insurance, but monthly, in eight to twenty payments.

Mr. Muller predicts a larger use of WAMCO AUTOMOBILE INSURANCE in 1933, and has announced a plan for a reduction in its cost of 10%, provided the automobile owner is not involved in any accident. A reduction in the number of accidents is the only solution, he says, of the difficulties of present compulsory automobile insurance. A lower cost, provided there is no accident, will be a strong incentive for this result.

Mayor Weeks' Aim Is Tax Reduction

emerging from this depression in the near future is the failure of government, generally speaking, to have yet appreciated this point to its fullest possible extent.

"Government as a whole, however, is not our concern, but we have a definite responsibility as far as the government of Newton is concerned, and as long as present conditions continue and I hold responsible public office, I propose to take whatever action is reasonable and proper to help in bringing about the attainment of that objective—a reduction of the tax burden.

"What the year 1933 holds for us in the form of a tax rate, I cannot of course prophesy at this time with any reasonable degree of accuracy. The indications, however, are that possible reductions in the County and Metropolitan warrants will be more than offset by an increase in the State warrant, and that we shall have to pay substantially more towards the Boston Elevated deficit this year than we did in 1932. The indications, moreover, are that our receipts from State, income, corporation, bank and motor vehicle taxes will show a further substantial shrinkage and that further we shall not be able to draw from our Excess and Deficiency Account to anywhere near the extent that we did last year.

"I expect to submit to your Honorable Board shortly a budget substantially below that of 1932, but finding the city faced with the conditions just referred to, I decided recently that even though our present financial condition is good, we should have no chance of even holding our present tax rate without taking some action in respect to salaries and wages, not only those over which the Executive Department has control but over those as well under the control of the School Committee. Therefore, on December 15th, in conjunction with the School Committee, which took action at the same time, I announced a reduction of 7½%, affecting all salaries and wages as of January 1, 1933. It was obvious to me that our financial situation and the reasonable demands of those who pay the bills finally brought us to the point where action should be taken along this line.

"It is an indisputable fact that salaries and wages in industry have been, through necessity, reduced from 10 to 40%. It is also an indisputable fact that everyone in the whole range of society has suffered financial loss and loss of income as a result of the depression with the sole exception up to date at least, of the men and women working for government.

"In view, therefore, of these and other facts as found in my remarks on the subject of December 15th, I came to the conclusion that it was not only fair to the city and the taxpayers, but that it was fair as well to the employees of the City of Newton to ask them at this time to take finally their share of the burden which everyone else is carrying. In the past, when conditions warranted, I favored and worked for and helped to gain salary and wage increases for our city employees. In the future, when times indicate its desirability, I shall again be found among the first to advocate increases. The present time, however, is not a time for raises but for reductions. This reduction in itself will bring about a saving of expense to the city of $50,000 per annum.

Every municipality in this Commonwealth, including Newton, will have to exercise extreme care during the coming year if they expect to maintain themselves on a sound financial basis, and I conceive it to be my duty and yours jointly to protect and to maintain the present sound and stable position of Newton. If we can continue during the remaining course of this depression as we have commenced, there is no doubt in my mind but that when good times come again, Newton will benefit proportionately from almost every conceivable angle.

"Our major concern today is unemployment and its disheartening companions of worry and want. While present conditions continue we shall, of course, have that problem before us, and must handle it with the greatest possible wisdom and discretion. Our Public Welfare and Soldiers' Relief Departments, aided by the generous co-operation of the Mayor's Relief Committee, the Newton Welfare Bureau and other private charitable associations, continue to be most helpful elements in the situation. The construction of the new high level sewer, recently authorized by the 1932 Board of Aldermen, is also going to afford considerable relief to the unemployed men of Newton during the next seven or eight months.

While it is up to government to advise and in the final analysis to assist in the solution of this unemployment problem my belief is that we must keep constantly in our mind the fact that government cannot do it all, and that to attempt to, brings about a situation where we are, to use a slang expression, simply trying to lift ourselves up by our boot straps. In other words, governmental economy and a drastic reduction in the tax burden will do more for the unemployed in the long run than any other form of effort towards which we may direct ourselves.

There are a number of extremely worthy projects which should be undertaken when the proper time arrives, but as I have already pointed out, I believe we should in 1933, simply maintain our city government on its present high plane and lay aside all other matters which involve the conduct of the hearing and the ability in managing the affairs of this city, but he stated that Mr. Weeks has a wage-cut complex.

work for the city, for the splendid spirit of co-operation which you have shown me during the past year.

While comparisons are invidious, I cannot in this connection, fail to say a word of appreciation of the members of the School Committee of 1932 for the manner in which they have co-operated and are co-operating to bring school costs more in line with general conditions without impairing the high standards of education for which Newton is noted. After conferences with the chairman of the School Committee last January, that committee appointed a sub-committee to study the possibility of effecting economies in the operation of our schools, and the result of that committee's work is already well evidenced by the fact that for the first time in many years, the budget submitted by the School Committee, in respect of salary reductions, not only failed to show the usual and regular annual increase, but actually tallied in the neighborhood of $35,000 less than the amount asked for January 1, 1932. I understand this committee is still studying the subject and that the final report is not yet at hand. The results so far achieved, however, not only indicate a job well done, but a spirit of co-operation which I am very much gratified to see thus evidenced.

While we have many problems before us to solve during the year to come, and while the clouds of depression continue to hang over us, I am by nature an optimist, and I believe with all my heart that we shall come out on the right side. Here in Newton we have had a long and honorable history of good government which it is our obligation and duty to protect. With your continued co-operation, I am sure that we shall be successful in this effort and that the Newton of the future will be the gainer through wise and prudent management during these trying times.

Public Hearings On Police Protest Against Wage Cut

which had accumulated in the "excess and deficiency fund," a fund which accrues from balances of unexpended appropriations made for activities of various city departments. This fund is ordinarily relied on to meet emergencies. By using it to add to the tax revenue for 1932 a difference of $2.40 was effected in the tax rate. Without having diverted this fund the tax rate would have increased $1.80.

Mr. Murphy testified that petitions for tax abatements in 1932 were double the number made in 1931 and three times as many as in 1930. Tax abatements on personal property in 1930 totalled $5565; in 1931, $5032; in 1932, $3975. Tax abatements on real estate in 1930 totalled $6053; in 1931, $6425; in 1932, $8198. Leon Rogers of the Mayor's Relief Committee testified that while the committee will need at least $150,000 to carry on its work this year, it will only receive $50,000 from the Community Chest.

At Wednesday's hearing Attorney McLaughlin argued that Mayor Weeks had procured an unwarranted low tax rate in 1932 by using the surplus created in previous years, that the Mayor is actuated by political ambition, and that his reasons given for lowering the wages of the police and other city employees are inadequate and founded on guesswork. McLaughlin contended that favoritism has been shown in Newton in the assessing of land. He questioned John W. Murphy, chairman of the Assessors regarding the assessment on an acreage basis of parcels of land in the Cold Spring Swamp section. This section of the city, he said, is owned by the City of Newton. He contended that these men have been favored because of alleged influence. Mr. Murphy indignantly denied this insinuation and stated that other parcels of land in the same section which are owned by other persons are similarly assessed. Murphy stated that this land is of little value, being swampy.

McLaughlin criticised the Mayor for refusing to accept a 10% donation in lieu of the 7½% wage cut, asserted that only one other municipality in this State (Milton) has taken action similar to Mayor Weeks', and characterized it as coldblooded. He complimented the Mayor for his fairness in the conduct of the hearing and his ability in managing the affairs of this city, but he stated that Mr. Weeks has a wage-cut complex.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

In former years it was the practice in making committee appointments in the Newton Board of Aldermen to recognize seniority in advancing members from one committee to other, seemingly more important committees. This practice has been deviated from the past couple of years. New Aldermen would first be appointed to the Franchise and Licenses Committee. Then, as other Aldermen from the same Ward would terminate their membership on the Board, the Aldermen on the Licenses Committee would be appointed to the Public Works and Claims and Rules Committee, and eventually, if he continued as a member of the Board, he would be appointed to the Finance Committee, which is considered the most important of the aldermanic committees. Of course, there were exceptions to this practice. Sometimes a member with supposedly special qualifications would be assigned to a certain committee out of turn. Sometimes a member would request the Committee on the Licenses Committee, or the Public Works, or some other committee. But, in general, the practice mentioned above was followed. As we said, this practice has apparently been deviated from last year and this year to a considerable extent.

Last year Alderman Howlett of Ward 1, who had served one full term and part of a second and who had been on the Licenses Committee, was only appointed to the Public Works Committee. He did not receive the appointment to the Claims and Rules Committee. His predecessors had been appointed to both these committees. The Claims and Rules Committee appointment was given to a new member, Alderman Sprout. Last year Alderman Chapp of Ward 3, who had been a member of the Public Works Committee since his entrance to the Board, was not appointed to the vacancy on the Claims and Rules Committee caused by the retirement of Alderman Prior. Instead, this appointment was given to Alderman Bowen who was already on the Finance Committee, which was unusual. This year Alderman Farrell of Ward 3, who served last year on the Licenses Committee, was continued on this committee and Alderman Hutchinson, the new member from the Ward, was appointed to the Public Works Committee. Alderman Bowen is continued as a member of both the Finance and Claims and Rules Committees. Alderman Floyd of Ward 4, who has been a member of the Public Works Committee since his membership on the Board in 1930, was not appointed to the Claims and Rules Committee to fill the position formerly occupied by Alderman Smith of Ward 4. Instead, Alderman Gordon of Ward 4, who has for several years been a member of the Finance Committee and this year was appointed chairman, was placed on the Claims and Rules Committee.

The retirement of Alderman Bail of Ward 5, who had served as chairman of the Finance Committee, left a vacancy on this committee. Alderman Chandler of Ward 5 was appointed to fill it. He had been a member of both the Public Works and Claims and Rules Committees since first entering the Board in 1930. He is continued as a member of the Claims and Rules Committee. Alderman Temperley of Ward 5 was held on the Licenses Committee for the past 4 years, takes Mr. Chandler's place on the Public Works Committee. Alderman Holden of Ward 6, who had been a member of the Licenses Committee for the past three years, received the advancement which was the former custom. He was appointed to both the Public Works and Claims and Rules Committees. An unusual feature of this year's committee appointments is the fact that Alderman Floyd was not reappointed to the Education Committee of which he had been chairman the past three years and on which he had performed excellent work; notably in curbing additional cost in the construction of the very expensive Weeks junior high school. The chairmanship of this committee was given to Alderman Temperley who was appointed to it this year for the first time.

TWO BURGLARIES AT NONANTUM

Early Saturday morning burglars entered the office of the Suburban Home Laundry at 225 California st., Nonantum, and the shop of the Newton Ferrule Company at 227 California st. At the laundry office a safe was broken open and $600 in cash stolen from it. A gold watch was also taken. At the Ferrule Company a small safe was broken into but nothing of value was found in it. Entrance into the laundry was made by crawling through a coal chute. The combinations on the safes were knocked off with a heavy hammer. Evidently the burglars were the work of professionals as canvas gloves were worn by the burglars. The laundry is owned by Clarence Hughes and the Ferrule Company by W. P. Grotter of Watertown.

CLIQUE CLUB CO. TO ASSIST NEWTON RELIEF FUND

The Clique Club Eskimo is in town to assist the Mayor's Relief Committee in its effort to relieve the unemployed in the city of Newton with a unique and worth while plan of interest to every citizen and tax payer.

For every cap from a bottle of Clique Club Ginger Ale that is turned over to the Newton Fire Stations before April 1st, 1933, the Clique Club Company of Millis, Massachusetts, will pay one cent to the Mayor's Unemployment Relief Committee of the Newtons.

The committee has arranged to have a receptacle in every fire house, so that citizens can easily turn in their caps. Many retailers are offering to take back the caps from their customers, as a convenience, the retailers in turn taking the caps so collected to the fire stations.

The plan has been most heartily endorsed by local officials because it offers a means of adding to funds available for relief of the needy of our community without placing any burden on our citizens. While the plan has but just started here, there has already been a great deal of favorable comment. It is hoped that the people of the Newtons will endeavor to swell the fund to real proportions by saving the Clique Club caps and turning them in before April 1st, 1933 without fail.

Newton Kiwanians To Hear Harris, New Gov.-Elect

Will Be Important Meeting of Local Service Club

Joseph W. Bartlett, Newton City Solicitor, was interesting, informative and witty at Newton Kiwanis meeting Tuesday, Jan. 10. "Claims I Have Defended Against Your City of Newton" titled his talk.

At Charles River Country Club on next Tuesday, Jan. 17, at 12:15, Kiwanis Governor-Elect Burton K. Harris of Pawtucket, R. I., will be the speaker.

BURTON K. HARRIS

While attending college, Mr. Harris became a cadet captain in his college battalion and after leaving school enlisted in the Rhode Island National Guard, being commissioned a second lieutenant in 1917. Shortly thereafter he taught military science and tactics at Central Falls high school. With war clouds gathering, Lt. Harris sailed for France, March 28, 1917, being one of the first Americans to arrive for overseas service. He participated in some of the fiercest fighting in the Allied lines, including the battles of Aisne-Marne, Oise-Marne and Meuse-Argonne. Honorably discharged at the close of the war, he returned to his native Lime Rock to devote full attention to his properties.

In addition to his business life since returning from France, Mr. Harris has found time to take a praiseworthy interest in civic and political affairs. He has served as president of his county farm bureau, the Pawtucket Kiwanis Club and as commander of his American Legion post—to mention but a few of his interests—and during 1923 and 1924 he served in the State Senate of Rhode Island.

He brings to us a message of how to be of greater service to the community. He inspires Kiwanians everywhere to help those in need of assistance to carry forward the good work of Kiwanis in raising business standards and in furthering the underprivileged child program.

SUE NEWTON MAN'S ESTATE FOR LOSS OF AIRPLANE

The Ames Skyways, Inc., of Boston, operators of airplanes for hire has brought suit against the estate of Walter H. Lillie formerly of Kenrick st., Newton, to recover $1000 for the loss of an airplane. The suit alleges that on May 5, 1932, Lillie, a former World War aviator, hired a monoplane from the plaintiffs at the East Boston airport, stating that he intended to take a short hop. It is contended that Lillie intentionally operated the plane a long distance over water until it crashed into the ocean. Nearly a month after Lillie departed from the airport, his body was washed ashore at Nova Scotia. A tire from one of the landing wheels of the plane was found on the Nova Scotia coast.

City Employees Local Seventy-five Installs Officers

Moriarty Elected President for 19th Consecutive Term

The installation of officers of Newton City Employees, Local 175 was held at Bay State Hall, Newton, on Friday night. The installing officer was William J. Byrne of Medford, Secretary of the State Federation of Town and City Employees. A Leslie Moriarty of West Newton was installed as President of the local for the 19th consecutive time. The other officers installed are—Vice President, Alfred R. Guzzi; Treasurer, Jeremiah Herlihy; Recording Secretary, Harry Purcell; Financial Secretary, Daniel Roche; Conductor, John Shannon; Inner Guard, Peter Butler; Trustees, T. F. Delaney, R. P. Scully, John Yerrard; Finance Committee, Frank Shaw, Michael Morris, Orazio Colletta; Delegates to State Convention, A. L. Moriarty, A. R. Guzzi, Jeremiah Herlihy, Daniel Roche, Harry Purcell.

Among the invited guests who spoke at the installation were Aldermen Cordingley, Grebenstein, Hill, Hutchinson, Gallagher, Sprout and Temperley; James Dempsey, secretary to Mayor Weeks; former Aldermen Earle and Powers, and John Keefe, past Commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars. Most of the speakers referred to economic conditions and the wage cut recently given to the city employees. Mr. Dempsey stated that Mayor Weeks appreciates the attitude taken by the city employees in this matter. He also referred to the use of men obtaining welfare relief from the city for the purpose of cleaning sidewalks. Mr. Dempsey said it is difficult to find work for these men to do, and that as employees of the Street Department do not clean sidewalks, the unemployed men are not intruding on the work of the city employees when they are given such a task.

Mr. Moriarty urged the members of the local to attend the public hearings to be held at the State House to combat bills filed against protective legislation which city employees secured after years of effort.

Newton Hospital Aid Association To Incorporate

Many Activities Reported and Officers Elected

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Hospital Aid Association was held on Tuesday, January 10th, in the Thayer Ward at the Hospital. Mrs. George H. Talbot the President, presided.

The report of the Recording Secretary reviewed the activities of the past year including the decision to join the Community Chest. There were awarded during the year two scholarships, one to Miss Marjorie Rhodes and one to Miss Hazel Keith as well as a Fellowship for Advanced Study to Miss Dorothy Whitten.

The free bed was occupied for two weeks at the beginning of the year and again for a week in December, and the following donations made: A cattery with extra post, $60.00. Rug for Nurses' Home, $90.00. Claritor, $35.00. To Miss Allen for use at her discretion during the summer, $50.00. Materials for Occupational Therapy work, $50.00. Upholstery in the Nurses' Home and slip covers in patients' rooms $225.00.

Following the Treasurer's Report, it was brought out that in joining the Community Chest no changes were to be made in the operation of the Benefit Shop, which has drawn customers not only from the Newtons but as far as Natick and Quincy. This shop besides, providing a large source of income for the work of the Association, is a means whereby those in need of practicing the greatest economy can be best served. It was brought out also that one of the most important needs at this time is for the donation of goods to maintain stock without which the shop can neither raise the necessary amounts of money, nor serve the real wants of its needy customers.

Additional funds were secured in October when Mrs. Frank A. Day generously offered the use of her home for the purpose of holding a "White Elephant Tea." Each guest brought their "elephant" which was either sold that afternoon or disposed of later at the Benefit Shop. The Treasure Sale which has been a feature in other years was held in November in a shop on Walnut st., Newtonville, loaned by Dr. Howard. The Friendly Aid of Wellesley made the Benefit Shop a gift of $50.00 and in November Mrs. Brewer Eddy entertained the Village Chairmen and aids of the shop at a lecture and tea in her home on Kirkstall road. Mrs. Frank Stewart gave a Bridge, the proceeds also going to the Benefit Shop.

After the acceptance of these reports, the meeting took up the question of incorporating the Association, which was voted on favorably by a large majority.

The following officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. George H. Talbot, President. Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mrs. Joseph N. Lovell, Miss Mary C. Sawyer, Mrs. W. V. Taylor, Vice Presidents. Mrs. D. Morley Lodge, treasurer. Mrs. F. H. Williams, Corresponding Secretary. Mrs. Ernest J. Weaver, Recording Secretary.

Miss Allen, as is her custom, then spoke on the work of the Hospital during the past year and made suggestions as to expenditures necessary to improve its efficiency.

At the close of the business meeting a most entertaining program was given by the nurses of the Freshman Class of the Hospital Training School entitled "Two Hundred Years of Soap and Water," followed by living pictures cleverly portraying famous characters of their profession.

The usual luncheon was served by the Hospital assisted by Mrs. Shannon and her committee to those attending the meeting.

Tolstoy Would Not Have Approved Bolsheviki Rule

Declared Daughter, Speaking in West Newton Sunday

Count Leo Tolstoy, critic of Czarist rule and apostle of socialism, would not have approved the Bolsheviki regime, declared Countess Eolstoy, his youngest daughter and secretary to her father, in speaking before a crowded auditorium in the Unitarian Church in West Newton Sunday evening. She also declared "Russia is enslaved and the Bolsheviki government is absolutely despotic. The famous five year plan is unimportant, when the people of Russia are starving, and Bolsheviki rule, established by violence and maintained by methods more ruthless than Czarist rule, can not survive indefinitely."

Introduced by Rev. Herbert Hitchcock, pastor of the church, Countess Tolstoy impressed one as representing the best of old Russian culture and the courage characteristic of her celebrated father in expressing her convictions. Speaking in the remarkable clear English, she held the perfect attention of her listeners for more than an hour, following which she was equally clear in answering questions from the audience. The following is a brief summary of her lecture.

As far back as 1855 when he was an officer in the Russian army during the Crimean war, said the speaker, Count Tolstoy wrote letters to the Czar warning him that unless his despotic methods of wholesale executions and banishments were changed, his rule was doomed. While her father believed in the principles of socialism, he was not in favor of change by force. His belief was in an economic plan in harmony with the teaching of Christ. He would never have approved the Revolution. The Russians were serfs under the Czar. They are slaves under the Bolsheviki government.

The Russian people are working under forced labor. The Soviet government denies this, but its edicts prove that it is false. Workmen can not change their occupation nor even shift from one factory to another unless ordered by the government. Those who refuse and those who fall under suspicion are deported to the Siberian wilderness, where they endure great hardships and death because of the severe climate and lack of facilities for building comfortable homes. The greater share of the intelligentia, priests, teachers and educated people are living in exile in Siberia or abroad. They are now being joined by the Kulaks, the land holding farmers who have not readily submitted to collectivized farming. All goods produced in the country, including farm produce, belong to the government, and farmers are punished for using their own grain for food until it has passed through government hands.

The entire population is starving. There is lack of food for a balanced diet such as butter and other fats, sugar, eggs, and fish. In her school, said the Countess, 90 per cent of the children were found to be undernourished. This is not because insufficient food is produced, but because the best is exported in order to buy machinery from foreign governments. The people get what is unfit for sale abroad. Moscow is full of starving beggars.

As further examples of the tyrannical methods of the government, the speaker told how teachers, receiving low salaries and with families depending on them, are forced to buy government bonds to the extent of two months' salary. If they refuse, their co-workers are ordered to vote for their deportation or execution. All elections are controlled by the government and the people do not dare vote otherwise than as ordered. There is no such thing as a secret ballot.

It is impossible for visitors to get at the truth concerning conditions as they actually exist. The people have no other course than to show up the best side of their work when they have callers. Miss Tolstoy said that she herself had been guilty of practicing this kind of deception when she had visitors at her school. "George Bernard Shaw," said she, "is a good example of one on whom this well planned deception has been practiced."

Countess Tolstoy declared that the system is doomed. Because of the scattering of the 160 millions of population over the vast area of the country, the army is able at present to maintain the hold of the Soviet government, but it will not go on indefinitely. Even now religion is returning. In Moscow alone there is an underground religious organization of 10,000 students whose leader has been exiled. She believes that it was a great mistake for England to recognize the Soviet government and that for the United States to follow suit will only prolong the slavery of the Russian people.

It was placed in operation last Saturday by Street Commissioner Stuart. A hearing will be given before the Newton Board of Aldermen next Monday night on the petition of the Newton Tire Company for a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank at the rear of the Charlton Building, 237 Washington st., Newton Corner. The petition also asks for a permit to install a pump. This concern entered a similar petition last year, but later withdrew it.

SUSPICIOUS FIRE AT NEWTON

A fire of suspicious origin was discovered in the unoccupied dwelling at 24 Newtonville ave., Newton at 7:40 Tuesday night. A telephone call to fire headquarters was followed by an alarm from Box 116 at 7:45 when the seriousness of the fire necessitated additional apparatus. The damage was estimated at about $4000. The building is owned by the Brookline Savings Bank.

Boy Rescued At Fire In Block At Newton Hlds

Foley Successfully Plays Part of Hero

Edward Collins, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Collins of 12 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, was rescued from the smoke filled tenement at that address yesterday morning at 10 o'clock by Allen Foley, who resides in another tenement at that address. The building is a three-story wooden block occupied on the ground floor by stores and on the second and third floors by tenements. The fire started in a box of rubbish in the kitchen of the Collins apartment on the second floor. Foley, who is working nights as a special policeman at the Worcester turnpike job at Upper Falls, was awakened by the smoke. He heard the cries for assistance from the Collins boy, who has been ill with the grippe, and who was alone in his home. Foley groped his way to the third floor where the boy was and carried him to the street. The damage to the furniture in the Collins apartment, to the building, and to the stock of the Highland Auto Supply Company is estimated at $3000. The building is owned by Robert A. Vachon.

Newton Police Sign Pay Checks Under Protest

That the members of the Newton police department intend to take legal action against the recent wage cut of 7 1/2% ordered by Mayor Weeks, was evidenced yesterday when the 124 members of the force who signed the protest against the cut, signed their pay checks after placing on the checks a rubber stamp which read—"The within check is hereby accepted in partial payment of wages due me as a police officer of the City of Newton for week ending—under protest, and without waiving my right to prosecute any remedy I may have to establish my legal right to the balance due me, and to collect the same." Each police officer individually placed the stamp on his check.

Newton Firemen Protest to Mayor On Wage Cut

A conference was held on Tuesday between Mayor Weeks and a committee representing a majority of the members of the Newton Fire Department who had signed a petition protesting against the recent wage cut of 7 1/2% which went into effect on Jan. 1. The committee was comprised of Captain Michael Turner, Lieut. F. E. Davis, Firemen Carl Eschelbach, Thomas Enegess and Arthur McCarthy. As at the public hearing held on the policemen's protest, City Treasurer Newhall and Assessor John W. Murphy were present. The firemen asked Mayor Weeks to agree, that in the event that the policemen succeed in their legal fight against the wage cut, that the firemen shall also have the old wage scale restored. The firemen contended that because Newton is one of the cities in this State not having the two-platoon system, their wages should not be decreased.

Following the conference Mayor Weeks took the same stand with the firemen that he had with the policemen, and to each of the department who had signed the petition he sent a copy of the following letter:

"The action taken by me under date of December 28, 1932, as per notice to you, after hearing as requested by you, is hereby affirmed."

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

LAWRENCE WINS FROM NEWTON IN OPENING MEET

Newton High and Lawrence High track teams met last Saturday on the Newton track with the visitors winning 41 to 36. Results in the running events were fairly even with Lawrence having the balance of power in the field events to swing the meet its way. Newton was without York and Cusamano, two almost certain point winners, and Doug Sloane, Newton captain, had practically left a sick bed to compete.

The thirty yard dash final shaped up with Ellsworth Roberts of Lawrence and Bob Quigley and Sloane of Newton as the three to battle for first honors. Roberts won with Quigley second and Sloane, who in previous meetings last year had repeatedly beaten the Lawrence star, coming in third. York, who also is a sprinter, might have figured in the point score, but an injury received in football but which it is hoped will respond to treatment.

Lawrence took another first place from Newton in the hurdles with Evers beating Russell Liscom of Newton, second, and Captain Arthur Willis of Lawrence, third. Cusamano, York, and Francis are other hurdlers upon whom Coach Enoch will depend this season. Francis is handicapped with an knee injury received in football but which it is hoped will respond to treatment.

Captain Arthur Willis of Lawrence captured the 300 over his teammate Roberts and Dave MacLellan of Newton who were tied for second place.

In the longer running events Newton came into its own with John Connelly and Tom Fitzgerald finishing first and second in the 600 over Harvard of Lawrence. Hugh Owens of Newton won the 1000-yard run by about 30 yards over Boyajian of Lawrence and Maynard of Newton. This pair had a great battle for second place with the Lawrence runner nosing out the Newton lad in a thrilling home-stride sprint.

Roy and Peete of Lawrence finished first and second in the shot put with Tom Kinrade picking up the third place point. The winning toss was 42 ft. 11 in.

Svenomons of Lawrence cleared 5 ft. 7 in. for first place in the running high jump with J. Caton of Newton taking second and G. Roswell of Lawrence third. Cusamano, Newton's best high jumper was making about this height when he sprained his knee a few days before the meet in practice.

A 9 ft. 11 7/8 jump in the standing broad jump gave Kasha of Lawrence first place over Wilbur Cobb of Newton and Mercurie of Lawrence, second and third place winners respectively.

Ten points behind with the relay to be run the Newton team came through in this final event to cut down the Lawrence margin to five points.

Tomorrow Coach Enoch will take his team to Brockton High and with the return of some of his cripples expects to give the Shoe City aggregation a close battle.

SPORT NOTES

Hunnell Boosts Mark

The Hunnell Club bowling team in the Newton league Boston pin tournament boosted its own team single and team total record for the season Wednesday night in its match against the Middlesex Sportsman's Association with a total of 1702 and a single string mark of 588. Greene led the way with 144 and Colby followed with 120. Ford was a close third with 116 and Colburn with 107 and Loring with 101 completed the record breaking string. On its third string Hunnell hit 580 to come close to its second string mark with Colby totalling 129 and Loring 127 as the highlights. Incidentally the 1702 team total is a new mark for any Hunnell Club bowling team. In the match Hunnell took four points to close up the gap between it and the leading Mangus team slightly as the latter took three and lost one to the Winsor Club. The Mangus team leads the league, two points ahead of Hunnell, with both teams having a considerable margin over the other six teams in the circuit. In other matches Waban won three of four from Weston and West Newton Neighborhood lost all four to University. The feature match of next week schedule brings Mangus and Hunnell together at the Wellesley Club's alleys. A 3-1 victory for Hunnell will deadlock the two teams in first place.

Rice To Meet Jansen

William H. Rice and Thomas E. Jansen, Jr., meet next Tuesday in the final round of the Middlesex Bowl squash racquets tournament being played at the Newton Centre Tennis Club courts. Jansen has seeded number one and Rice number two. The former reached the final by defeating F. E. Stewart and the latter by disposing of William Sonnabend.

Starts Fifth Season

The St. Mary's Club of Upper Falls is starting its fifth basketball season and expects to put its usual strong team on the floor. Warren Springer, former Newton High athlete, and Bill Leebler, former Elkins High of West Virginia, will probably hold down the forward berths. Leo Crowley, former St. John's and Northeastern athlete, will play centre. Dutchy Green and John Shaughnessy, St. Mary veterans will be at the guard positions. Pete Zaharian, former Chelsea High athlete, and all-scholastic back in the 1925 Tech tourney, is also available as a guard. The St. Mary's Club is anxious to schedule games with amateur and semipro fives. John Cady of 18 Hale st. is the team manager.

IRIS GARDEN HOUSE TO OPEN IN LOWER FALLS

Announcement is being made of the opening of the Iris Garden House at 2330 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls. Mrs. Lillian Jordan, formerly of Beach st., Newtonville, will be the hostess. This attractive restaurant is now ready to serve Sunday dinners and night lunches as well as regular lunches and dinners during the week. The management also announces that arrangements may be made for bridge and club parties.

HUSTON STARS IN AIDING HOCKEY SIX IN FIRST VICTORY

Two weeks ago tomorrow the Greater Boston Intercollegiate League hockey league opened its season and in one of the major games of the afternoon the Newton sextet was blanked by the Melrose High team under a 4 to 0 score. Newton's weakness was in its forward line and its back of team play. Last Saturday Newton came back to defeat Stoneham High, 4 to 2 in a rather surprising victory.

The major part of the surprise was in the presence of Warren Huston, Newton's versatile athletic star, in the line-up. It was Huston's first game in organized hockey although it has frequently been stated that he was as good a hockey player as in any other sport. During previous winters he has confined his athletic duties to basketball and has devoted all of his time to that sport. This winter he is captain of the basketball team which opened its regular season on Wednesday. He was also captain of football last fall and is captain of the baseball team for this coming spring.

At any rate Huston accounted for two of the orange and black's four goals in his first real game. Huston's first day he had been on skates for a year. Stoneham got off to a lead about eight minutes after the game opened with Eramo getting in a shot which Lopez saved only to have Bill Hook slam the puck home on the rebound. Newton evened it up a moment later with Nat Sewell doing a solo. The Newton defence player started from behind his own net, drove up through centre ice and let go with a sizzling shot from the blue line which Goalie Prescott never saw.

In the second frame Huston and Captain Houghton swung into action to put Newton out in front. The Newton leader stick-handled neatly the length of the rink and laid a pass right on Huston's stick in front of the net. Huston had been trailing his captain to take the pass in almost perfect position. Stoneham battled gamely and tied it up on Kearns pass to Roach from a scrimmage near the Newton net. Three minutes before the end of the second period Newton was out in front again. Houghton again carried the puck and with a neat backhand beat Goalie Prescott to set the score at 3 to 2.

The final Newton tally came in the third period with Huston streaking from his own blue line to split the Stoneham defence pair and flash the light on a low smoking drive to the right hand corner.

The victory kept Newton in the running as Belmont defeated Melrose 2 to 1. The lack of outdoor ice having prevented the playing of any games other than those on the Garden rink it is probable that unless sufficient ice and playing days are found to permit the playing of these games that the league will confine its championship contests to the indoor games. Tomorrow Newton has an opportunity to climb up on even terms with the leaders as the orange and black and Belmont battle in the feature clash of the day. Melrose will be attempting to get back onto the top by subduing the present second-place Medford team while Stoneham will face Arlington and Rindge and Cambridge Latin will be playing for the city Championship of Cambridge.

Should Newton pin defeat on Belmont and Melrose come back against Medford these two winners will be tied with Belmont for the league lead. Medford has a chance to step out in front all alone by upsetting Melrose while Newton is taking Belmont.

Melrose will have something to say, however, as the defeat by Belmont last Saturday was its first loss in over two seasons. Cambridge Latin, tied with Medford for second place, also has a chance to take the lead alone by trimming Rindge while Newton takes Belmont and Melrose comes back over Medford. The present standing:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Belmont	2	0	0	4
Medford	1	0	1	3
Camb. Lat.	1	0	1	3
NEWTON	1	1	0	2
Melrose	1	1	0	2
Arlington	1	1	0	2

T. last Saturday at New York. Fletcher tallied three goals, two of which were on Colby's passes, and Colby tallied one. Colby also figured in a fourth goal on a pass to Rodd.

Cobb Elected Captain

James R. Cobb of Newton Centre was elected to the captaincy of the Amherst College varsity cross-country team at a meeting of the letter men this week. He is a junior and has been a steady and consistent scorer in his two seasons on the varsity and the year previous as a freshman. He has also seen service on the track team.

BASKETBALL FIVE SCORES 131 POINTS IN FIRST TWO GAMES

The Newton High school basketball team has started off its season with indications that it will be a high scoring outfit. Last week Friday afternoon in the opening game against a faculty team the schoolboys hung up a 71 to 20 victor and Wednesday afternoon opened their regular intercollegiate schedule with a 60 to 19 win over Westboro High. The two victories give the local five a total of 131 points against 39 for opponents. The Newton seconds hung up victories on both occasions defeating the intermediate varsity 33 to 14 last Friday and the Westboro seconds 29 to 23 on Wednesday.

In the Westboro game Captain Huston at centre and Joe Mastropieri at right forward were outstanding. Huston's passing was a big factor in enabling Mastropieri to increase his field goals from the floor to which he added one on a foul try for a total of 17 points. Charley Flag, left forward tossed in seven baskets for fourteen points while Huston personally accounted for six for 12 points. Eddie Gorrie was prominent on the Newton defence while Palmir York also put up a good game. The Newton reserves with Taylor and DuPuy at forwards, Frazier at centre and Davis in Grethe's place tallied thirteen points while keeping down the visitors scoring to a minimum.

Against the school quintet last Friday the orange and black had little difficulty. Huston, Flag, and Mastropieri showed excellent teamwork with Huston scoring 25 points, Flag 16, and Mastropieri 14. The Newton team journeys to Quincy high this afternoon and next Wednesday to Milton Academy. Next week Friday the orange and black will open its Suburban league basketball schedule with a game at Cambridge Latin. The next home game will be on Wednesday, Jan. 25th with Rindge Technical the opponent in a league contest.

ZONTA CLUB

Newton Zonta Club held its first regular dinner meeting for the New Year on Monday evening at the home of President Marion Fuller. Dr. Cecil Clark was the guest speaker. With vivid word pictures and beautiful motion pictures, he told us about his trip to Seattle last June to attend the Rotarian convention. In seventeen days he travelled 3200 miles. Nothing beautiful or interesting could have escaped his keen eye. His pictures and talk were so alive that for the hour we, too, went via C. P. R. to Montreal, across the Canadian prairies and through the beautiful Banff and Lake Louise, to Vancouver and Seattle, where we were sharers in the big events of the Rotarian convention. He then took us on to Los Angeles, with its beautiful University and the setting for the Olympics and back home on the hot journey through southern United States.

Members of Zonta are now looking forward to the meeting when Dr. Clark is to speak on "Service." Zonta is planning to have an evening of sewing for the Red Cross.

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSO.

All interested in school work are invited to attend the "Fathers Night" of the Newton Centre School Association on Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 8:00 in the Mason School Hall to hear Payson Smith, State Commissioner of Education, speak on "Some Current Problems of Public School Education." SCHOOL CHATS

It becomes more apparent day by day that our schools need the right kind of publicity. Someone has said, "Proclaim through the smallest country sheet and in the metropolitan journals today that 'there's a reason' or 'they satisfy' and tomorrow people will believe it, boast of it and go the everlasting limit." On billboard and electric sign print large the caption, EDUCATION PAYS and then some fine day we'll wake up and see a scramble for the common stock (preferred not issued). Apply the psychic knowledge learned in schools of repetition, interest and all that; drive home the story, day and night of education's worth and education's need and next vacation the architect will be called upon to plan for extra room and depressed dollars will roll forth from public coffers to help the race move forward through its children.

Schools Belong to the People

Thanks to the co-operation of the Newton Graphic it becomes possible for the school authorities to interpret the schools to the people regularly. The schools belong to the people. They own, support and control them. The schools may be made just as efficient as the people of the community insist they shall be. In the long run it is surely apparent that the attitude of people toward their schools is a true reflection of their interest in the civic and social welfare of the community. It is a responsibility that can not be shifted or evaded.

In order that the people of Newton may have just the information that they need to study school questions carefully, that they may act intelligently upon issues that arise from time to time, it is planned to present in this column, each week, authoritative articles on all phases of the school problem.

So that we may cover all matters of public interest thoroughly, we are pleased to extend an invitation to all citizens to submit questions bearing on any activity of the schools. We will bear in mind, of course, that this column will be maintained as a source of authoritative factual information and not as a forum for controversial discussion. Such questions will be answered completely and candidly. They should be addressed to the Office of the Superintendent of Schools, Newtonville.

Back Up Ideas With Facts

So we invite all the good people of Newton to become SCHOOL FANS. It seems that people are often most down on what they are least up on. That may explain the attitude of many who in these days are "agin" the schools. You undoubtedly have ideas about education. That is fine, but let us be sure they are based upon facts. It will be our purpose to supply the facts.

JOHN LUND,
 Superintendent of Schools.

A THUMB TACK for you each week. (A thumb tack being either pointed or flat, depending upon the point of view.)

"Most communities have made it plain that they want their school children to be the last to feel the pinch of retrenchment. The rising cost of education has been no mystery and no scandal. An abiding faith in education as vital to a democracy has led our people to increase both the quantity and the quality of the schooling of their children."—Editorial, Boston Evening Globe, Tuesday, Dec. 20, 1932.

Under The Gilded Dome

Tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock the time will expire for filing bills and petitions for consideration of the present Legislature. No new business will be admitted after that date except under suspension of the rules. In consequence members are busy at the offices of the Senate and House clerks. Whether the grist will be as large as in recent years is a question as it is unlikely any great amount of money will be appropriated. This should have the effect of discouraging a number of petitions but whether it will or not remains to be seen.

The two branches have voted to hold memorial exercises in tribute to President Coolidge. No date has been set and no plans announced.

The first committee hearing of the session was that held by the Joint Ways and Means Committee Wednesday when it had before it the report of the special commission on public expenditures. There was a large gathering on hand when the hearing opened, most of whom were interested in the subject of a reduction of State salaries. When it was announced that the only business would be a discussion of the report by the Senate chairman of the special committee a majority of the spectators withdrew. They had been informed by the presiding officer that the question of salary reductions would be taken up at a later hearing which in a number of cases will start next week.

The Governor's Council of 1933-34 held its first business session Wednesday at which the Governor submitted the nomination of Dr. John V. May as State Commissioner of Mental Diseases to succeed Dr. George M. Kline whose death occurred last week. Dr. May was confirmed under a suspension of the rules and later took the oath of office, assuming his duties Thursday. The only other appointment made by the Governor last Wednesday was that of a lower court justice which the Council did not act upon.

There is much interest among bird lovers in the recommendation of the special committee on public expenditures that the division of ornithology be abolished. The director of the division is Dr. John B. May, a former Newton resident. The division is self-supporting and has many friends among those who believe the State should have a large part in the conservation of wild life.

Both branches have voted to send one member each to attend the conference of legislators from all States of the Union to be held in Washington, D. C.

The State organization of boards of selectmen held their annual meeting at the State House at which it was voted to endorse an attempt to repeal the old age assistance act. The Governor has advised the Legislature in his inaugural address that if they cannot find some means of providing a source of revenue it would be well to suspend the operation of the law. This may stir the legislators into action or it may result in a repeal of the law. The latter is a trifle doubtful because the law is popular except among city and town fathers.

By L. D. G. Bentley

After all, what is there to co-operation if it isn't getting the other fellow's point of view.

Oddments

Sinking shafts for the new sewer is necessarily accompanied by a certain steady and monotonous noise.

If you live in the vicinity of one of these shafts you may wonder—until you get used to it—whether you are listening to a low-flying airplane, a bad case of wheezing, a flivver getting underway or a dentist's drill.

A sort of "what's-it-all-about" feeling gets me when I see fictitious tales about moving picture stars—highly colored yarns cooked-up by imaginative writers. It has been a source of wonder to me why the truth was not printed instead of fiction. In a number of instances I have known that the stuff fed to motion picture editors on the daily newspapers was far from the facts. The real story of the life of many of cinema people would be a great deal more interesting. But no, the public is assumed to be dumb and double dumb so it is supplied a quantity of blab blab which it is supposed to accept as gospel. Possibly the writers of this hallyhoo know what their readers want better than you and I.

It is my fervent hope that there is little in the charge that applicants for assistance sent to the Mayor's Relief Committee have been harshly spoken to by certain clerks and assistants. A substantial citizen, however, has assured me that he has seen applicants roughly ordered from the committee's office. I have no way of proving such allegations. It does seem to me, nevertheless that every consideration should be given anybody seeking employment. No man is to be blamed for showing persistency in his endeavor to obtain work. Self-preservation is a human impulse. If the men cannot be given employment only at intervals they can at least receive civil treatment at all times.

Another World Wonder

When decalcomania is mentioned some people have an idea it is a medical term. You can't blame them for it sounds a trifle that way. But those of us who as youngsters stumbled over big words, will recall that it was "decalcomain" or thereabouts. Anyway, it was sticking something on a piece of wet paper and having the picture leave the old for the new. Really a marvelous thing until the novelty wore off. A game that used to be popular on rainy days when you couldn't go out to play or at such times when you were getting over a bad cold or something and weren't allowed outside.

We got our knowledge of it young as "decalcomains" were purchasable at a low price, a penny or two, and made a lot of interesting sport for an hour or more. Of late I have been hearing more about it. (We'll get to the story pretty soon.) Consequently, I had to give a little time to the spelling and definition. Finally I read: "Decalcomania. Art or process of transferring pictures and designs as from specially prepared paper to china, glass, marble, etc. and permanently fixing them thereto; also a picture or design prepared to be so transferred."

In this I recognized the sport of boyhood days. It was like meeting a long-time friend after years and years of separation. Why hadn't I thought of it before and why all this fuss now? Just think, decalcomania is replacing the hand-painting of signs. On automobile bodies you see advertisements for cigarettes—name, picture of the box and certain words of high praise. Time was, and not so far distant, when an expert craftsman spent several days painting that sign on the car. Everybody has seen a sign-painter at work. Always fascinating—the silent, steady strokes of the brush while gradually the picture takes form. One of the real skillful trades.

But this is the era of mechanics. Call it decalcomat or what you may. The sign painting stunts are replaced by decalcomania. In the course of 10 minutes or more the very sign, lettering and picture, that the painter has spent two or three days in making is transferred to the surface of a car or signboard by decalcomania. Less time by many hours and less cost, for the labor is by no means as expensive.

You should seek an opportunity to watch this process. Here is something that furnishes amazement to those in search of a novelty and a source of tremendous interest to those who like to study such things. I am sorry to see the sign painter undermined—and it looks as if this was bound to happen in time—but I must say that the new decalcomania is something to make anybody's eyes stick out.

Still on Ice

Looks as if last week's paragraphs on skating had started something. Here's this from a correspondent:

"Dear L. D. G.—A trifle off the path of figure skating which you traversed so skillfully in your latest column is the allied sport of speed skating. Perhaps, then, one might assume that you meant no slight when you devoted so much space to the chanceless envy of those who gracefully cut intricate figures on the ice. Or may an erstwhile speed skater inquire if your omission of his favorite form of sports entertainment was deliberate?"

"Yes, my learned sir, there is a form of competition skating quite separate and distinct from the variety wherein youths and girls, of diverse ages, make graceful pirouettes and dips in etching fanciful designs on more or less smooth ice. You are surprised?"

"Nevertheless, speed skating, which may or may not have the social background of figure skating, has its adherents, and they are not few. In fact it is no little amazing to learn that you, of all people, should be content to envy figure skaters who in-duge in an exercise which might almost be termed exotic. Where is the great Bentley virility of which I have heard so much? Why don't you be a man and envy, if envy you must, the much more thrilling, breath-taking and dangerous sport of speed skating? "To one who is a former quarter-mile and half-mile speed skating champion, cutting fancy figures on the ice seems about as thrilling as hunting grasshoppers on the City Hall lawn. Where is the zest, the breathless competition? Where is the eagerness of the start, the fighting race to the first corner, the mad scramble for the lead and the final desperate dash to be the first to break the tape?"

"Now, I'm not saying figure skating isn't any fun, mind you, but to me it seems just about as exciting as playing tennis with your eight-year old sister or going for a gallop on a rocking-horse. So couldn't you give us speed skating fans a little attention? Just a paragraph, maybe? Please, mister?"

"And in closing may I say that I've skated for nearly 30 years and couldn't cut a figure 8 on ice, not if you promised me all the gold in Alaska for doing it? And what's more, I'm proud of it!"

Very truly yours,
 I. C. SERFIS."

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Shakespeare Club

Mrs. W. J. Bicknell was hostess for the Shakespeare Club January 7th—the only Club in Newton to meet on the afternoon of a day that stirred the hearts of every citizen of Massachusetts and Vermont—it is safe to say—if not of all these United States. For them, therefore, it was given that they should pay the tribute to our revered Ex-President that may well be recorded as our city's thought and respect.

A half-hour was given to extolling the character and work of CALVIN COOLIDGE—words that spelled the inspiration of his leadership, the reverence and regard paid so spontaneously.

At the time that his body was being borne to its last resting place in the hills of Vermont that he loved so dearly, each member of the Club gave the characteristics which were the most appealing to her—which would always linger as a grateful and fragrant memory of his noble life.

Miss Edith McCann then read a poem:—

"The Last Summons"

Once in the night his father came to him,
His age-worn father, Testament in hand,
And laid on him amid the lamplight dim.
The countless burdens of a mighty land,
Out of the rugged hills of home he strode
To carry on beneath a nation's load.

And now his Heavenly Father comes to him,
Today a soothing hand upon his brow,
And lifts his spirit from the shadows grim
Into the light. There is no burden now;
His toil is done, his care and sorrow cease,
And may his rugged soul abide in peace.

COMING EVENTS

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The second International Supper Discussion will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, on Monday, January 15th, at 8:30 p. m. Dr. Tshyn Hsieh, who is head of the Boston Chinese Trade Bureau, will speak on "The Chinese View of the Manchurian Problem." Dr. Hsieh has spoken before the Williamstown Institute of Politics, and has often been called the "Teddy Roosevelt of China." Tickets at 60 cents may be had from Mrs. Esmond Rowley (Tel. C. N. 3809).

The Literature committee of the Club will present the first of a series of six Book Talks by Miriam Francis Skirball, on Tuesday, January 17th, at 10 a. m. Mrs. Skirball has made an enviable place for herself as an authoritative exponent of modern literature. Her subject on the 17th will be "Current Fiction." Tickets for the six lectures are $2.50; single admission is 75 cents. These may be had at the door. The course is open to the public.

The second Book Talk will be held on January 31st, and the subject will be "Inheritance," by Phyllis Bentley.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Dr. Abraham Myerson, Professor of Neurology at Tufts Medical College, will lecture to the Club on "Laws of Satisfaction and Desire," at the regular meeting, January 17th, at 8:30 p. m., in the Congregational Parish House. Dr. Myerson has been consultant neurologist in many Boston hospitals and his lecture should be exceedingly helpful.

Auburndale Review Club

The Annual Business Meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Braithwaite, 366 Central street, on Tuesday, the 17th.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The mysterious arts, manners, and customs of the remote people of the Far East, which have been woven into their handsome and luxurious fabrics will be the keynote of a lecture to be given by Mrs. Katherine Osborne, an authority on "Fabrics and Art," who has recently returned from a tour of the Oriental countries. This talk will be given on Tuesday afternoon, January 17th, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Newtonville Woman's Club House.

"The Romance of Fabrics" should be a subject of intriguing interest, as Mrs. Osborne relates her varied and fascinating experiences in obtaining the rarer and beautiful materials, which she brings for display, to her lecture.

Following the lecture, a quartette, from the Glee Club, will entertain with a group of three songs. The quartette is composed of Mrs. Clinton W. Kyle, Mrs. Theodore Reed, Mrs. William H. Fish, and Mrs. William F. Ferrin.

"Forty years for Labrador," by Sir Wilfred Grenfell, is the book which Alice Dixon Bond will review at her next discussion of modern literature, on Wednesday morning, January 18th, at 10 o'clock, at the Club House. Mrs. Bond has had personal interviews with the author and she will relate, in connection with the review of the book, her impressions of Sir Wilfred Grenfell.

The Class in Voice-Training, sponsored by the Drama committee, will give a reading of the three-act play, "Another Language," by Rose Franklin, on Thursday afternoon, January 19th, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Club House.

The Class, under the experienced coaching of Hortense Creeds Rallsback, has just completed the course, and the study of this play of modern American family life, was one of the features taken up during the course. There will be no charge for the afternoon's entertainment, but a silver donation will be taken to defray the expenses of the tea which will be served at the close of the program.

Social Science Club

The Social Science Club will enjoy an informal morning of narrative music given by Mrs. James A. Moyer, a member of the Club, on January 18th, at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Freelan O. Stanley, of 337 Waterville avenue, is opening her home for this occasion. The hostesses will be Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt and Miss Fanny M. Adams.

Community Service Club Of West Newton

At the meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton on January 18th, at 2:30 p. m. in the Second Church, Mr. Henry Warren Poor will be the speaker, his subject being "Famous Paintings; by Old Masters and New."

Mr. Poor is known as artist, author, traveler and lecturer and comes to the Club recommended by eminent authorities. The lecture will be illustrated by 250 pictures taken in the great galleries of America and Europe and from the private collections of well known connoisseurs in this country.

His explanations answer the questions: What Is It? Who painted it? And why is it famous?

At the conclusion of the lecture tea will be served by a committee of which Mrs. Stuart P. Dunham is chairman.

The Community Service Club is already looking forward to its February meeting, when Club members and friends will have the opportunity to hear again Hortense Creeds Rallsback, who was so warmly received at the Fall entertainment in "Seventeenth Heaven," and who at the meeting on February 15th will read "Cyrano de Bergerac."

The next lecture in the Course of Current Events, by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, will be held at the Unitarian Church on January 20th at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Gilson recently spent a week in Washington and at the lecture on January 8th was able to present to the audience a graphic description of Congress in action, important committee meetings which she had attended, and interesting sidelights on the personality and speeches of well-known men in high places, as well as the present status of affairs in the Far East, and a lucid explanation of the important Philippine Bill. These lectures are distinctly worthwhile, in making "the news behind the news" in the papers more interesting and intelligible.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Mothercraft and Child Welfare Division of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold a Style Show on Thursday, January 19th, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Levi F. Warren Junior High School. Styles for children from infancy to seventeen years of age will be shown by the Jordan Marsh Company, with children of Club members serving as models.

The chairman of the Division, Mrs. Roy A. Stinson, cordially invites any who may be interested, whether members of the Club or not, to this meeting. A small admission charge of ten cents will be made to non-members. Students, however, will be admitted free.

Newton Community Club

The Conservation committees of the Newton Community Club and Social Science Club are combining in a delightful series of four Garden Talks to be held on the third Thursday of the next four months, beginning on January 19th, for which Club members are opening their homes. Mrs. Frank F. Lamson, of 21 Waterston road, is the first hostess. Tickets for the four lectures are $1.00. Speakers who can give much information as to practical gardening, and present their topics in interesting style, will be secured by the chairman of the committees, Mrs. Frederick H. Loveland and Mrs. Joe W. Gerrity.

Boston City Federation

An open meeting of much interest, and one that Newton clubwomen may wish to attend, since all clubwomen are most cordially invited, is the meeting of the Boston City Federation which will be held at the Y. W. C. A., 140 Clarendon street, on Friday, January 20th, at 10:30 a. m.

An Institute on "Moral Building in Times of Depression" will be conducted by Mrs. Robert J. Culbert, chairman of the Community Service committee. Those taking part will be: Miss Marjorie Warren, general secretary of the Travelers Aid, who will speak on "What Can We Do For the Army of 200,000 Wandering Youth"; Mr. Howard Gill, director of Prison Colony at Norfolk, on "Recreating Men Through a Community Life Behind Walls"; Dr. Fred Smith, registrar of Graduate School of Education at Harvard University, Y. M. C. A. Counseling Service, on "Building Moral Through Job Finding"; Miss Mary Driscoll, director of Better Homes, on "Reclaiming a Slum Area"; and Mr. Roy Cushman, executive secretary of the Boston Council of Social Agencies, on "What Are the Needs of the Unemployed."

A business session will precede the Institute with the president, Mrs. David A. Westcott, presiding. Three Newton women are officers of this Federation: Miss Margaret McGill and Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, director, and Mrs. Florence Morse, treasurer.

State Federation

RADIO. On Saturday, the 21st of January, at 11:30 o'clock, over WBZ, Mr. Roy M. Cushman, secretary of the Boston Council of Social Agencies, will be guest speaker for the Social Division, of which Mrs. E. R. Limbach is chairman; and Mr. Robert Choate, editor of the Boston Herald, will be guest speaker for the Department of Press and Publicity, Mrs. Reuben Gleason, chairman. Mr. Choate taking as his subject "Women in the News." Clubwomen will be especially interested to hear this phase of their work discussed by one so experienced in the news angle of daily events.

Continuing the Musical Travelogue which Mrs. Fuller has arranged so skillfully for the month of January in presenting typical musical compositions of the various sections of the world, the British Isles, Scotland, England, and Ireland, will be featured by the artists, Elva R. Boyden, contralto, and Marian Leach Pulsifer, Pianist, both of Brookline.

The program for the 14th, already given in detail, may be called Legislative Day and Inter-racial Unity Day as a reminder to all especially interested in these subjects.

ART LECTURE. The third in the interesting series of Art Lectures on permanent and current exhibitions, sponsored by the Art Division, of which Mrs. Roy C. Baker is chairman, will be held on Wednesday, the 18th, at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, at 2 o'clock. "Sculpture in Stone" is the topic of the lecture to be given in the Galleries by Miss Alice M. Maginnis. Single tickets are 35 cents; and tickets for the two remaining lectures—the 18th, and February 15th—are 50 cents. The proceeds will go to the Museum Educational Fund as a State Federation Scholarship.

Clubwomen should save the date January 23rd, for an All-Day Conference, to be held at the new Auditorium of the Worcester Art Museum, a beautiful new building opened on the 7th; morning session at 10:30 o'clock, and afternoon session at 1:45 o'clock. A delightful program has been arranged, which will be given in detail next week. Reservations for Luncheon should be made by the 19th, with Mrs. W. D. Frazer, 253 Chestnut street, Clinton, by sending check for 75 cents, and self-addressed, stamped envelope. Luncheon will be in the Museum.

Another date that all clubwomen interested in Art, Literature, Drama, and Music, should save, is the first of February, for a Fine Arts Conference to be held at the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, The Fenway, Boston, at 1:30 p. m.

CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE

Conferences for the State projects are coming thick and fast in the next two weeks, and clubwomen who like to keep in touch with all of them, will find themselves maneuvering dates and plans. Newton Centre has the honor of being hostess to a Child Welfare Conference at their Club House, for Thursday, the 26th, opening at 10:30 a. m. Details will be given later. Luncheon reservations should be made by the 23rd, with Mrs. Sidney R. Porter, 18 Trelton road. Tickets are 50 cents.

RECENT EVENTS

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

Class work at Simmons College prevented Professor Gay filling his engagement to speak to the Club at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, January 3rd, in the Congregational Parish House, and the Club was very fortunate in securing Mr. John Clair Minot.

Mr. Minot commenced his discussion of "Recent Books" by explaining how books form the bulwark of our civilization. He stated that during the last two years the outstanding thing has been a tremendous interest in books interpreting, explaining, and surveying our own country, such as "The Epic of America," and "The March of Democracy." He mentioned John Galsworthy as the outstanding English author today, saying that he won the Nobel prize last year not so much because of his fine craftsmanship as because of the social significance of his writing. England says the six English writers that will be read a hundred years from now are Galsworthy, Hardy, Bennett, Shaw, Wells, and Kipling. In naming books by almost unknown English writers, that have come out in the past few months, Mr. Minot specified "Fountain," by Charles Morgan, a work with such distinction of manner and quality of touch that it has a fine classification, and "Inheritance," by Phyllis Bentley. By our American writers he gave "Sheltered Life," by Ellen Glasgow, and "Gods Arise," by Edith Wharton. Mr. Minot stated that in his own personal opinion the Pulitzer prize this year might well go to Ellen Glasgow for the "Sheltered Life."

A question period followed Mr. Minot's discussion.

Mrs. Samuel N. Brame, president of the Newton Federation, gave a graphic picture of experiences at the Bi-centennial Convention in Seattle last spring.

Mrs. Harold W. Drew, moving picture representative of the Club, presented a petition from the Newton Federation, asking each member to sign, requesting the film headquarters in New York to make a better selection of pictures, especially for the children's matinee Saturdays.

Mrs. Drew also announced that due to illness of Mrs. Hasbrouck her class this week was cancelled, and the next class would be on January 11th.

After the program tea was served by the Social committee, Miss Marion B. Morse, chairman, and the new members were greeted.

Auburndale Woman's Club

Mr. Cameron Beck, personal director of the New York Stock Exchange, was the speaker at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club last Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Beck was introduced to his audience by the chairman of the Day, Mrs. Thomas E. Young. The speaker, whose work throws him particularly among young people, took for his subject "The Cost of Leadership." His very optimistic view of the young people of today was expressed very clearly. He claimed that the real problem of today is not "delinquent youth" but "inefficient understanding," and that we are a "changeless people in a changing time."

Following Mr. Beck's talk, tea was served by the Hospitality committee, of which Mrs. George St. Amant is chairman.

A Food Sale, conducted by the Community Service committee, was held to defray the expenses of the Christmas baskets. Aiding the chairman of this committee, Mrs. Joseph McCarron, were Mrs. Edward Edmonds, Mrs. William Galvin, Mrs. Frank Rapp, Mrs. Whitman Sawyer, Mrs. Silvanus Smith, Mrs. Carlton Treat, and Mrs. Ashley Wright.

The following officers and Executive Board were recently installed for the coming year by the local branch of the Y. M. H. A.:

Officers: Philip Gilfix, President; Nathan Goodman, Vice President; David Suvalle, Secretary; Jay Gilfix, Treasurer.

There were seventy members at the banquet at the Adams Street Synagogue. The Champagne brothers danced and played the piano. Their specialty was an interpretation of the Fife and Drum Corps by tap dancing. "Frank and Jack" played duets on the piano and sang.

The Y. M. H. A. has started a Sunday school, Ladies' Aid Auxiliary, and a club for boys and girls.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Autoists who drive cars with imperfect brakes take chances even on dry streets. But, autoists who drive cars with imperfect brakes when streets are covered with icy snow certainly are endangering their own lives as well as the lives of other persons. We have seen cars doing grapevines and figure 8s on slippery streets lately. Usually such cars have brakes out of adjustment, and when one brake grabs on a slippery street, it is just too bad.

Dr. Lowe, City Physician, is quoted as estimating that 5000 persons in this city are sick with gripe. This is just an estimate. All we know is that we got the gripe on November 29th and at that time the Health Department of Newton informed us that it had not heard of any outbreak of this popular disease in this city. So, we must have been one of the first to be honored with it here.

Residents of Newton Centre are protesting against the method of operating the traffic signal at the intersection of Centre and Beacon sts. They state that the yellow light on this signal flash just for a moment and provide no opportunity for pedestrians to cross the street. Persons on foot are accorded no protection and when they attempt to cross when the yellow light flashes, the green light either moving traffic on Centre or Beacon sts. comes on and the "forgotten man," either afoot (or sometimes on a bicycle) is at the mercy of that type of autoist who has no regard for the safety of others, and who steps on the gas once a green light shows. It is contended that the yellow light at this signal should show for a longer interval to give pedestrians some chance to cross the street intersection without the danger of being run over. The same condition prevails at any village square where pedestrian traffic is heavy and where traffic signals are operated automatically instead of by a traffic officer, as they should be.

The excavation of Boylston st. at Newton Centre in the process of constructing the new Worcester turnpike, has caused a serious health menace. Cesspools in nearby yards have been seeping into the excavated area on the highway location, and also into other yards. It is imperative that sewer connections be made as soon as possible to stop this menace.

Traffic Officers Dowling and Hamill have been doing good work apprehending autoists who drive along Washington st. at speeds of over 40 miles; some at speeds well over 50 miles. We have heard autoists whine that it is unfair persecution to bring one into court for speeding on Washington st. But, if these persons endeavored to cross this wide street on foot, or if they attempted to drive onto it from one of the many side streets and got whanged by some speeder who would not slow down, they would probably agree that 40 miles is more than fast enough as the speed limit on this street. Aged persons are afraid to cross the street, and even agile persons do so with trepidation.

It is unfair, however, to summon into the Newton court those speeders who don't "fix" matters by having the game guys who haven't sportsmanship enough to take their medicine, rush to some influential citizen and sneak out of the penalty due them. And the influential citizens who make good fellows of themselves by "fixing" cases are largely to blame for the terrific list of deaths and injuries caused by reckless autoists who drive without regard for the safety of others because they know they can escape punishment.

Police News

Wellington Pratt, 22, of 155 Waverley ave., Newton, was fined $100 in the Newton court yesterday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor, $50 for leaving the scene of an accident after causing damage to property without revealing his identity, and $10 for drunkenness. He appealed, and $10 was arrested on the night of Dec. 27th, after the car he was driving had hit two cars parked on Washington st. near Channing st. One of the cars was owned by Paul FitzGerald; the other by Bernard M. Burke, for mer police chief. Patrolmen Taffe and L. O'Donnell testified that Pratt was drunk when they arrested him and their testimony was corroborated by policemen on duty at police headquarters that night. Dr. T. Morton Gallagher testified that he had examined Pratt at police headquarters following his arrest and that he had found the young man not under the influence of liquor. Patrolman Stevens testified that he was present when Gallagher examined the defendant and that the latter walked unsteadily. Gallagher, testifying in rebuttal, stated that Stevens was not in the room when he made the examination.

At the meeting of the Newton W. C. T. U. last Thursday Mrs. John A. Groves gave an interesting account of the Hearings of the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives at Washington which she attended. Mrs. Henry Peabody's closing testimony was given as "Can we pray," "Lead us not into temptation," and put temptation before our boys and girls with drink, that contains alcoholic content, a habit forming drug. Can we pray "Deliver us from evil" and put that evil, legalized, back into the nation?

Mrs. James A. Floyd presided at the meeting and Mrs. Hattie E. Shutta led the prayer service. Mrs. William Butler and Mrs. H. Story Granger were the hostesses.

Aldermen Also Vote To Establish City Laboratory

The regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night started at 7:55, practically on time. President Collins has informed the members that in the future he will start the meetings on time in fairness to citizens who come to attend hearings, so committee conferences will not be allowed to delay the Board meetings. The first matter on the docket was a hearing on the petition of the Shell Petroleum Company for a permit to install another tank and pump at its station on Elm st., West Newton. No opposition appeared.

Louis Feinberg of Chelsea spoke in favor of the petition of the Newton Tire Company which he conducts at 237 Washington st., Newton, in the Charlton Building. He seeks a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank and pump at the rear of this lot. He stated that he wants the tank and pump to supply gasoline for automobiles owned by his company, so that he can obtain this fuel cheaper, and that this permit would be for private use only. The automobiles are not garaged at this address.

Jurors drawn at the meeting to serve at criminal sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court in February are—Nicholas Richardson, 81 Prescott st.; Robert A. Cox, 117 Nantum st.; George Wiswall, 81 Wiswall rd.; Harry Niven, 271 Lowell ave.; John P. Sullivan, 24 Wade st.; Harold Scholes, 51 Morse rd.

A "short recess" was taken at 8:10 which lasted until 9:54, to permit committees to meet.

When the Board reassembled Alderman Hawkins, for the Licenses Committee, reported favorably on the following petitions—Ball & Ohera, 55 Lincoln st., common victualler license; George Fisher, 296 California st., permit to add 4 feet to building used as gasoline station; Frank Dillbert, 3rd class liquor license at 303 Washington st.; C. Plantedosi, one express truck license at 154 Chapel st.; John Proia, 50 Adams st.; Alice Oshershaw, 307 Washington st., common victualler licenses. These petitions were granted.

Appropriations made included—Health Department for laboratory equipment, $200; Cents rd., sewer $1250; Playground Department for work in connection with unemployment relief, $7000; award to Rose Snedecker for injury caused by fall on sidewalk, $150; drain in Cold Spring Swamp playground, $1500; Water Department for fee to Sampson & Weston, consulting chemists, $1000. Alderman Temperley objected to this last appropriation and a long discussion resulted. This matter will be referred to in detail in next week's GRAPHIC in an article on the latest phase in the development of Newton's water supply. This $1000 is for the purpose of attempting to eliminate manganese from the water.

ASK PERMIT FOR ILLEGALLY BUILT GREENHOUSE

Domenic Uttaro who erected a greenhouse at 331 Grove st., Auburndale, without obtaining a permit to do so, has made a second application for a permit to be allowed to retain this structure which is in a residence zone. He entered a similar petition some weeks ago and was granted leave to withdraw. It was stated at that time that Buildings Commissioner Hageman would take action to compel Uttaro to remove the building.

Little Girl Dies In Tragic Fire At West Newton

Ulrich Home in Flames When Firemen Arrive

Barbara Ulrich, 10, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Helmut Ulrich of 215 Valantine street, West Newton, died in a fire which completely destroyed the Ulrich home on Saturday night. The child's parents had gone to Quincy to visit friends, and her brother Edward, 15, had gone to a basketball game. She was alone in the house with a German shepherd dog. At 10:38 o'clock a telephone call was sent to Fire Department headquarters at Newton Centre by Mrs. Maude Staples of 38 Ellis rd., located near the Ulrich home, who said that she smelled smoke and thought there must be a fire in the neighborhood. Ladder 1 and Engine 4 from Newtonville responded, but before the firemen reached the scene the flames, which apparently had been raging in the interior of the house had broken through. A call was at once sent to headquarters to have an alarm sent in from Box 381 at 10:44, which brought additional apparatus. By this time the flames had burst out through all sides of the building and the rear was blazing fiercely. Chief Randlett ordered a second alarm, which was pulled at 10:49. Gas from melted pipes added to the intensity of the flames.

Seven streams of water had the flames extinguished in a comparatively short time, but the blaze had spread so through the house before the fire was discovered, that the building and its contents were almost completely destroyed. The fire had apparently started from an overheated electric iron in the kitchen. The little girl was asleep in a chamber above the kitchen. The floor of her room was burned away and her bed fell through into the kitchen, thence through the ruins of the kitchen floor, coming to a stop on the heating pipes in the cellar. Her badly charred body was found at this spot. The child apparently was asphyxiated as she slept. The burned body of the dog was found inside the door of the girl's bedroom, lying on a small section of floor which had not been completely burned away. The child's parents arrived at the scene about 11:30 after having been telephoned to at Quincy that their home was afire. When Mrs. Ulrich reached the yard at her home she collapsed and was taken to the home of a neighbor. She was attended by Dr. Cecil Clark. Private funeral services for the child were held on Tuesday. Cremation was at Mount Auburn. The girl was a pupil at the Pierce School in West Newton.

Baby Burned To Death Fri. Evg.

Crib in Flames Before Discovery By Parents

Kenneth McKonky, Jr., 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. McKonky of 97 Garland rd., Newton Centre, was burned to death last Friday evening about 6 o'clock. Shortly after the child had been placed in his crib in a bedroom on the second floor of the house, his parents smelled smoke and the boy's father rushed upstairs to find the bedclothing in the crib afire. He snatched the child from the crib and quickly extinguished the flames, but the little boy had been fatally burned. Physicians who were summoned to the house found life extinct in the boy. The fire department was then summoned by telephone by Hayden Tyler of 114 Garland rd., who had observed smoke issuing from the McKonky home. According to the report of the Fire Department the fire was caused by the short-circuiting of two small dry-cells in a toy automobile which had been placed in the crib with the child.

Mayor Weeks Submits Budget To Aldermen Cutting City Expenses Nearly Half Million

City Clerk, Playground and Engineering Departments Get Severe Cuts—$4,526,293 New Budget Total—$492,516 Under Last Year

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Mayor Weeks submitted the budget recommendations for this year. The cost of running the City of Newton in 1932 was $4,714,184. The recommendations of the department heads for the ensuing year were $4,526,293. The Mayor lopped over $300,000 from these figures. The biggest cut is made in the appropriation for the Street Department. Last year $1,045,903 were expended by this department. Street Commissioner Stuart's recommendation for 1933 was $997,647. Mayor Weeks cut this to $806,322. The School Department last year expended $1,377,543. This year's budget calls for $1,291,585, a cut of $86,000. The City Clerk's Department is cut over $32,000, most of this difference resulting from the transfer of the soldiers' aid activity to a new department created to have charge of this type of aid. The Playground Department budget was cut $15,000 and the Engineering Department $11,000. The long-continued depression is reflected in the large increase for the Public Welfare Department budget. Last year the budget for this department was $150,494, but $201,230 were expended. For those residents of Newton who draw soldiers' relief $64,604 were appropriated. Last year $71,500 were paid through the City Clerk's Department for this purpose, and in addition $13,000 were appropriated for work done by former service men on Commonwealth ave. and elsewhere. The budget of the City Treasurer's Department was increased about $20,000 because of the bond issue for the Middlesex County Tuberculosis Hospital and the new high level sewer. The budget of the Public Buildings Department was increased $5,000, largely because this department now has to pay for all the telephone service at City Hall.

The office of City Messenger will be discontinued on Feb. 28, when Lucien Davis, who has filled this position for 22 years, will be retired on a pension, having reached the age limit. His salary has been $2,000 yearly. A new office is created—that of director of soldiers' relief. This office will be filled by Edmund T. Dungan of West Newton at a salary of $1,800 per annum. The budget table follows—

STEARNS SCHOOL CENTRE HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Stearns School Centre was held at the home of Mrs. Cecil W. Clark of Walnut st., Newtonville, on Monday afternoon. It was a most enthusiastic meeting as a good number of the friends of the Centre came and enjoyed the report of Mrs. George Auryansen, clerk of the Board of Directors, who told of the many highlights of the past year which have brought happiness and joy to all connected with the Centre whether they be members of the 17 groups or members of the Board of Directors.

Miss Helen Sandstrom, the Director of Activities reported both growth in numbers and enthusiasm, and stressed the need of the proper training for leisure in this day and age when there is much leisure in the lives of so many and when amusements claim so much leisure time.

The speaker of the afternoon was Judge Thomas Weston who gave an interesting talk to the Courts As Seen From a Judge's Bench. His outline of the whole system and the functions of the different courts was very clear, even to the lay mind—and the attitude of a judge who has evidently followed his early instructions "not to take himself too seriously" made his discussion of important questions not only informing but entertaining.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Mrs. Cecil W. Clark, President; Miss Lucy Ely Cobb, 1st Vice-President; Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., 2nd Vice-President; Mrs. George W. Auryansen, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Lowell A. Burrows, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Carlo Montanari, Treasurer; Miss Eugenie F. Bradshaw, Assistant Treasurer. Three new members were welcomed to the Board of Directors—Mrs. Paul Ellicker, Mrs. Thomas Weston and Mrs. Carl Ell.

Boy Scouts To Hold Cub Palava

Are Starting Year With Big Demonstration

The Cub Division of Norumbega Council will start the new year with a big demonstration of the Cub Program. This will be held at the Mason School in Newton Centre, tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and all will be welcome.

The following Packs will take part: Pack 1, Grace Church, Newton; Pack 7B, West Newton; Pack 19, Playground House, Newton Centre; Pack 20, Trinity Church, Newton Centre, and Pack 6, Waban.

The program will consist of what is called a dramatization of the Cub program, with a boy reading from the Cub Handbooks and asking his father questions about Cubbing. Following a series of questions, there is a "fade-out" and a group of Cubs in action is shown, going through the games or stunts or tests about which the questions are being asked.

The finale will be a grouping of the flags of all the nations which are now operating the Cub program, for it exists in 55 different countries throughout the world, the program being adapted to fit conditions. It is a part of the world wide brotherhood of Scouting.

Mr. Carlton S. Redmond, Director of the Cub Division of Norumbega Council, is in charge of the Palava.

Health Department Wants Blood For Serum

Needed In Effort To Control Scarlet Fever Outbreak

The Newton Health Department is seeking blood in an effort to check the spread of scarlet fever among children of this city. For the first 17 days of this month 32 cases of this disease were reported to the Board of Health in Newton. Last month 73 cases were reported. Last year 402 cases of the disease were reported to the Newton Board of Health. It cost the taxpayers of Newton $24,000 to pay for the care of children at the Newton Hospital who were sent there as scarlet fever patients during 1932. This disease has become a serious matter in Newton.

This week Dr. Curtis, chairman of the Board of Health sent letters to forty Newton residents over 15 years of age who have had scarlet fever recently. Each of these persons was offered $5 for a half-pint of their blood. This blood, if obtained, will be sent to the State Board of Health and will be used in making a serum. This serum will be used to inoculate persons in Newton, residents of homes where scarlet fever cases occur, and who have been exposed to the disease. A treatment of the serum is supposed to make one receiving it immune to the disease for a period of three weeks, when the danger of contagion is supposed to have passed. A half-pint of blood will make serum enough to inoculate 12 persons.

Pedro Zottele, National Secretary of Religious Education for Chile, will speak on "The Progress of the Church in Chile." Following a union young people's meeting at 7 p. m. led by Mark C. L. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Zottele will talk on "Religious Implications of the Revolutionary Spirit." On Wednesday evening at 7:45 Rev. Harry A. Hanson and Mrs. Hanson, home from India on furlough, will entertain with moving pictures showing some of their work in Lodihipur where they are stationed.

Two one-act plays, "The Color Line" and "Napoleon Crossing the Rockies," will be presented by local talent on Friday evening at 7:45. This is the only program when there will be an admission fee and this will be small. On Sunday morning, January 29, at 11 o'clock Rev. George H. Spencer, Secretary of the American Bible Society in this area, will preach. The Institute will close Sunday evening with an address on "Religious Work in Rural Vermont" by Rev. G. Ernest Robbins, General Secretary of the Vermont Council of Religious Education. At 7 o'clock preceding the address Miss Edith Stearns will lead the union young people's meeting. The World Service Committee, with Prof. Robert E. Bruce as chairman, presents this educational program with a view to stimulating a greater interest in world-wide missions. The public is cordially invited to attend.

REPORTS TWENTY DRESSES STOLEN

Emanuel Davis of Kingston, New York, reported to the Newton police last Friday night that 20 dresses, valued at $150, had been stolen from his automobile while it was parked opposite 101 Manchester road, Newton Highlands. He said that the door of his car had been forced open.

City Terminates Employ of Veteran Milk Inspector

No Provision In Retirement Fund For Aged Official

The City of Newton next month will cease to employ as Milk Inspector and bacteriologist Dr. Arthur Hudson of Newton Corner who has served faithfully for 41 years. Dr. Hudson was first appointed as milk inspector and for several years the small salary he received was spent by him in purchasing equipment for this work. For most of the long period he worked for this city he was paid a salary quite inadequate for the duties he performed. In recent years he was paid $55 per month as Milk Inspector and $50 per month as bacteriologist. His laboratory in the Stevens Building is one of the best equipped for its purpose in this State and he has himself supplied most of the materials used in his work. He is now in his 88th year, but is still performing his work efficiently. When the new City Hall was built provision was made for the installing of a laboratory there.

It was announced at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night that the work which Dr. Hudson has been performing will, in the future be done by Koble Porine, Agent of the Board of Health and that the latter, who has been receiving a salary of $2400 per annum, will be given $600 additional. The sum of $2000 was appropriated to purchase equipment for the new laboratory. Some of this equipment will be purchased from Dr. Hudson. Alderman Sprout paid tribute to the long and faithful service rendered by Dr. Hudson. No provision was made for a pension to the latter, when the Retirement Fund for employees of the City of Newton was established a few years ago. Because of his long and faithful service to the city and the small compensation he received, Dr. Hudson is well entitled to a pension, even if special legislation is necessary to provide one for him.

TEMPERANCE EDUC. INST. FOR CHURCH WORKERS SUNDAY

Will Be Held Under Auspices of Norumbega District Council

A Temperance Education Institute for church school workers, parents and others interested, will be held next Sunday afternoon, January 22, at Elliot Church, Newton, from 3 to 5 p. m. This is under the auspices of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education, of which Dr. Mark H. Ward, of Newton Highlands, is president.

The Institute will open at 3 o'clock with an address "The Liquor Problem in the Light of Modern Knowledge," by Dr. Richard M. Vaughan, of Andover—Newton Theological School, who has made a thorough study of this subject. This will be followed by a demonstration "The Chemical Shop," showing the good and bad uses of alcohol by means of actual experiments by a local chemist.

At 3:45 there will be departmental conferences, at which time Sunday School workers will divide into small groups, each under a leader who can give suggestions for adapting the temperance material to different age groups.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

BELMONT STAGES RALLY TO DEFEAT NEWTON SEXTET

Newton High showed surprising strength last Saturday in its hockey game with Belmont until the closing minutes of the game when Captain George Ford and his mates went wild to stage a five-goal rally in seven minutes to win by a 6 to 3 score. With the game went practically all hope of the Newton sextet's chances of winning the 1933 Interscholastic League hockey title as Belmont has little to fear from any of its remaining league opponents except Cambridge Latin which is showing a smooth passing game that may possibly return it a victor over Belmont when this pair meet two weeks from tomorrow. Belmont, with victories over Stoneham and Melrose in addition to that over Newton, has met its most dangerous rivals.

In the Newton game last Saturday the local youths covered Ford, the league star individual player closely but in so doing failed to pay sufficient attention to his teammate, Leo Ecker, who personally was responsible for three of the goals and Ford two. Newton held the Belmont team at bay for more than two periods before Ford and Ecker began shooting from the blue line in a desperate effort to cut down the 3 to 1 lead Newton enjoyed. When the White team seemed an apparent winner but in a few short minutes the long-driving tactics of the Belmont six swung the tide.

In the first session Newton got off to a 2 to 0 lead. Jimmy Byrne swept down the right lane, was driven into the corner from which point he took a low drive from an almost impossible angle. Morey Belmont roared, attempted to save and the puck carried off his skate into the net for the first goal. A few seconds later Huston cut loose from centre ice, cleared the Belmont defence and let go with a low drive which Morey stopped sensationally only to have Byrne come driving in to cage the rebound.

In the second session, Ford, who had been completely bettered up previously, got away on one of his customary romps. The Newton defence drove him into a corner but he passed back nearly to the Newton blue line to Ecker. The latter whaled in a tally from fifteen feet out to put Belmont in the game.

Houghton and Huston teamed up neatly and bore down upon the Belmont net but the latter lost a pretty pass from his teammate and also a chance to score as the net was wide open. Before the second session ended Huston again raced the length of the ice, lured Morey out of the net only to see the Belmont goalie make a pretty save.

Early in the third period Huston poked-checked Ford on the Newton blue line, seized the puck and got clear. He split the Belmont defence and laid a pass right on Byrne's stick in the mouth of the net and the Newton wing chalked up his third tally. Newton apparently seemed sure of victory but less than a minute later Belmont got going.

Ecker let go a long shot from nearly 50 feet away and Ford followed with a 20-foot drive. Lopez, Newton goalie, lost them both and the score was knotted. A few moments later Ford passed back from near the Newton net to Jameson who caged a 15-footer, another Ford drive was stopped by Lopez but was not cleared in time to prevent Ford from caging the rebound, and still another tally on a 20-foot drive by Ecker brought the count to 6 and it was all over.

Other games last Saturday Cambridge Latin jumped into second place by topping Rindge 4 to 1 while Melrose continued on the heels of the leaders by blanking Medford 3 to 0 and Stoneham hung up its first win of the season by a similar score over Arlington.

Tomorrow's games will have Newton meeting Cambridge Latin, Melrose facing Arlington, Belmont against Rindge, and Medford versus Stoneham. Belmont, of course, is favored to defeat the cellar occupants while the other games are pretty much of a toss-up. A Newton victory over the Cantabs will bring the locals up in the standing from their present fifth place tie to a possible third place tie depending upon the outcome of the Melrose-Arlington and Medford-Stoneham battles.

The league standing:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Belmont	3	0	0	6
Camb. Latin	2	0	1	5
Melrose	2	1	0	4
Medford	1	1	1	3
NEWTON	1	2	0	2
Stoneham	1	2	0	2

last Saturday, with the visitors winning 4 to 1. Bill Petre won his singles match, with Fall River winning the two other singles and both doubles matches.

Basketball
Both the junior and senior basketball teams won victories last Saturday and Tuesday, defeating teams from the Quincy and Hyde Park "Y's" on the Newton court. Patterson, Newton's centre, tallied 19 points against Quincy to feature the 48 to 30 victory, with Kasper, forward, scoring 12 points for the second highest individual score. In the junior game, right forward won 28 to 23, Dolbier at right forward was high scorer with 15 points.

In the Hyde Park game Patterson was again the high scorer, with 26 points in the 51 to 34 victory. Dolbier also featured the juniors 32 to 12 win with 14 points.

Tomorrow night the "Y" teams play the Lawrence "Y" teams at Lawrence, and next Tuesday evening play the Wakefield teams at Newton. Next week Saturday Chelsea "Y" teams will be the visitors.

NEWTON TRACK TEAM ALMOST TRIPS BROCKTON

Newton and Brockton high school track teams met last Saturday in a dual meet at Brockton with the Brockton team winning the final event to nose Newton out 44½ to 41½. The Newton runners were hampered considerably by the steep banks which permitted Brockton to sweep the 600 yard run and take the major points in the 300-yard run. Newton annexed six of the eight first places and going into the relay had a two-point margin. Again the banks proved too much of a handicap and Brockton won the relay and the meet.

In the dash Captain Doug Sloane of Newton was the winner over Woodman of Brockton. Reardon and Girard, both of Brockton placed third and fourth. Palmer York of Newton won the hurdles and McLellan of Newton was fourth. Gillis and Lawson, Newton entries, took second and third.

Wilks and McLellan placed second and fourth, respectively, in the 300-yard run to keep Newton in the running although the four places in the 600-yard run went to Brockton.

Hugh Owens, Newton distance star, won the 1000 yard run in excellent time for the victor. He was clocked in 2m 40 4/5 seconds which is the second best time ever recorded there. Maynard of Newton added another point to the orange and black score with fourth place.

Caton won the high jump for Newton with a leap of 5 ft. 5 in. with Beckwith splitting the third place points with Burke of Brockton.

Tom Kinrade tossed the shot 39 ft. 11 in. and Walter Rich 37 ft. 11 in. for eight Newton points in the shot-put. Cobb scored Newton's only points in the broad jump with a leap of 8 ft. 9 3/4 in. which was good enough to win.

Newton relay team was comprised of York, Quigley, Wilks and Sloane.

This afternoon the Newton squad, with the exception of the lettermen from last year's team, will meet the Methuen High team in a practice meet on the Newton track.

OUR LADY HIGH FIVE OPENS '33 SEASON WITH WIN

The Our Lady High School basketball team, defending champions in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league, opened its 1933 league season on Tuesday with a 30-28 victory over its greatest rival, St. Charles High of Waltham. Captain Charlie Gallagher of Our Lady High featured for the winners and Captain Jackie Dennis of St. Charles was the high scorer of the game.

At the end of the initial period St. Charles had a 7-5 lead which at the end of the half was changed to an 11-9 count with Our Lady High in front. St. Charles made the going fast in the third session which ended with the Waltham five in front 18 to 17. Gallagher ran wild in the early part of the final period scoring three goals from the floor which with one by Nick Colantano gave the defending champions a 30 to 25 lead with two minutes left to play. A successful try on a foul and a goal by Capt. Dennis brought the St. Charles team within seven points of a tie as the final whistle blew.

Gallagher caged five goals from the floor and four on foul tries for a total of 14 points which was topped by Dennis with seven from the floor and two on fouls for a 16 point total. Merino Our Lady High left forward, scored six points, McCarthy at centre eight, Colantano at left guard two points. Joyce at right guard played a good defensive game and was the only local player not scoring.

In other games Mission High defeated St. Clement's of Medford, 20 to 14, and Immaculate High of Revere topped St. Mary's of Brookline, 22 to 21 in an extra-session which followed an 18-18 tie in the regulation periods.

BASKETBALL FIVE TOPS MILTON ACAD. FOR FOURTH WIN

The Newton High School basketball team won two more games the past week for its third and fourth straight win of the season. Last week Friday a trip to Quincy High resulted in a 40 to 20 victory and on Wednesday of this week a trip to Milton Academy brought a 48 to 16 verdict. The 1933 Newton High team is apparently on its way to setting a new high mark for total points scored by orange and black quintets since the sport was re-established a few years ago. In its four games Coach Simmons' outfit has hung up a total of 219 points against 75 for their combined opponents.

At Quincy last Friday the two Newton forwards Charlie Flag and Joe Mastropieri were the headliners, scoring 14 and 12 points respectively. The locals caged 19 goals from the floor and two on fouls for their total of 40 points. Flag and Mastropieri accounted for six floor goals each and Flag tossed in three. Flag scored both the free try goals on fouls and the remaining Newton points were divided between Bass, York, and Frazier.

The fourth Newton victory at the expense of Milton Academy was featured by seven goals each by Captain Huston and Mastropieri for a total of 28 points. Mastropieri contributed seven points, Flag five, Taylor four, York three and Davis one.

This afternoon the Newton quintet opens its Suburban league season at Cambridge High and Latin and entertains Rindge next Wednesday at Newtonville in another league affair. Next Friday Waverly High will come to the Newton gym for its annual game.

"PYGMALION" BRILLIANT AFFAIR

The presentation of Shaw's fanciful comedy "Pygmalion," by the Newton Dramatic Club at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House on Friday and Saturday evenings was a social as well as a histrionic success. The audience, comprised largely of the socially prominent of Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill, gave the affair the appearance of a private performance before an exclusive club instead of a play open to the public, which it was. The players, coached by Mrs. Everett W. Varney, the Club organizer, carried their parts well and were appreciatively received by the audience throughout the evening. Elizabeth Dunker, as Elizabeth Doolittle, was charming and gave a sympathetic interpretation of the part of the flower girl, who within a few months under expert coaching in conventional manners, rises from a "Gutter Rat" to the part of a duchess. Robert Currier, who played opposite in the role of Higgins, the teacher who worked the transformation on a bet, displayed ability visualizing the eccentric young Professor, Mrs. Harry A. Harris, as Mrs. Higgins, the mother of the teachers, was a very charming matron, and Ernest Braithwaite, the President of the Auburndale Players, gave an impersonation of Alfred Doolittle, father of the flower girl, fully up to professional standards.

The following list of patrons shows the social approval which the work of the Newton Dramatic Club received at this, its principal performance of the season:

Honorable and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Carl M. Bigelow, Mrs. Elias B. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. P. Chouteau Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Addison C. Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Capron, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coburn, Mr. and Mrs. Eben H. Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Estabrook, Honorable and Mrs. Fred T. Field, Mr. and Mrs. S. Harold Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Harriman, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield, Miss Rebekah Hobbs, Mrs. John T. Lodge, Miss Caroline A. Lovett, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lester Madden, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Mather, Mr. and Mrs. Howard N. North, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil B. Taylor, Baron and Baroness von Tipperskirch, Mr. and Mrs. F. Gilbert Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Walworth, Mrs. Prescott Warren, Honorable and Mrs. Thomas Warren.

IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY MEETS

The Ward 1 Improvement Association held a regular meeting on Wednesday evening at the Lincoln School, Miss Julia Enegess presided. It was suggested that a request be made to the Street Department that the streets in the Ward be cleaned, the comment being made that on some streets the leaves which fell last autumn have not been removed. The Association went on record as favoring action by the Legislature to compel the Boston Consolidated Company to abolish its monthly service charge of 50 cents. The Association will endeavor to obtain the cooperation of similar organizations in this city in this movement and will seek the assistance of the City Government of Newton.

Pontiac Offers

Amazing Value

With Straight 8

The man whose income has been reduced and who cannot buy an automobile in the price class to which he was accustomed in past years will be agreeably surprised when he examines the new 1933 Straight 8 PONTIAC. He will find that this car, which has been reduced in price until it now sells from $555 and up, F.O.B., is far superior to cars which sold for much higher prices in former years. This product of General Motors is truly an amazing value. It is a big, fast car with a smooth 8 cylinder motor that produces 77 horsepower and can speed along at 78 miles an hour. It has both weight and wheelbase to assure comfortable riding. The four-door sedan weighs 3265 pounds; the PONTIAC wheelbase is 115 inches. The chassis is a fine piece of work. The FISHER wind stream design bodies are modern and beautiful. The "no-draft" ventilation eliminates drafts and can be individually controlled. Careful attention has been given to the interior of the cars. Deep cushions and ample leg-room assure comfort. Rubber is used at 37 points to cushion the motor and chassis. Full pressure lubrication and an unusually effective cooling system protect the powerful motor of the PONTIAC against overheating. The double drop frame and large springs assure riding comfort. PONTIAC's economy is more than just low first cost. It is economical to operate and maintain. The Newton Buick Company at 371 Washington st., Newton, has been appointed agent in this city for PONTIAC and will gladly demonstrate this outstanding value in the 1933 automobile field.

Newton Kiwanis

Club Listens To

Inspiring Ideas

The meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club of Newton on next Tuesday, January 24, is sure to be of special interest. The honorable John P. Brennan, former state senator and colleague of the late President Coolidge, has been secured as speaker. His subject will be "My Impressions of Coolidge."

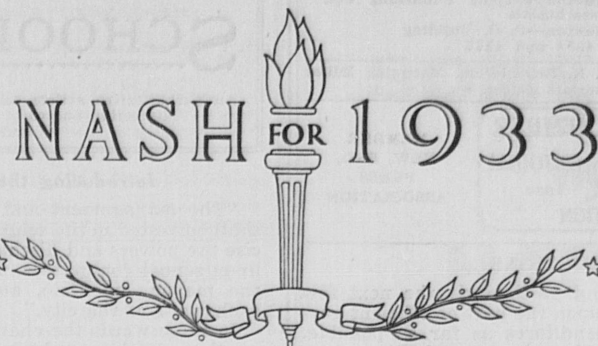

At the meeting of the club held last week a paper by Carl E. Endicott, International President of the organization, was read by Charles A. Mahoney. The following inspiring excerpts from the paper reflect the spirit of service which is the basis of Kiwanian ideals:

"The curtain of December thirty-first closed the show. Another year has taken its proper place in the hectic history of the past. Nineteen thirty-two is just a snapshot in our book of memory."

"Funger and hard times have torn at the vitals of a billion human beings. Tears have streaked the cheeks of children tugging at the skirts of weary and almost hopeless women. White collars have wilted to a sickly yellow that has gone streaming down spines. Business is propped up in bed, nursing a hangover head. Forgotten are our boasts of bigness. Frenzied financiers, finding themselves flat tires on the highway of life, have sought an avenue of escape via ship or shot, leaving behind the wrecked hopes of a trusting humanity in the ditches of despair."

"A New Year... Yes, generations and generations of New Years are ahead. This year is one of hope, one of opportunity, one of greatest possibilities."

"We have just closed the old year with celebration and memory of that time two thousand years ago... Three men journeyed toward a star, with hopes in their hearts of finding a Savior of humanity. They found Him in a lowly manger. Can it be that He is the forgotten man? Is it possible that we forgot Him too often last year; the year before that, and the other years... And that age-old spirit of service is the basis of my message to Kiwanians everywhere on the sunrise of this new year... Our eighteenth anniversary."

MORE PEOPLE SHOULD

BUILD OWN HOMES

Declares John T. Burns, Jr. of Newtonville

In speaking under the joint auspices of the State Department of Education, Extension Division, and the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange before a popular audience in Cambridge on Tuesday afternoon, John T. Burns, Jr., of Newtonville stressed the point that people should take more interest in building their own homes. "Speculative builders are all right," said he. "They can be relied upon in most cases to produce a good house, make a fair profit and sell for less than it would have cost an individual builder. But there are those who can afford to build their own homes, even though the cost be slightly more. This practice gives the lady of the house the chance to have something to say about kitchen conveniences, closets and other interior detail which goes into the make-up of an ideal home. After all, who is better qualified for this job? A house built by an individual for his own home is very apt to be well constructed and to be most livable."

He closed with the statement, "We brokers should try to do all that we can to encourage suburban development, for there is positively no better cure for crime and the assurance of health and happiness than to spread our population out into the fresh air and sunshine."

BUDGET REDUCTIONS

Undoubtedly the year 1933 and particularly the next few months will witness every effort upon the part of efficient governmental bodies to reduce expenditures as far as possible. The results of economic chaos, such as loss or reduction of income, depreciation of real estate, securities and the like, an unequal distribution of taxation in certain fields, the cost of government, a huge increase in relief, welfare and unemployment costs and numerous other questions are parts of the whole problem. Each part has its effect upon every other part and we cannot treat one part without consideration for its effect upon the whole.

There are those who would have us make a drastic reduction in expenditures with particular emphasis upon salaries. There are others who would increase public expenditures and spread the burden over future years. We favor neither of these courses. It is frequently stated that the dollar now buys over 25% more than a few years ago. But that does not mean that we can cut salaries and other expenses by 25%. Neither does it follow that a huge increase in welfare expenditures make it advisable to expend huge sums on relief projects and pass the burden of such cost onto the future. The two propositions do not solve the fundamental problem.

In the so-called years of prosperity lack of attention to expenditures, in many directions, and a raising of the standard of living, resulted in greater demand for public services and conveniences which cannot be abandoned overnight without resulting in greater chaos and further distress. However, there is little question that prosperous times and consequent lack of attention to expenditures, not only by public agencies but by individuals and business firms, carried with them a certain amount of waste. In many instances reduction in income automatically eliminated considerable private extravagance of this nature and gradually is bringing about reductions in governmental costs.

The solution of present difficulties in regard to governmental costs does not lie in drastic measures of reduction but in the goal reached through the making of every conceivable effort toward the retention of standards of living upon as high a level as possible, the elimination of all needless and extravagant expenses, and a just and equitable distribution of the burden of taxation.

We are a nation of independent thinking and acting people. For the most part we have due regard for the rights of others. We cannot believe that the pioneer spirit which laid the foundations of America has disappeared. We do believe that this spirit will help us to surmount our present obstacles and handicaps and safeguard the future, as far as possible, from a repetition of our present major problems.

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity.

Introducing the School Committee

"The management and control of the public schools shall be vested in the school committee, which shall exercise the powers and discharge the duties imposed by law upon school committees. The committee shall consist of the mayor, ex-officio, and seven members, one from each ward of the city."

In these words the charter of the City of Newton sets up the school committee. It is interesting to note that the powers and duties of the school committee are imposed by law. This is consistent of course with the well established American principle that Education is the concern of the State. All school committees are, therefore, "extended arms" of the State, carrying out State mandates with respect to Education. We see, then, that a school department is not a municipal department in the same sense as are the departments of streets, police, fire, etc., subject to the complete direction and control of the executive and legislative branches of the city government. There are just two items related to schools which are not completely in the hands of the School Committee in Newton. Appropriations for expenditures outside of salaries are subject to scrutiny and revision by the mayor and council. The erecting of, maintenance of, and repairs to buildings are responsibilities delegated to the Public Buildings Department. The school committee must, however, be consulted as to the location and plans for all proposed new construction and material alteration of school buildings and must have full opportunity to present in detail all of its requirements.

The school committee is a representative lay body serving without compensation, charged with broad powers and responsibilities to make effective the mandate of the State with respect to universal public education. It is essentially a legislative body.

Introducing the Superintendent of Schools

Executive and administrative powers and duties are delegated to the Superintendent of Schools. The law requires that the school committee must appoint a superintendent. He "shall be the executive officer of the committee, and under its direction, shall have the care and supervision of public schools, shall assist it in keeping its records and accounts and in making such reports as are required by law, and shall recommend to the committee teachers, textbooks, and courses of study." This presentation covers the form or machinery set up for the management and control of the public schools of Newton.

Next week—An interpretation of the spirit of local school management.

Under The Gilded Dome

The oaths of office to Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook, State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, Attorney General Joseph E. Warner and State Auditor Francis X. Hurley were administered on Wednesday noon by Governor Ely. Scores of friends and relatives filled the chamber of the Executive Council. After the officials had been sworn in separately the Governor administered the oaths of office to Mr. Warner's eight assistants.

Gradually the Legislature is swinging into action, with many hearings being assigned daily on the many bills which were introduced before the 5 o'clock closing time last Saturday. More than 1500 bills have been filed to date, a record number, exceeding by nearly a hundred the high mark of last year. With efforts being made to keep the enactment of legislation at a minimum, especially pertaining to bills requiring the expenditure of money, many of the proposals are doomed to fail.

Among the bills which are being considered favorably in committee is a proposal authorizing cities and towns to borrow funds for municipal purposes to an amount represented by their holding in tax titles. The measure does not allow municipalities to use the tax titles as security against such loans but to use them as a measure to the amount of borrowing allowable under the provisions of the act. The loans would be outside of the debt limit of the municipality. The Committee on Municipal Finance has voted to report the bill favorably.

The same committee also voted to extend for 1933 the provisions of the temporary law enacted for 1931 and 1932 authorizing cities and towns to extend for a period not exceeding six months beyond the usual maximum term any loan issued in anticipation of revenue.

Representative Bullock of Waltham appeared before the committee on Metropolitan Affairs on Wednesday to support his petition providing that municipalities in the Metropolitan Parks District be permanently relieved of the expense of maintaining park boulevards. Two years ago a measure was enacted by which these municipalities were relieved from a share of this expense, and the present measure is intended to make the act permanent. Maintenance expenses for these boulevards were divided half by the highway fund and half on the cities and towns in the district. The total cost is approximately $500,000 annually. Abraham Casson, legislative agent for the City of Boston, argued in favor of making the present law permanent, stating that "the time has come when the highway fund should assume the cost of boulevards in the district" and that "the burden can no longer be placed upon municipalities without their consent." Boston made up about half of the assessment paid upon cities and towns of the district.

A petition for the immediate construction of the Point of Pines bridge over the Saugus River between Revere and Lynn was heard before the Metropolitan Affairs Committee on Wednesday. The bridge was authorized at the last session of the Legislature but construction was prevented when it was ruled that only a small amount of the more than $1,000,000 total could be expended in 1932. The petition will enable the Department of Public Works to proceed with its construction. A share of the expense will be borne by Newton as one of the municipalities of the Metropolitan District.

The Committee on Municipal Finance held a hearing on a bill which would take authority over school expenditures out of the hands of the school committee and place it under municipal government. It is similar to the Bates bill of last year. Commissioner of Education Payson Smith among several others opposed the measure.

The Committee on State Administration at its hearings on Wednesday heard the petition of Armand C. Bang of Newton and Gilbert W. Haigh for a department of public medicine and health to conduct the activities of the Departments of Public Health and Mental Diseases and certain activities of the Departments of Public Welfare and Industrial Activities. Mrs. Bang spoke in favor of the bill as neither petitioner was able to attend. The bill is similar to that filed in recent years by Mr. Bang and which has been repeatedly turned down by the committee.

By L. D. G. Bentley

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

The absence this year of the usual number of calendars for free distribution shows that in some quarters at least time is becoming more precious.

It is the part of good manners to be obliging. However, there are times when it is difficult always to be courteous. Should a gentleman admit that? Possibly he should not. The other day there was thrust into my mind an article from a periodical. "Read that, if you want a thrill," said the thoughtful friend who stood over me. I didn't want a thrill, but I couldn't be rude. I read, "Washington watches as Chaco battle rages. Neutrals continue efforts to bring peace in South American boundary. Guns continue to breathe fire like iron dragons. Bomber planes roar overhead, dropping their ballast of death." I got no further. The telephone rang. "You'll excuse me," I hastened, "Leave it and I'll finish it some other time." Since then I have been too busy to read anything but not to think what a blessing is the telephone.

It may be a notion of yours that on Nov. 8 last Massachusetts decided by a majority vote as to the election of President and Vice-President of the United States. That's not the case. They were elected as far as this State goes, when the Massachusetts electoral college recently met in the State House. And a quiet election it was, too. The Secretary of State called the meeting to order and Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston was chosen presiding officer. Then the actual business took place, followed by posing for photographs and the exchange of felicitations. It was all quite legal and very pleasant. Didn't take long, either, except for the photographing which is always a fussy thing when you try to make pictures of a large group, especially indoors.

One Resolution Broken

It's no use. One of the best 1933 resolutions I possessed has gone the way of many other good intentions. It seems, as I look back over the few short weeks, as if there had been some sort of a conspiracy designed to shatter my faith in myself. I hardly feel that I can rightfully accuse any individual. No doubt it was a combination of circumstances. Nevertheless, it has happened and I'm upset to think that such a thing should have occurred before the first month of the New Year had passed.

It was the last Friday in 1932 that the idea occurred to me. Probably that in itself, Friday, I mean, was not so good. The determination was so strong that it probably drove everything else before it. Well, whatever it was, I resolved that my desk should be cleared of all litter for 1933 and thereafter. Nothing should remain to clutter its spotless surface, that is, nothing but the few necessary things that one must keep on his desk in order to transact the business of an ordinary workday. Where I fell down, of course, was in failing to discriminate as to what should remain there and what should not. There had to be the fifty stand, or isn't it more like a trough, in which pencils and fountain pen repose when not in use. That really belonged there. The next was a blotter, for sometimes the ink spreads and needs to be mopped up. With merely these two things the appearance of the desk was neat and business-like.

Then came a friend with a small calendar that revolves—when you revolve it yourself—and reveals the day of the month, the month itself and the year. Compact and efficient. It should remain, of course. A thoughtful friend provided me, the next day, with a very fine leather-bound appointment book. "Keep it on your desk," said he. As he had placed it there himself and would, I felt sure, drop in now and then to see if I had carried out instructions—well, what was there to do? Of course it stayed.

Suddenly I discovered that my pipe was in my pocket. I had always kept it on the top of my desk. No other position was possible. Back it went. My tobacco supply, too, belonged there. Yes, and some matches. Only arrangement possible.

Then there was a play that I was to read. That had to be near at hand in order that I might pick it up at any time. With it were letters about other plays that I was to consult. Then a bundle of newspaper clippings to which I needed to refer. At that some necessary things were missing. Ah, yes, scissors, paper knife and glue. They were indispensable. Back they came.

After that I gave in completely. Other articles just naturally landed there. Something magnetic about my desk. And now, though I blush to say it, something very untidy. Never mind, 1934 is coming.

Old Parlor Games

Someone, I must confess I can't remember the name, has announced that the home has become more popular as a source of recreation in these days of stricter economy. He was somebody of importance or he would not have received the newspaper publicity that was given him. No doubt his name would have remained in my head had there been room there for more than one idea at a time. But when he spoke of the "parlor" becoming more attractive to the children and adults as a place for games and sports I could only ask myself, "Where has the word 'parlor' been for so long?"

Having remembered when the living room of today was the parlor of yesterday I naturally was overcome by a sentimental feeling. I remember parlor games vividly. "Post-office," "Going to Jerusalem," "Clap in, clap out," charades and any number of enjoyable pastimes are brightly shining among my memory treasures. There were a lot of them that called for a display of gallantry on the part of the boy. These caused me so much embarrassment that I prefer not to think of them. Even the command "Choose partners" used to make me giddy. I envied the boy who could boldly seize the prettiest girl in the room. I always wanted to but seldom had the courage. Once or twice I was teased by my playmates and then I became almost daring.

However, let's go back to the games in which chivalry was only a secondary consideration. Sitting around in a circle we would engage in a guessing contest. I never shone, as I remember. Nevertheless, chanting "Now we go round the mulberry bush" was a cinch, for it was so inclusive unless you found yourself the one remaining individual without a chair, the others having been removed, one by one, each time the gathering paused in its circular parade.

It was also embarrassing to be the one sent out of the room and required, when bidden to return, to submit to a quizzing as to what had taken place in one's absence. The details of this have slipped me, but the horrible experience of being the center of a group of hecklers will never leave me.

I hope they may revive "parlor games". On the whole, I think that grown-ups derive as much sport and fun out of these as do the youngsters. Therefore, I unhesitatingly endorse the scheme, both as a money-saving proposition and a social delight. Yet, if you should pin me down as to my selection of what ought to be offered I should say dancing the Virginia reel and trooping into the dining room for ice cream and cake.

School Notes

WARREN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

An Assembly Lecture

Mr. Talbot, from the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, gave a lecture about wild and tame birds and animals. The owls and night hawks, he told us, are in some danger of extermination because of their slowness of thought. Slides about different varieties of rabbits, foxes, bears, and members of the deer family were shown. He told us that man destroyed more trees than all the wild animals combined, and that if it were not for the birds we could not live because of the great amount of insects that would exist.

Basketball

On Thursday Warren's varsity basketball team defeated the Bigelow varsity squad by the score of 19-13 in an exciting game played on the Bigelow court. On the same day Warren's Junior Varsity defeated the Bigelow Junior Varsity 15-13. This also was an exciting game but the size of the boys on Warren's team made up for the speed and wonderful passing attack of their opponents.

WEEKS JUNIOR HIGH

On Wednesday the Aviation Club presented the assembly program. Fred Nichols presided at the model meeting. After the secretary's report was read by Harry Campbell, club members discussed many phases of aviation; such as, the history, outstanding flights, the future of commercial airplanes, and the building of model gliders. Douglas Tilley, William Kirmayer, Herman Krosschell, Arnold Gay, and Royal Taft were the speakers.

The first issue of the Weeks Junior World for this year was distributed to the subscribers on Wednesday. Aside from the regular departments of the paper, a new feature has been introduced in the form of a crossword puzzle. A contest for the best solution has been started among the pupils.

At the last meeting the Bird Club invited the Garden Club to hear its guest, Mrs. George Loveland of Wellesley, speak on bird nests, songs, and feeding stations.

The Garden Club is responsible for the very attractive display in one of the show cases. A cleverly colored depression plant, Japanese dish gardens, artificial flowers, and the brilliant blooms and garden scenes in the note-books make up the exhibit.

F. A. DAY JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Assembly

The assembly on January 18 was an all-student affair.

A notable feature of the program was the music. Marion Shea made a very acceptable first appearance with her violin. Wendell Palmas entertained with his harmonica, Richard Whitney with the xylophone and Carmen Colella with a piano accompaniment. Harry Gough's orchestra gave three numbers with Lloyd Walker playing trumpet, Richard Buck, saxophone, Harry Gough, drums and cymbals and Charles Merendahl, piano. Lena Cola's songs were, "Rocky Mountain Lullaby" and "Somebody Loves You." Eleanor Bergen's tap dance was enjoyed and also Helen Hayden's reading, entitled "Bonjour Ma Belle." Alice Drury accompanied Helen with a piano obligato.

The progressive eighth grade made use of our school radio to furnish music for their class party Friday afternoon. Despite the fact that the ninth grade also were having a class party upstairs in the auditorium, the eighth grade took advantage of the newly-arranged cafeteria and made the best of it. The committee in charge were Elliston Whitmore, Marcella Rennard, Geraldine Wisbach.

The ninth grade party was fittingly more elaborate perhaps. Tom Anderson's orchestra furnished the music.

RECENT EVENTS

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Mrs. D. Earle Brackett, president of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club presiding at the meeting on Friday, January 13th, extended New Year greetings and good wishes to all the members.

She announced, with deep regret, the death of Mrs. Charles L. Anderson, and requested everyone to stand in silent tribute to her memory. Mrs.
William D. Keefe read resolutions to be sent to the family, expressing the Club's profound sympathy for them and a sincere appreciation of the work which Mrs. Anderson did. She served as treasurer of the Club for eight years and worked with keen interest on the Scholarship committee.

Mr. Donald B. Hyde spoke briefly on the "Buy American" campaign, outlining its aims and purposes. He urged everyone to "put America first."
The president then introduced Miss McNitt, vice-chairman of the National Committee for Hard-of-Hearing
Children, and teacher of speech-reading in the Newton schools, who gave a splendid report of the helpful work being done in Newton, and elsewhere, to aid children and adults with defective hearing. Mrs. Elmore Macphie, chairman of the Handicapped committee for the State Federation was also a guest.

The speaker of the afternoon, Dr.
Helen I. McGillicuddy, of the Massachusetts Society for Social Hygiene, held the undivided attention of everyone present as she gave her lecture on "Youth Today and Tomorrow."
Dr. McGillicuddy is a speaker with rare combination of diffidence, charm of personality, and a keen sense of humor, and she has a background of wide experience and study from which to draw. She answered many questions regarding the problems with which parents and young people are faced today.

The Hospitality committee, of which
Mrs. Raymond R. Forte is chairman, served refreshments during the social hour which followed the lecture. Mrs.
G. Howard Frost and Mrs. D. Webster Anders presided at the tea table.

West Newton Junior Educational Club

The January meeting of the West
Newton Junior Women's Educational
Club was held at the West Newton
Library as usual.

Miss Beatrice MacDowell, chairman of the Voluntary Service committee, gave a wonderful report of the work done during the Christmas holidays.
The committee, consisting of the Misses Dorothy Enwright, Doris Ratzburg, and Alberta MacDowell, selected gifts for the children of the Pom-eroys Home of Newton. Needless to say this was a pleasant surprise for the children, as some of them were still treasuring as Sunday-best some silk shirts the Club had given them several years before.

The committee also took under its wing a family consisting of mother, father, and three children, the family being thoroughly outfitted, as well as supplied with a Christmas basket.
The girls declared they didn't object to playing Santa whatsoever, and they didn't know when they had had such a jolly Christmas.

CALL MR. KEEFE AT
COMMONWEALTH 8936

The Club members had the privilege of enjoying an exceptionally fine talk by Miss Georgia L. Ely, from the International Institute in Boston. Miss
Ely described many interesting cases that are brought to them in their dealings with immigrants arriving in Boston.

A theatre party is planned for sometime in February. Due to the depression it was thought wise to make it something in which everyone would be able to participate, therefore the plans are to dine in one of Boston's exclusive restaurants, and afterward to attend the German film "Mae-chen in Uniform."

The February meeting is to be one of the best of the year. There are to be not one, but two guests of honor. Mrs. Charles C. Wilson, District advisor of Junior Membership, and
Mrs. I. William Crowell, State director of Junior Membership. This is also to be Mother's Night, when every girl brings her mother as her guest. For a speaker, the Club is exceptionally fortunate in obtaining
Mr. Sterling Williams, a member of the Faculty of Newton High School.
Mr. Williams spent last summer in touring the Continent, making the major part of his stay in Russia. He will speak on his trip and give a brief

IN THE WHITE BOX UNDER OUR OWN NAME

During these difficult days many parents think it impossible to send their sons to private schools, although these boys need the individual attention to be had only there. They have placed them instead in high schools already crowded. They have made the work of these schools harder than it should be. Individual attention, with such large numbers is out of the question.

There are, fortunately, excellent private schools which have made economies in operation that have not weakened their programs. They stand ready to help parents solve the problem of educating their boys at minimum expense. At this half-way point in the year, one school in particular asks any parents now disturbed about what their boys are doing in their preparation for college to consult it by letter, addressing communications to Box "GRA" Graphic office.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Newtonville Woman's Club

A veritable Arabian Night's scene was the background for the colorful lecture given by Mrs. Katherine Osbourne, before the Newtonville Woman's Club, on Tuesday afternoon, the 17th, at the Club House. Mrs. Osbourne has traveled extensively in the Orient, and recently returned from a tour through the Far East, and, being an authority on fabrics, she weaves into her lecture the fascinating spell of the mysterious arts, manners, and customs which these remote people have woven into their handsome and luxurious materials. The fabrics of intricate design and rare beauty were all the more appealing when the story of their origin and history was also given.

Preceding the lecture, Mrs. Herbert F. Blair presided at a short business meeting, following which the program of the afternoon was opened by the quartette singing "Thou Art the Night Wind," by Harvey Gaul; "Indian Mountain Song," by Charles Cadman; and "I Know a Lovely Garden," by Guy D. Harelott. The quartette, consisting of Mrs. Clinton W. Kyle, Mrs. Theodore Reed, Mrs. William H. Fish, and Mrs. William F. Ferrin, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Scribner, was received with enthusiastic applause by the audience.

The Club was honored with the presence of Mrs. Samuel N. Braham, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, as the guest of honor. This was Mrs. Braham's first visit to the Club since the meetings have been held in the newly-acquired Club House.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

On January 9th, the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club met at the Club Rooms of the Emerson School for an evening of Dramatics. Hemphill, Miss Ethel Sabin, Mrs. Albert Proctor, Mrs. Carl Cederger, and Mrs. Donald Finchbaugh; and "Fidgets," the other play had its setting in a Home for Aged Women, the members taking part therein being Mrs. Albert Proctor, Mrs. Thomas E. Lees, Mrs. Maurice Lacroix, Mrs. Ernest Doyle, Miss Marion Bassett, Mrs. Thomas L. Alkon, Mrs. Michael Wiczorek, Mrs. John Ward, Mrs. Justin Starkie and Mrs. William Dunham.

About Town

By Edw. H. Powers

Boston papers on Monday stated that criticisms had been made regarding the destruction by fire of the Ulrich home on Valentine st., West Newton, last Saturday night because when the firemen first arrived at the scene the water pressure was poor and the first stream directed at the blazing house was quite weak. The first fire truck to arrive at the scene attached a line to a hydrant on Valentine st., near Oakcliff rd. This hydrant is connected with a 6-inch main which runs up grade from Lowell ave. When it was observed that the stream from this hydrant was weak, Engine 2 was connected with the hydrant and pressure from this engine's pump delivered a strong stream. Engines 4, 3, and 1 connected with hydrants higher up on Valentine st. and obtained plenty of water from the 8-inch main which is laid in the street to a point near Bigelow rd. The fire had been raging within the dwelling to such an extent before the flames burst outside the building, that the structure was doomed before the first fire apparatus arrived at the place. It is peculiar that autoists travelling along Valentine st. or Commonwealth ave. did not discover the fire, but it is probable that dense smoke within the house obscured the flames. Newton has been fortunate in its low fire loss during 1932. The total fire loss in this city during that period is estimated at $75,000.

The Newton Board of Health is offering $5 per half-pint for blood. How much will a pound of flesh bring? A lot of folks in this city have a large surplus of the latter which they might be willing to sell at a bargain price.

The death of Rev. Timothy A. Curtin was a big loss not only to the parish which he devotedly served for 15 years, but to the city at large. Quietly, but effectively, he aided in civic and philanthropic movements. Although for several years past his health was precarious, he carried on his duties courageously.

Residents near the several shafts which have been excavated in connection with the large sewer project are naturally bothered by the noise which necessarily accompanies such work. But the contractors, T. Stuart & Sons, are doing everything possible to minimize noise, and in happy contrast to other contractors who have been engaged in public works in this city the past few years, they are keeping the streets in the vicinity of the work free from traffic obstructions. Residents along Tremont st. realize that the noise occasioned by the sewer project is trifling compared with the noise made on that street every day and night by the huge, rattler cars of the Boston Elevated as they rumble over uneven rails.

Much ridicule is being poked at the technocrats. This is natural. Men who propose something radically different from the existing order of things have always been ridiculed. But, right or wrong, the technocrats at least are proposing something. Unlike most of the human jellyfish, they are not merely drifting aimlessly about hoping for something favorable to happen. "Stand-patting" and Pollyanna stuff haven't overcome the depression, now in its fourth harrowing year. And happy days won't return again until sufficient changes in our economic, social and political life will have been made to meet those other changes which have occurred in human progress. President-Elect Roosevelt, in his address at the dinner tendered to President Lowell of Harvard at the Harvard Club in New York on Wednesday night, asserted that such changes are necessary. Let us hope that he will receive the cooperation of the American people in making them, to the end that prosperity will be restored as speedily as possible in this nation.

The many friends of Rev. William Farrell, formerly of West Newton, will regret to learn that he has been critically ill at the rectory in Groton.

Five cruises to the West Indies will sail from Boston on January 27, February 9 and 23, March 9 and 23. These cruises will be conducted by the Cunard Line on the palatial steamship FRANKONIA. They will take 9 days and will allow a day at Nassau, Bahamas, 2 days and 3 nights at Havana. The cost is only $102.50 and up, according to stateroom. First class accommodations throughout. Reservations may be made at Newton Steamship Agency, Postoffice Building, 11 Centre ave., Newton. Phone Newton North 4501.

GEORGE FULLER ADDRESSES NEWTON STAMP CLUB

Mr. George Fuller of Newton spoke to the members of the Stamp Club at their meeting on January 12. He spoke on collecting stamps and brought with him a collection started by his father in 1815. He also showed some books of his own which he has collected previously.

Government Expenditures Must Balance With Income If Disaster Is To Be Averted

Carl P. Dennett Makes Strong Plea For Governmental Economy Before Claflin Club

"The tax situation in the United States has now reached a crisis which demands immediate attention from the people if disaster is to be averted," declared Carl P. Dennett, of Boston, Massachusetts, Chairman of the National Economy League, in speaking before the Claflin Club of the Newtonville Methodist Church on Friday evening. He further declared that with falling government incomes the only possibility of averting collapse of credit and a general liquidation is a drastic cut in governmental expenditures, national, state and local. Starting with a quotation from a statement by the Advisory Council of the National Economy League, which includes Alfred E. Smith, Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker and General Pershing, he spoke in part as follows:

"In two decades we have seen the cost of government rise from about 3 billions to about 14 billions. This was too much when taxes were moderately easy to pay. It is a crushing burden under present business conditions. It takes nearly one-third of the national income. The work of all our people for 100 days each year is required to pay the cost of government. This paralyzes business, depresses industry, throws millions out of employment and spreads poverty, want and distress throughout the country."

The necessary functions of government must not be neglected; we must have order, health, justice, defense and education. Obligations to veterans suffering from the result of military service and their dependents must be discharged, but we can waste no money and tolerate no extravagance. The cost of all government, national, state and local must be reduced without fear of favoritism to conform to the ability of the people to pay.

There are only four places from which all income is derived and to which all taxes must trace back. They are the things taken from the earth, the air, the sea and the animal industry, plus the labor involved in their production. The claim has been made that existing wealth can be taxed, but, unless wealth produces income, such taxation is confiscation, and this finally destroys the source of taxation. Any tax is passed all the way back along the line until it rests upon the cost of things and Mr. Average Citizen ultimately pays the bill.

From 1913 to 1929 the cost of government increased over 400%, and the per capita debt increased 255%. In 1913 the total cost of government was $2,919,000,000. It is now about 14 billions annually. City and town expenditures have gone up 286%, state 420%, and Federal 468%. Analysis shows that this increase is not due mainly to the war. Up to 1929 by heavy taxation the Federal government had reduced its debt by nearly seven billions, but during this time states and municipalities had increased their debts by over 10 billions of dollars.

The principal source of income of the Federal government has been income taxes, which have dropped to 53% of their 1929 level. At that time income taxes bore 60% of the cost of the Federal government. They have now dropped to 22%. The Massachusetts income tax produced 32 millions in 1930, 17 millions in 1932 and is estimated at 12 millions for 1933. Tax Commissioner Long has stated that if income continued to decline in Massachusetts local government would break down.

In recent years legislation has been passed which grants benefits to veterans for matters having no connection to military service. In 1932, 55% of those receiving compensation had not become incapacitated in war service. Furthermore, the United States Government is engaged in more than 200 lines of competitive industry, from making rat poison to the building of ships. Mr. Dennett declared that the Economy League asks only that compensation to veterans which is an unjust burden on the people be removed. He also declared that the Federal government should get out of unnecessary competition with private business.

The speaker maintained that the facts and figures carefully assembled by the National Economy League, which has included all units of government in the United States, clearly show that a real danger exists. Should there be a failure on the part of federal, state or local government to meet either principal or interest on their bonds, there will be a general collapse which will carry with it the banks and insurance companies which own them. He closed with the following quotation from a statement adopted at a meeting of New England state tax officials:

"We are firm in the belief that only through an intelligently directed educational campaign as to capacity to pay and the essential needs of government, can the situation threatening in many municipalities be averted."

ELECTROCUTED AT WATER RESERVATION

Fred Snow, 40, of Whitman st., Somerville, was electrocuted on Wednesday afternoon at the reservation of the Newton Water Department on the Needham side of the Charles River near the pumping station. He was one of a crew of men employed by the George W. Ellis Company which is installing a power line to supply current for the pumps at the reservation. Snow was one of six men pulling a cable along the ground when a high-power wire on a nearby pole snapped and fell across the cable. Snow, at the end of the cable, received the full force of the charge from the wire and was electrocuted. The other five men received shocks and burns on their hands. The Newton police ambulance hastened to the scene and Patrolmen Cody, Hartford and Mullen worked over Snow for an hour in a vain effort to resuscitate him.

SENT THREATS TO CHESTNUT HILL PEOPLE

James McClarey, 34, who claims Chicago as his home address, was arrested Tuesday night at Chestnut Hill by Patrolman Phillips. McClarey had earlier that night been chased by Patrolman McCormick, who fired several shots at the man when he found him prowling about the estate of Mrs. Harriet Hammond on Essex rd. The telephone wires outside the house had been cut. McClarey had formerly been employed as a gardener at this estate and other estates at Chestnut Hill. He is charged with having been the writer of hundreds of threatening letters sent to residents of that section. These letters were sent, allegedly because the recipients did not give the writer work. Dr. Lowe, city physician, told Judge Bacon that McClarey has the mentality of an 8 year old boy. The man was sentenced to the State Farm at Bridgewater.

Kiwanians Hear Talk on Coolidge

John P. Brennan Gives Impressions of Late President

"My Impressions of Calvin Coolidge" was the subject of an inspiring address by the honorable John P. Brennan given at the Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday, January 24 at the Charles River Country Club.

Mr. Brennan said in part: "I did not realize nineteen years ago that as I was listening to the opening address of the President of the Massachusetts Senate, a future President of the United States was addressing us. As a presiding officer he exemplified his own words, spoken at the opening session, 'Be brief.' His fairness was so marked that during the winter his democratic colleagues for the first time in the history of the Senate, gave a dinner to their Republican presiding officer."

"He served the apprenticeship and then became Governor in his own right. In passing it may be said that it was not generally known that few men serving as Governor had the grasp on affairs that Coolidge did. His knowledge of legislation and its various steps of progress was uncanny. The result was an administration measuring up to the best in the history of the Commonwealth. And he never lost sight of the toiler. Few men who had served in the House or Senate had a labor record as good as Calvin Coolidge—either on the Democratic or Republican side."

"Before leaving Massachusetts for Washington and the Vice-Presidency, he made a characteristic gesture. One of the members of that old 1914 Senate was slowly dying of an incurable disease in a little place he had outside of Boston. The Vice-President-elect evaded the secret service man and paid this old Democratic War Horse a visit. It only came when Coolidge told the secret service man detailed to guard him that he had only visited an old friend whom, he said, he might not have a chance to see again for a little while."

"Many interesting things happened when I was in the Senate. One of Coolidge stepped alongside of me as I was going into the Senate Chamber. He said, 'Haven't made a speech yet.' I said, 'No.' He said, 'They tell me you are a great talker.' I said, 'Well, Mr. President, I'm following a good old-fashioned New England way of keeping my mouth shut.' Well said he, 'that's a pretty good way to keep out of trouble. Can't hang you for what you don't say.'"

"His witty statements, terse language, homely illustrations all made a great hit with the city members. To hear him remark of some fellow who had been using poor judgment, 'Let him alone, let him stew on his own grease,' told more graphically than a full paragraph that the erring one must work out his own salvation and pay for his own mistakes. "His was no circus parade career. No brass band preceded his entrances and exits. No press agenting of the well known high power type accompanied his career. Topsy-like, he just grew right into the heart of America by his very difference."

"He served the President quietly, austere, almost as an ascetic. During the most brazen, flamboyant period of American history, a real representative of those very standards of living which the people of his time utterly disregarded. "He believed in thrift in an age of wild extravagance; for prudence, an age of wild debauch. He stood for caution in a period of gross recklessness."

"It seemed ironic that this modern puritan Coolidge, ruled in a period of Babylonian extravagance, yet the message he constantly wrote on the walls of his time, ignored though they were, did not diminish his hold upon the fancy of America. They felt Calvin Coolidge was right—yet few realized, though the great majority admired his example."

"He was the same in Washington as he was in Boston. Once I happened to remark, 'You look well, Governor. You're getting fat.' The characteristic Coolidge came back was there, terse and epigrammatic. 'It's all right, John, so long as I do not get fat in the head.'"

"He was always doing nice things for children and this was particularly true after little Cal went. He was so simply honest, the average man meeting the circumlocutions of life could not understand him and it was this simplicity which appealed so strongly to the man on the street. It

Mayor Orders Dump on River Bank Closed

Council for Defense Argued City Lacked Authority

William H. Carpenter of 117 Wallace st., in the Charlemont section at Newton Highlands, was in the Newton court on Monday charged with transporting rubbish through the streets of this city without a permit. The complainant against Carpenter was Inspector Irving House of the Newton Health Department. House testified that he had warned Carpenter not to continue carting the rubbish over Newton's streets and his orders had been disregarded. Patrolman Joseph Smith testified that Carpenter had carted rubbish from Brookline to dump it on land owned by him at the end of Wallace st. Carpenter's attorney contended that the City of Newton has no right, under the law, to prohibit the transportation of rubbish. Judge Bacon continued the case to Jan. 30 to examine the statutes.

For some time Carpenter had been carting rubbish to the dump at the end of Wallace st., a narrow accepted way, which leads from Winchester st. to the Charles River. This dump has been encroaching into the river, and what was formerly an attractive stretch of river has become despoiled by this dump with its collection of ashes, paper, broken glass, large metal receptacles and the usual collection of rubbish which makes the ordinary dump an eyesore. Not only is this dump objectionable from an aesthetic viewpoint, but it extends into the river opposite the land in which is located the conduit supplying the water for residents of Newton. For many months the Newton Water Department has been complaining of the dump. A short distance above the dump on the river is the intake for the new filtration basins which the city had constructed last year at an expense of many thousands of dollars. Poles are now being erected for the wires which will supply power to the pumps which are to draw water from the river for these filtration basins. The dump may become a serious source of pollution to Newton's water supply. Because of the united protests of the Water, Health and Street Departments of Newton against this dump, Mayor Weeks has ordered action to prevent further carting of rubbish to this place either by Carpenter or anyone else.

CHARGED WITH DRUNKEN DRIVING

Jesse Tyler of Wellesley was arrested Wednesday night by Patrolman Fisher of the Newton Police Department while driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried on February 3. In the Newton court yesterday fines of $5 for speeding were imposed on David Garrison, Sterling street, West Newton; Louis Provost, Dorchester; Alex Yaffe, Mattapan; Robert Fisher, 70 Chestnut st., West Newton; Hilda Hinkley, Framingham; Howard Higgins, 36 Brooks ave., Newtonville; and Edward Murphy of Framingham were fined $5 for not slowing down at street intersections.

CHESTNUT HILL IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY

A meeting of the Chestnut Hill Improvement Society was held on Tuesday night at the Philomathean Club, 80 Commonwealth ave. About 100 were present. The meeting was presided over by William E. Soule, president of the Society. Mayor Weeks addressed the gathering on the subject of Newton's finances, and Speaker Lovett Saltunall spoke on the matter of the State's finances, particularly as they relate to assessments of cities and towns. Both speakers stressed the need of lower taxes.

An entertainment was given by Emmet O'Brien of Hyde Park; Edward J. Devaney of Dorchester; Miss Shirley Hurwitz, accomplished juvenile singer and elocutionist. Bernard L. Gorkinkle, treasurer of the society, told of its activities. A collation was served.

was Ben Franklin at the Court of Justice, in which wig, in that most artificial of atmospheres intriguing all by just being himself. "No meteor blazing across the heavens in flaming glory was Calvin Coolidge; rather the fixed star, shining always with a steady glow. His was no vision of a life he was the typical New Englander, sincere, honest, painstaking, not differing markedly from his fellows. He always had ideals and he lived up to them. He was intensely American and sincerely devout. His own creed, set forth in his own words, 'Do the work' and Calvin Coolidge did just that to the end."

Spreading Work Most Important

Roger Prescott Declares Before Newton Rotary Club

"The most important problem facing industry is spreading work among more workers," according to Roger Prescott, past president of the Boston Rotary Club, and assistant treasurer of S. S. Pierce Co., when he spoke to Newton Rotary Club on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club. Unemployment is not a result entirely of the present economic depression, but a condition that will be with us in more prosperous times due to a highly perfected machine development combined with improved operation; completion of an expansion era, wherein the railroad, auto, radio, and road building have had unusual development.

Stability might be brought about by giving every man a feeling of job security. Mr. Prescott proposed several plans for reducing unemployment. He said we might have less efficient methods by limiting the use of our highly developed machines invented as labor saving devices. This could only be temporary because inventive progress cannot be curtailed or throttled in a highly developed civilization. His next proposal was the creation of more jobs which are directly related to production and consumption and highly impractical at present. The next plan "stretching work out over more people" was highly favored. This could be easily brought about with very little reorganization of our industrial forces, in the judgment of the speaker. Shops would not be closed; more machines and shop space would not be needed; the cost of employing additional employees could be borne by present employees; production, a source of our present difficulty, would not be increased; experience in a plan of spreading the work has been successful in a number of industries where it has had a fair trial, as the steel industry, milk dispensing and in department stores. The "Flexible Week" is idealistic and high in motive. It can be carried through with businesslike precision and it is thoroughly sportsmanlike, making life better and easier for others. Mr. Prescott's audience was highly appreciative of his plan which was clearly and thoughtfully developed.

Teachers Protest Dec. Salary Cut

A regular meeting of the School Committee was held on Monday night. Several requests for use of school buildings were considered. A group of West Newton residents asked for the use of a room at the Davis School on Wednesday and Friday afternoons to permit a private teacher to give instruction in music to children of the petitioners. The School Committee promptly turned down this petition. A petition from the band of Newton Post, American Legion to hold rehearsals at the Warren Junior High School four nights each month, was laid on the table. So was a petition from the Elsie Janis Drum Corps, which also asked for the use of this school for rehearsals on four nights each month.

A delegation was at the meeting representing the various organizations comprised of teachers in the Newton public schools. They protested against the amounts deducted on their salary checks this month on the basis of the 7 1/2% cut. The teachers contended that while they have been paid for 10 months work each year, their payments have been made in twelve installments. For example, a teacher receiving $1800 per annum has a salary of $180 per month, but her monthly pay check before the cut was $150 on the twelve payment practice. This was the first four months of the school year—September, October, November and December, the salary due this teacher would have been $480, but only $400 would have been received; $80 of the salary would still be due. Because of this, with the 7 1/2% cut deducted on the twelve payment basis, the teachers claim that the deduction really amounted to 8%. The School Committee agreed with the teachers and steps will be taken to have the teachers paid the balance due them for 1932.

Route Two Is Selected By Commission For Hammond Pond Pkwy.

Awarding of Contract for the More Expensive Route Marks Another Step in Prolonged Controversy

On Thursday, January 19th, the Metropolitan District Commission awarded to the M. McDonough Company of Saugus the contract for building the section of parkway which will run from the Brookline line at Boylston st. across Hammond Woods to Beacon st., Newton Centre. The parkway will be constructed over the so-called Route 2, the longer and more expensive route between the two points mentioned. This action on the part of the Metropolitan District Commission marks another phase in the bitter controversy which started in the Spring of 1932 when a group of Chestnut Hill residents petitioned Mayor Weeks to seek legislation which would amend Chapter 358, Acts of 1929. This Chapter authorized the construction of the parkway from Boylston st., Brookline through Hammond's Woods skirting the pond at its southwesterly shore to a point about 600 feet north, thence through land formerly owned by Edwin S. Webster and others to Beacon st., about opposite Hobart rd. Money had been appropriated by the Legislature for the construction of this section of parkway and work was about to start on it last Spring when the petition was presented to Mayor Weeks. Active in the presenting of this petition were Dr. Augustus Thordike who resides at 517 Hammond st., on the Lowell estate.

Mayor Weeks called a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen which was held on the night of May 9, 1932, to take action on this petition. The Aldermen met informally in the large committee room at the old city hall and held a conference which was also participated in by City Solicitor Bartlett, City Engineer Morse, Otis D. Fellows, Jr., planning engineer of the Metropolitan Planning Division of the Commonwealth, and the Planning Board of the City of Newton. President Collins of the Aldermen stated that the meeting was open to the public and representatives of the press were present. City Solicitor Bartlett explained that the petitioners desired the parkway be kept away from Hammond Pond and that Mayor Weeks desired the Aldermen to petition for legislation which would authorize the Metropolitan District Commission to advertise for bids on an alternate route (designated as Route 2) which would carry the parkway about 500 feet south of Hammond Pond, but which would have it emerge on Beacon st. near Hobart rd., as originally planned. This latter specification had been inserted, too, after Alderman Pratt had strongly objected to a proposal that the parkway should emerge on Glen ave. The Mayor also asked that the Aldermen petition the Legislature to authorize the expenditure of any balance of the $415,000 appropriated for the parkway for the widening of Glen ave. and Willow st., Newton Centre, as the connecting link of the parkway route between Beacon and Centre sts.; with the proviso that this connecting link be routed along Hobart rd., should this way be deemed preferable. Mr. Bartlett explained that City Engineer Morse, Assistant Engineer Leonard and himself had planned the route to follow Glen ave., but this proposal had been turned down by the Metropolitan District Commission.

Alderman Holden informed the gathering that he had attended meetings held shortly before by the Metropolitan District Commission on the petition of the Chestnut Hill group on the proposed alternate route, and that during the previous week he had walked over this route (Route 2) with Chairman Keniston of the Metropolitan District Commission and others, and it was found that an 8% grade and sharp curves would be necessary on this route; therefore the Metropolitan District Commission would not agree to this route. President Collins of the Aldermen, asked the members of the Newton Planning Board to state their views. Albert M. Lyon, Chairman of the Board, said he had been informed both by the Metropolitan District Commission and City Engineer Morse that the route originally selected is preferable because it would be shorter, have better grades and be less expensive to build. In reply to a question from Mr. Collins, asking if he regarded Route 1 (the original route) as objectionable, Mr. Lyon said—"Not from a public point of view. The time has passed when private citizens can monopolize a large area of public owned land for private benefit. There is no good reason for making the change."

Engineer Fellows, Alderman Pratt, City Engineer Morse and Herbert Kellaway of the Planning Board also opposed the change petitioned for and the Newton Planning Board went on record as being opposed. The Board of Aldermen voted unanimously that no action was necessary on the petition. It was believed by some members of the Aldermen that Mayor Weeks really was not in favor of the petition, and that he was passing the buck. But, the Aldermen speedily learned that the Mayor was sincere. Some of them had talks with the Mayor during the next few days. The following Monday night, May 16, 1932, previous to the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen, the members of the Board had a conference with Judge James Lowell of Chestnut Hill and Joseph Lee of Boston, and Mayor Weeks. At the Board meeting, a motion was made by Alderman Gordon and seconded by Alderman Floyd to reconsider the vote passed unanimously at the special meeting held one week previous. Alderman Pratt and Temperley opposed the motion, but the Board voted to reconsider, and then voted to petition for the Legislation asked for by the Mayor. The only votes in the negative were those of Alderman Pratt, Temperley and Charles Alderman.

Hearings on the petition were held on May 19 before the Committee on Rules at the State House; on May 23rd before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and on June 3rd before the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate. On June 23rd a hearing was held before the Metropolitan District Commission. At these hearings the requested Legislation was favored by City Solicitor Bartlett, Dr. Thordike, Joseph Lee and others. It was opposed by members of the Newton Planning Board and residents of Newton Centre; some of the latter fearing that Route 2 would be the opening wedge for the use of Willow st. as a continuation of the parkway traffic route, and the evolving of Hobart st. into a thoroughfare for heavy traffic. The Chestnut Hill residents who wanted Route 2 stated they would not favor it should it cost much more than Route 1. Mayor Weeks stated that he would not favor Route 2 if it cost more than $15,000 more than Route 1.

When the bids were received on the two routes, those of the McDonough Company were the lowest. McDonough's bid for Route 2 was over $22,000 more than his bid for Route 1. Engineering costs will add to this difference.

NEWTON TRIMS METHUEN ON TRACK WITHOUT VETERANS

Last week Friday afternoon in a practice meet on the Newton track the Newton high school track team defeated Methuen High, 47-23 to 15-13. Due to the fact that the visitors have far less material available than the local school Coach Don Enoch did not permit his lettermen from last year's team to participate.

Newton won all but two first places in the eight events with Taylor of Methuen capturing the 300-yard run and Arthur Horne of Methuen winning the 1000-yard run. This race was the best of the day with Hugh Owens of Newton, the favorite, falling at about the halfway mark but getting up to make a gallant effort to win. Horne broke the tape about 15 yards in front of the Newton runner. Johnson of Newton placed third.

In the dash Quigley, first and Feola, third were Newton's point-winners. Taylor took second for the visitors and later came back to win the 300-yard run over McLellan and Macina, second and third for Newton. Fitzgerald, Connelly, and Smith swept the 600 in that order to give Newton nine points in that event. Myrick, Ford and Francis, cleaned up all the points for Newton in the broad jump with Myrick's leap of 8 ft. 9 in. the best effort.

Rich of Newton won the shotput with a toss of 38 ft. 9 in. Francis of Newton placed second and Jozokos of Methuen third. Allen of Newton won the high jump at 5 ft. 1 1/2 in. with Capon and S. Sloane of Newton tying with Karlokes of Methuen for second.

Quigley, Feola, Miller and Francis captured the relay for the orange and black to add five points to the total.

Newton in N. U. Meet

Coach Enoch has entered twenty-one contestants in the Northeastern University interscholastic meet to be staged tomorrow on the Huskies track in the Boston Y. Twenty-four schools have entered the competition which finds Everett High the defending champion. Newton and Medford have each won this meet twice in former years. Winners will receive gold, silver, and bronze medals for the first three places and a team trophy of silver with a runner on the cap, mounted on an ebony base, has been offered replacing the silk banner of former meets.

Everett is considered a strong contender as are Brookline, Malden, Medford and Lawrence. While Newton is not figured as a likely winner it is possible that some of the orange and black runners will come through with sufficient points for a surprise victory. Captain Doug Sloane, State indoor and outdoor Class A champion is a possible winner in a strong field which includes Ado Committo of Everett, State Class B sprint champion, as well as Ellsworth Roberts of Lawrence who defeated Sloane in a dual meet a few weeks ago as Sloane was recovering from an attack of grippe. Hugh Owens of Newton is a dark horse in the 1000. He has been turning in some creditable times but has not yet been able to show what he can do in stiff competition. Against Kazzyk of Medford and Main of Malden he will have an opportunity to show what he can do. Although Bill Cusumano is listed as an entry he will not compete as he is still forced to use crutches because of the sprained ankle he received in high jump practice a few days before the Lawrence meet. The Newton entries are as follows:

Dash—D. Sloane, York, Quigley, Francis.

Hurdles—MacLellan, York, Cusumano.

300—Cusumano, MacLellan, Sloane, Wilkes.

600—Connelly, Fitzgerald, Smith.

1000—Owens, Fitzgerald, Johnson.

Shotput—Kinraide, Rich, Kevorkian, MacNutt.

Highjump—Caton, S. Sloane, Allen, Beckwith.

Relay—D. Sloane, MacLellan, Cusumano, York, Quigley, Miller, Francis, Wilkes.

Newton will meet Medford in the final relay event of the afternoon's program. The race may well determine the winner of the meet. Newton drew several favorable places in drawings for the various events. In the 300-yard run Newton drew the third position in the second heat against runners from Milton, Middleboro and Somerville. In the 600-yard run Joe Connelly or Tom Fitzgerald will start fourth in the post in the third heat against runners from Mechanics Arts, Arlington, Brookline, Malden and Methuen. In the 1000 Hugh Owens drew the second position in the second heat. Billy Mann of Malden, an outstanding performer at this distance, will give Owens the greatest competition of anyone in this heat.

Wednesday afternoon Newton and Rindge met on the Newton floor with the invading team favored to win. In a hair-raising struggle the Newton quintet upset the predictions and came through with a last minute rally to win 32 to 29.

The game was close all the way with Rindge leading 11 to 6 at the end of the first quarter, an 11-all score at the half and a Rindge lead of 21 to 17 at the end of the third period. With a few minutes left to play in the third period Newton was leading 17 to 15 but three Rindge baskets put them out in front again. Rindge applied more pressure early in the final period and seemed assured of victory with a 26 to 18 margin. Newton came fast and with Huston teaming up in spectacular fashion with Flag and Frazier the Garden City quintet soon made it anybody's game. A foul toss put Newton a point in front but another brought Rindge up on even terms and a Rindge goal from the floor gave them a two-point margin. Huston tallied to make it 29 all as time was rapidly expiring. Eddie Grethe then shot a foul and on the tapoff Huston sent the ball to Frazier who evaded Bryington as the latter tried to block the shot and sent the ball through for the points that clinched the game.

CANTABS SUFFER FIRST SETBACK

Newton high's rapidly developing hockey team handed the Cambridge High and Latin sextet its first league defeat last Saturday at the Boston Garden. Capt. Charley Houghton and Warren Huston were the principal figures in the 4-2 Newton victory. The victory gave Newton undisputed possession of fifth place but failed to advance them in the standing as Belmont, Melrose and Medford, also won their games over Rindge, Arlington, and Stoneham by respective scores of 4-0, 2-0 and 3-2. Newton, however, is but one point behind Medford and Cambridge which are tied for third place while Belmont continues in the lead and Melrose in second place.

Due to the K. C. track meet to be held at the Garden tomorrow night the schoolboy hockey games will be staged tonight with Belmont meeting Arlington and Rindge facing Stoneham in the first set of games at 7 o'clock and Melrose and Cambridge Latin and Newton and Medford taking the ice a couple of hours later. A win for Newton over Medford will put the orange and black ahead of the Medford clan and also the Cantabs should Melrose take the latter.

A Cantab victory and a Newton victory would put Melrose and Newton in a tie for third with Cambridge and Belmont above. Belmont is favored to win over Arlington and a surprise defeat would still leave Captain Ford and his mates out in front. In this instance a Melrose victory over the Cantabs would bring about a first place tie between Belmont and Melrose. Meanwhile Rindge and Stoneham will be battling for the cellar berth, now occupied by Rindge, but a Rindge victory pulling Stoneham down to last place tie.

Arlington is expected to be a loser. Rindge victory over Stoneham will bring about a triple tie.

Newton showed some excellent teamwork in trimming the Cantabs and the return of John Hennessey to the net bolstered up the Newton defense considerably. For half of the game the Cantabs had the better of the play between the blue lines with the defense players of both sextets managing to break up most every threatening attack. With ten minutes of the period gone Houghton swept down the ice from back of his own blue line and with a mate on either side made a break for the goal.

Swinging around the defenders he drove a high lift from about fifteen feet out into the right corner of the net to lick Goalle Puzyn for the first tally of the game.

The second session saw spirited action by both outfits with Goalle Hennessey and Puzyn making spectacular saves. Huston was in close on Puzyn several times but failed to get the rubber into the net while Hennessey turned one of Desrosiers' shots aside by an eyelash.

The third period saw the orange and black stepping out in front with a commanding lead.

Brynes came down together earlier in the session but Huston missed the pass. A few minutes later Huston, with Newton a man shy, poke-checked the disc away from Desrosiers at the Newton blue line and was off on a solo. He evaded the Cantab defense neatly and bore down on Puzyn to beat him with a wicked drive.

That was at 6:10 of the third session. Less than a minute later Houghton and Huston teamed up together with Houghton feeding his teammate a perfect pass eight feet in front of the net and Huston slapping it in for the third tally. Four seconds later Houghton took the disc at the face-off and with Brynes duplicated his previous assist and Brynes had little difficulty in scoring. With two minutes to play Allt saved Cambridge from a shut-out by getting in close to beat Hennessey after receiving a scrimmage pass from Rooney.

The last period saw the orange and black leading 5 to 1. Four seconds later Houghton took the disc at the face-off and with Brynes duplicated his previous assist and Brynes had little difficulty in scoring. With two minutes to play Allt saved Cambridge from a shut-out by getting in close to beat Hennessey after receiving a scrimmage pass from Rooney.

Commr. Smith Pleads For School Program

Says School Work Should Continue As Example

In addressing the Newton Centre School Association recently, Payson Smith, State Commissioner of Education, declared that educational work in Massachusetts, which ranks high in that of the country, should be continued at its high level as an example to other states.

Answering the criticism of the amount of money now expended on education, as compared with twenty years ago, all of the subjects called for and frills, said he, have been introduced into the curriculum in response to public demand. When it comes to a matter of elimination, each has so many champions that it is well nigh impossible to know where to start.

He went on to state that the schools have a larger enrollment this year than ever before because of conditions. Usually 50,000 young people leave school and go to work each year. This year only 21,000 have so far been placed in industry.

The evening was known as "Fathers' Night." Mrs. Ballou presided and Miss Gertrude Welch and Mrs. Elizabeth Manness gave several musical selections.

Ray Adams, are to represent the Post at the meetings of the Veterans Council of Newton in the future, the Post having recently joined the organization, which is comprised of all veteran units in the city, having as its chairman Julius Ramm, Past Commander of Newton Post 48, A. L.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT COUNCIL

The Temperance Education Institute, held last Sunday afternoon at the Eliot Church under the auspices of the Council was well attended. Dr. Richard M. Vaughan gave a talk on "The Liquor Problem in the Light of Modern Knowledge," stressing the fact that authoritative experiments have reversed some of the old ideas about alcohol and its use. Alcohol has been proved to be a narcotic and depressant rather than a stimulant or a food. He showed how the first effects of drinking tend to deaden the capacity for self criticism and the sense of responsibility, thereby breaking down the finer inhibitions and ideals built up through the ages of education in the human race. This harmful effect comes through the use of alcohol even in small quantities. Micrographed copies of parts of Dr. Vaughan's address are to be prepared for distribution.

Another feature of the Institute was "The Chemical Shop" demonstration by Miss Lulliana Barker, materials supplied by Mr. Wilfred Chagnon, of Hubbard's Drug Store. One feature of the departmental conference was the interesting "test" given by Mr. Everett R. Johnson, planned for the purpose of finding out exactly what people really know about alcohol and its effects. Anyone desiring to secure a copy of this "test" may do so by telephoning the Middlesex.

The District Board of Education and Executive Committee will hold a joint meeting on Tuesday, January 31, at the home of Mrs. Edward O. Woodward, on Otis st., Newtonville.

NEW JERSEY POLICE DON'T WANT ALLEGED AUTO THIEVES

The taxpayers of Newton and Middlesex County have for several weeks been boarding two young men from New Jersey. About three weeks ago the Newton police received a message from Mrs. Elizabeth Force of Orange, New Jersey asking them to be on the lookout for William Bennett of Arlington, New Jersey who she accused of having taken a wrecking truck owned by her. Bennett and George Wiedman of the same town were arrested by the Newton police in a rooming house on Centre st., Newton and the police of Hackensack County, New Jersey, notified to come and get the prisoners. But the Hackensack police couldn't see why they should go to the expense of traveling to Newton, and the two young men continued as guests at the Middlesex County Jail at Cambridge. They were arraigned on Monday morning and held in lieu of $1000 each for the Grand Jury.

Mrs. Force, the complainant, told the judge that she had loaned her truck to a man named Ted Little, but had not given permission to have it driven out of New Jersey. The two young prisoners testified that Little had hired them to drive the truck here and they were unaware that it was Mrs. Force's property. And so, the peculiar situation exists of Newton and Middlesex County not only having boarded two alleged auto purloiners who are giving no concern to the police of the State where the alleged crime occurred, but if they are found guilty, local taxpayers will continue to board these men in case they receive a jail sentence.

POLICE NEWS

A number of autolists were fined in the Newton court on Friday for various offences. For not slowing down at street intersections fines of $5 each were imposed on Gabriel Arduno, 712 Boylston street, Newton Highlands; Emerson Haines, Milford; Georgina Welling, 74 Chestnut street, West Newton; Thomas Bonica, Waltham; Dean Handy, Washington Park, Newtonville. Samuel Overbeck of Dorchester was fined $10 for speeding, $10 for not having his license in his possession, $5 for driving on the wrong side of the street. In court on Saturday Arthur Curran of 36 Frederick street, Newtonville was fined $5 for not slowing his car's speed while passing a street intersection; Michael Vara of Boston was fined $5 for speeding.

Joseph Nolan, superintendent of the Newton Centre Postoffice, reported to the Newton police on Friday that a Colt revolver had been stolen from that office on the night of December 21. It was the property of the Post-office Department.

Last Friday morning reports were received by the Newton police of two thefts of accessories from automobiles. Both were committed the preceding night in the same neighborhood in Newtonville. Thomas Regan of 594 Washington st. complained that four tires and four hub caps had been taken from his car while it was parked all night on Highland ave., near Walnut st. Herbert Ulme of Leonard ave. reported that a spotlight had been stolen from his car while it was parked on Lowell ave., opposite St. John's Church.

Evelyn Bessey, 18, was in the Newton court on Tuesday charged with the larceny of 85 cents from the home of Irving Townsend, 118 Neholiden rd., Waban, where she had been employed. The girl was also charged with having stolen a diamond ring valued at $100. The ring was later found in a New Bedford pawnshop where she had pawned it. The girl was given a suspended sentence to the Sherborn Reformatory and was placed on probation. She collapsed when the sentence was imposed.

Gerald Unlacke of 284 Langley rd., Newton Centre, was fined $100 in the Newton court last Friday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. He was also fined $10 for drunkenness. He appealed. On December 16 a car driven by Unlacke collided with a car driven by Henry B. Richmond of Monadnock rd., Newton Centre. Richmond testified that he smelled liquor from the defendant's breath. Patrolman Murphy, who arrested the defendant, testified that the latter staggered.

Bigelow Junior H. S. Ask Zoning Changes

The first round of the interclass basketball league has been played off. There are four teams in each grade, making it possible for every boy in the school to play a game once a week in the afternoon. Bigelow's First and Second Teams were victorious in the contests against the Weeks last Thursday at Newton Centre.

The scores were: Bigelow 34, Weeks 17 (Varsity); Bigelow 13, Weeks 4 (Second).

At the assembly last Friday a representative from the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company exhibited a series of interesting films showing the various materials used in the construction of telephone instruments.

The following Ninth Grade pupils are on the honor roll: Harriette Church, Harriet Conel, Emma Dorr, Edna Fernald, Helen Ford, Florence Furneaux, Laura Gallant, Rene Kiley, Doris Marshall, Jean Patterson, Marvin Perry, Mary Sanguineti, Betty Tobey, Sam Wyatt.

WEEKS JUNIOR H. S.

The Sewing Department has sent to the Red Cross two dozen nightgowns which have been made by the girls. The Red Cross Club is also answering the call for assistance. One group is at work on dresses for one and two-year old children, the material for which has been furnished by the Red Cross. Attractive scrap-books for the Children's Hospital are being assembled by others.

A wooded spot by a babbling brook is all that seems necessary for an outing of the Campcraft Club. The equipment for such a trip has been on display in the show case. A cloth tent made by the girls, a miniature fireplace, an evergreen bed, a log cabin, trail markings, and cooking and eating utensils made from tin cans are some of the products of their club period.

On Wednesday afternoon many pupils greatly enjoyed being mystified by Jake Stafford. Even the most watchful eyes could not perceive how cloth cut in two could weave itself together, and articles could change places by the mere waving of the wand and the saying of magic words.

HEADS EPISCOPALIAN CLUB

James C. Irwin of St. John's Church, Newtonville, was elected president of the Episcopalian Club of Massachusetts at its annual meeting held at the Copley-Plaza on Monday evening. Chester C. Spring of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, was elected one of the two vice-presidents of the club.

SCHOOL CHATS

An authoritative article each week covering important and interesting phases of public school organization and activity.

The Job of the School Committee

The School Committee as we know it grew naturally out of the conditions of pioneer life in New England. The office is deeply rooted in the foundations of American democracy. For more than two centuries school committee members have directed the schools of the nation, keeping them responsive to the will of each community and relatively free from the control of any political party, religious sect or social class. The school committee member is responsible today, as he has been in the past, for keeping the schools open to every individual and for providing the best educational service obtainable for every child in the district.

Functions as a Board of Directors

An efficient school committee member does not have to be qualified to assume direct control of a modern school system. He does not have to be an educator any more than a hospital director needs to be a doctor. The directors of a hospital do not select the members of the hospital staff or employ the elevator boys. They do not tell the surgeons how to remove tonsils or the nurses when to take the temperature of their patients. How absurd it would be if they thought it their duty to select and purchase the surgical instruments, the hot water bottles and bandaging gauze! So the board of directors of any respectable corporation is a policy-forming body. It is not created to manage the enterprise but to study the needs and possibilities and outline of action; to employ trained workers to carry out its policies; to pass judgment on the results obtained. The function of a board of directors is not to do, but to get things done.

In this spirit the Newton School Committee increasingly tries to function. It recognizes that adoption of sound educational policies is the most important duty of a school committee. Educational policies chart the course which the schools will take. If the policies are not correct any amount of administrative efficiency cannot overcome the defect.

For that reason an increasing amount of time and energy is devoted to formulation of policy and more and more routine administrative matters are delegated to responsible employees.

Plenty of Work to Do

Educational policies demand the attention of the committee, not only because of their basic importance, but also because they are numerous. The school committee that delegates administrative matters to its professional staff does not free itself with respect to the amount of work it does. The quantity of work which school committees do and the importance of the service they render have increased thru the years as they have become legislative bodies. A committee which in this day and age is tied down with administrative routine cannot possibly supply the type of constructive leadership that is needed in the schools today.

Next week—The Committee and the Superintendent at Work Together.

Under The Gilded Dome

On Tuesday Governor Ely submitted his 1933 State Budget recommendations to the Legislature and it was promptly referred to the Committee on Ways and Means. The Governor's figures provide for the strictest kind of economy, including an eight months salary reduction, amounting to $900,000, the elimination of a number of departmental divisions and a transfer of an $8,000,000 surplus from the State Highway fund to the general fund in order to make up the deficit in ordinary revenue which the Governor estimates would otherwise make an increase in the State tax to a total of $18,000,000. Total recommendations in the budget for both highway and general funds amount to $56,996,305.56, a decrease of nearly four millions of dollars (about 6 per cent) from the 1932 budget and about 12 per cent under the 1931 figures. Mr. Ely estimates that the budget may be balanced with a State tax of only eight and three quarters million if his recommendations are adopted. With a few exceptions his recommendations incorporate those of the Joint Recess Committee on Public Expenditures which reported to the Legislature last month.

On Tuesday the Ways and Means Committee held a public hearing on the question of a reduction in the salaries of the Legislators. Rep. William B. Baker of Newton, a member of the committee and also of the joint recess committee on Public Expenditures who brought in a minority report affecting some of the recommendations of that committee, spoke in favor of his report to reduce the Legislative salaries by 25%. He compared Mass. salaries with those of other states, quoted from the late Gov. Coolidge's message of 1919 vetoing an increase at that time from $1000 to $1500, and stated that he would not be surprised to find it necessary to increase the State tax to at least $15,000,000 this year. He characterized Gov. Coolidge's message as one of the greatest ever sent to the General Court and said that it was true today as it was then. The message set forth the principles on which legislative compensation should rest. "Service is not obligatory, it is optional; not to be taken as a profession or a means of livelihood—when membership is sought as a means of livelihood legislation will pass from a public function to private enterprise." Russell S. Codman of Boston, Judge Michael H. Sullivan, Wm. A. Lackey and others spoke in favor of a reduction although not in a 25% slash. Rep. C. Nelson Pratt of Saugus led the opposition with a fiery speech aimed at the remarks of the previous speakers. He also quoted Calvin Coolidge expressly directing the Legislators to vote extra compensation for extra sessions. Frank A. Goodwin also spoke at length in opposition.

Governor Ely announced a number of reappointments this week. Included in the list is the name of Richard J. Dunn as trustee of the Metropolitan State Hospital. Among the new appointments which the Council is to consider is that by Commissioner Smith of the department of labor and industries of M. Joseph McCartin as director of State public employment officers. He has been secretary of the Mass. Industrial Commission. If the appointment is confirmed he will succeed Walter H. Neaves who has resigned to accept a position with the Home Bank of N. E.

The first major bill of the year is expected to be brought into the House early next week. It is the bill permitting cities and towns to borrow outside the debt limit to an amount represented by the tax titles now held. Next Monday the Metropolitan Affairs committee will hold a hearing on the petition to extend the Nonantum road parkway through to Galen st., Watertown, near the car barns. The committee will also hear the bill seeking a bathroom at the bathing reservation near the Perkins Institute.

A. Leslie Moriarty of Newton, president of the Federation of State, City and Town employees, appeared before the committee on Public Service on Tuesday to favor his petition prohibiting regularly employed laborers, policemen and firemen from engaging in other employment for hire.

Last Tuesday the first weekly luncheon of Republican leaders, House Chairmen, clerks, and Republican members of the Committees on Rules and Ways and Means met at the Parker House. The luncheons are under the direction of Speaker Saltonstall and discussion is held upon important matters. Newton is the only city whose entire representation is eligible to attend these luncheons. In addition to Speaker Saltonstall, Rep. Luitwieler as House Chairman of State Administration, Rep. Baker as a member of Ways and Means, and Rep. Brimblecom as clerk of the committee on Power and Light, are eligible to attend.

MRS. MARGARET KELLY

Mrs. Margaret Kelly of 956 Walnut st., Newton Highlands, widow of John Kelly, died on Jan. 25. She was a native of Galway, Ireland, and had resided in this city for over 60 years. Her funeral service was held this morning at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. She is survived by five sons, Timothy, Stephen, Joseph, Bartholomew and John Kelly; and a daughter, Mrs. Francis L. McGowan.

By L. D. G. Bentley

Among the things of which there is never a shortage, no matter how trying the general conditions, are demands for police investigations.

Oddments

If somebody doesn't contradict me I am going to declare that when the traffic lights change the advantage always goes to the motorist. Now I'll tell you what I mean by that. Supposing the lights are set in favor of motor traffic and when the change comes in favor of the pedestrians there are still some cars moving. The pedestrians cannot cross until the cars have passed and the seconds allowed them are therefore shortened. Maybe I haven't made myself clear, but I'm trying to say that the time allowance for pedestrians is necessarily clipped under such conditions. But let the lights be set for the pedestrian and a change made in favor of traffic—well, you know as well as I that the automobiles don't wait for the pedestrians to get to the other side. No, indeed, they start up immediately and the poor pedestrians have to scamper. Is it fair?

May I extend my belated gratitude to "An Enthusiastic Skater" who writes "You asked where one could see figure skating these days. Any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon if one should go to the Boston Arena there can be seen the best figure skaters in this country. On Monday evening, Feb. 13, there will be a carnival at the Arena where not only the Boston skaters will appear but six or seven Canadians. Hope this information about figure skating will help."

Bicycles and Snow

This column has tried for some years to persuade bicycle riders to keep off the sidewalks. Readers have endorsed the idea, but the bicyclists seem to have thought it a trifling matter. At least they are still scooting along, endangering the lives of those unable to jump out of the way. A man in Lynn has an idea that all bicycles should be registered. He has made that proposal to the Legislature. It might be a source of satisfaction to more readily identify the rider by whom you had been bumped but I doubt if it would relieve the consequent pain to any great extent. Registration of automobiles doesn't seem to have lessened the number of motor accidents. While there is snow on the sidewalks the bicyclists do not ride there. I wonder if the police aren't more sagacious than we think. Perhaps that's why they haven't enforced the city ordinance compelling the clearing of sidewalks. Possibly they figure that when the sidewalks are covered with snow the bicyclists will remain where they belong. Here's a puzzle for you.

"Live at Home" Farming

Pursuit of trivial and inconsequential things of this world, a weakness of mine, has always prevented me from entering the ranks of home gardeners. My labors in the field of agriculture have been confined to planting a few radish seeds as part of the arrangement of a flower bed. But the flower bed itself has received no more care than was unavoidable. Mowing the lawn, raking leaves and this and that in the rougher form of labor have constituted my entire efforts in the general undertaking of making things grow.

In consequence I cannot share with the genuine home gardeners—a sturdy class of citizens who have always commanded my admiration—the joy they must take in the latest statistical news from Washington. Statistics do not always convey pleasant intelligence, particularly these days, and yet there are occasions on which it is no less than a delight to observe what the figures have to say.

A home gardener who is up early to tend to the cultivation of vegetables is entitled to great credit. Although he enjoys his work and likes to fuss over his garden whenever the opportunity permits he nevertheless feels that he has accomplished something. He usually has and for that reason is the envy of his less ambitious neighbor. I am one of those who have benefited by the generosity of friends with luxuriant tomato crops and such things. To receive gifts of this character makes me feel that I owe my amateur agriculturist friend a debt which cannot easily be met. But I have good news for him. Here is what I find in a document from the capital of our beloved country:

"Home gardening in eastern and central States has already reduced the demand for commercially grown truck crops. It is believed by marketing specialists of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics."

Continuing, the information is spread that shipments of fresh fruit and vegetables have dropped considerably and all because of amateur agriculturists. Well, isn't that something of achievement? To think that by cultivating your own little garden you are making them sit up and take notice down in Washington. Shows what can be done when a majority of citizens are of the same mind.

I like the way it is described by the Washington officials. This is what they say, "A great deal of live at home farming may be expected so long as the present general price level or anything approaching it remains." There's a phrase for you. "Live at home" farming. Much more imposing than "backyard truck garden" or "cabbage patch."

Point of View

Some people retain a sense of humor under circumstances which throw others off their keel. It must be a gift. Here was a man, a Newton resident, facing diminished income, discouraging business prospects and other things for which the present lull in prosperity is responsible.

THE NEW "ROCKNE SIX"

The new ROCKNE SIX is roomier, more powerful and more beautiful than its predecessor, which since its introduction a year ago has climbed from 31st place in the industry to a position among the first ten leaders. The 1933 models and list prices indicate that this Studebaker sponsored car will continue to offer an excellent value for the money. Bodies of quality features heretofore found in automobiles costing from $500 to $700 more. Bodies of the new ROCKNE have been made larger, more comfortable and more attractive. The chassis, already tested and proved by three years of engineering experiment, and one year of practical driving by owners, has been improved. The motor has been given increased power. Improvements in equipment and features that make driving simpler and more pleasant are abundant. Interiors provide more room, and safety glass is standard equipment in the windshields of all passenger cars.

All models have been lowered more than one inch adding to safety and streamlined appearance. All models are equipped with improved Studebaker free-wheeling in all forward speeds, plus synchronized-shift and silent second. The horsepower of the ROCKNE motors has been increased to 70 at 3200 revolutions per minute. Automatic starting, introduced on the first ROCKNE SIXES a year ago, is on all models. Rockne motors are floated in The wheelbase is 110 inches. This generous length, plus the low swinging bodies and effective color combinations, give the car a genuine smartness in the most modern manner.

By Edw. H. Powers

The traffic signal at the intersection of Watertown and Crafts sts. was recently destroyed by an automobile which collided with it. This intersection is one of the most heavily travelled and dangerous in the city. It will be more so in another year when the new Worcester turnpike is completed to Wellesley. Modern traffic signals should be placed at this intersection. They have been placed at other places in this city where they are far less needed.

Do you recall that a few years ago there was much agitation for more leisure time for the masses of the people. Well, they have it.

A group of profound scientists in California are quite interested in cosmic rays. Most folks are more interested about seeking a wage raise.

The much advertised Professor Picard has a bizarre theory which deals with left-handed persons and identical twins. This idea must have occurred to M. Picard when he was away up in the stratosphere.

Talk about the "forgotten man." Consider the plight of the man who was frugal when things were normal and saved enough from his limited income to obtain an equity in a home. Many of this class have been out of work for the past few years. The little savings they had accumulated have vanished. But, because they have an equity in a house (even though they now have difficulty in meeting mortgage interest payments, or cannot meet them) they are out of work when they endeavor to obtain relief. They are told "sell your house." Try and do this under present real estate conditions. And if they do manage to obtain a little money by selling their homes at a big loss, or if they scrape a little cash together by practically giving away personal property, they are merely reduced eventually to the ranks of the totally impoverished. And the shiftless individual who loafed frequently in prosperous times, when he might have been working, and who never endeavored to get ahead, has been able to obtain relief because he had nothing from the start of the depression. Why discriminate so severely against the fellow who did try to help himself?

On February 1st, the Community Service Club of West Newton will hold the third in a series of "Community Service Days for Sewing," under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gardner I. Jones. The meeting will be at 10 a. m. in the Second Church. Sewing for Red Cross and Welfare Sewing is great, and members are urged to set apart this day to assist in the relief of a serious condition.

The February dates of the lectures in the Course of Current Events by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson are February 3rd and 17th, at the Unitarian Church at 10:30 a. m.

The Club Chorus is starting its second series of fourteen rehearsals. New members are welcome and information may be obtained from Mrs. Clifford M. Brewer.

State Federation

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CONFERENCE. Addresses by authorities on International Relations, having direct and interesting bearing on the subject will be delivered at the Annual Conference of the department of International Relations of the State Federation, at the 20th Century Club, 3 Joy street, Boston, on Friday, February 3rd.

Speakers at the Conference, which will open with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock, will include Miss Harriet Whittier, international student, on "Our Relations with the League of Nations"; Francis H. Russell, lawyer and lecturer, on "Debts and Disarmament"; and A. Buel Trowbridge, chairman of the International Student Service and master at Phillips Andover, on "The World's Movements in International Relations."

The list of honor guests includes Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, president of the State Federation; and Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. John H. Kimball, Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth and Mrs. Frederick H. Davis, officers of the Federation.

Miss Helena B. Shipman, chairman of the department, is in charge of the program, which will also feature a one-act play, "Voices," written by Mrs. George B. Ford, and presented by members of the West Roxbury Women's Club. It has been provided that a four-course luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock. Tickets for this at 75 cents may be obtained from Mrs. C. E. Valentine, 362 Wolcott street, Auburndale, before February 1st.

CLUB INSTITUTE. On Thursday morning, February 2nd, the Club Institute, Mrs. George A. Mallon, chairman, has its session in the Auditorium of the Boston Y. W. C. A., corner of Clarendon and Stuart streets, from 10:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. The topic of discussion will be the ever-attractive one of Club Publicity.

RADIO. Grace Morrison Poole, beloved Massachusetts daughter, and president of the General Federation, of which clubwomen of this State are so proud, will speak on the program of the organization of which she is a past president, on Saturday morning, the 4th of February, over station WBZ, during the half-hour 11:30 to noon. In keeping with this great honor will be the musical program of high classical order "For Those Who Love the Best," by Frances Foskette, soprano, of Boston. German Opera, including "Leise Leise," from Der Freischütz, by Von Weber; "Elsa's Traum," from Lohengrin; selections from Wagner; and "Maretta's Lied zur Laute," from Die tote Stadt, by Erich Korngold, will be some of the musical interludes. The District director, speaking to the general topic "Working Together Is Progress," which describes the functions of clubs in various districts, will be Miss Lillian G. Rannels, of the Tenth District.

For tomorrow morning, the 28th, clubwomen are reminded that Morgan T. Ryan, State Registrar of Motor Vehicles, will speak on the arresting subject "Every Day Is Doomsday."

FINE ARTS CONFERENCE. The Fine Arts departments of the State Federation, consisting of the division of Art, Mrs. Roy C. Baker, chairman; division of Music, Mrs. George F. Schroeder, chairman; and the division of Literature and Drama, Mrs. Charles E. P. Thompson, chairman; will unite for a Fine Arts Conference, to be held at the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum, Fenway Court, Worthington street, Boston, next Wednesday afternoon, February 1st, from 1:30 to 4 p. m.

This Conference is, of course, primarily for club chairmen of Art, Literature and Drama, and Music, or their representatives, as well as for State chairmen and officers, but all interested clubwomen are eligible to attend, although, as the attendance is limited to 250, reservations must be made with Mrs. Herbert Stephens, of 347 Mystic street, Arlington, as soon as possible. A pleasing feature will be a guidance period through the museum, before the program.

Greetings will be extended by Morris Carter, director of the Museum, and other items on the program, to be presented in the Tapestry Room, will include an address by Leighton Rollins, founder and managing director of the Surry Playhouse; a short costume and musical play, "Good Night, Babette"; and speakers on music and art.

RECENT EVENTS

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The luncheon of the American Home division of the West Newton Women's Educational Club Thursday, January 19th, was well attended and much enjoyed, in spite of the disagreeable weather. Mrs. Carl Thomas, of 77 Davis avenue, was hostess, and was assisted by Mrs. Roy S. Stinson, Mrs. Thomas Hayden, Mrs. Gilbert Jones, and Mrs. D. Webster Anderson.

After luncheon, two little girls, pupils of the All-Newton Music School, delighted the guests with violin and piano selections. Aida Pucciarelli played the violin, and Dorothy Kovitz the piano, and both received enthusiastic applause.

"Decorating the Dining Room" was the topic selected for the afternoon's study, and Miss Margaret George, of the T. D. Whitney Company, Boston, gave a lecture on the subject, which was extremely interesting and decidedly practical. She used actual materials, including wallpapers, rugs, curtains, and draperies, to illustrate her point in her talk, and by skillful assembling of these materials she visualized for her audience several dining rooms, each expressing individual personality and good taste. She, also, had with her gorgeous specimens of table linens and lace recently received from Italy, in which the members were greatly interested.

Another interesting meeting of the Mothercraft division of the Club was held on Tuesday, January 17th, at the Warren Junior High School, in the form of a Style Show.

The program opened with a violin solo by Miss Barbara Burnett, accompanied by Miss Alice Philbrick. After two amusing readings by Miss Thessa Genova, several ninth grade pupils appeared wearing dresses which they had made in the sewing class of the school.

The special feature of the afternoon was a display of beautiful frocks from Jordan Marsh Company, suitable for all ages and for varied occasions. Adorable in their simplicity were the styles for little tots; chic and snappy the ones for the junior miss; smart and wearable those intended for the matron. The boys were not forgotten, either, and many sport and practical dress clothes were shown for them.

Miss Ann Rumelhart, Jordan's Style Specialist, pointed out interesting details in each frock or coat as it was exhibited, and gave the price for which it could be purchased.

Many of those who served Miss Rumelhart as models were children of Club members, and included the following: Patty Helms, Maureen Helms, Barbara Stinson, Jean Stinson, Arlene Anders, Carolyn Hayden, Dorothy Brackett, Betty Brackett, Dorothy Stinson, Neal MacDonald, Joshua Burnett, Robert Stinson, and John Gourville.

The adult models were shown by two of the "Warren" teachers, Miss Gray and Mrs. Holman, and by Mrs. W. C. Trow, of the Jordan staff.

Mrs. G. Howard Frost presided at the piano during the exhibition.

West Newton Junior Educational Club

The last meeting of the West Newton Junior was held on Tuesday evening in the Community room of the West Newton Library. The president, Miss Kate Black, presided and presented the speaker for the evening, Miss Georgia L. Ely. Miss Ely was from the International Institute, a branch of the Young Women's Christian Association, founded for the purpose of aiding foreign and foreign-speaking women. The Club greatly enjoyed Miss Ely's talk.

A theatre party is being planned for sometime in February. The next Club meeting will be held on February 14th which will be guest night, when the Club will have as guests of honor, Mrs. Charles C. Willson, the District advisor of Junior Membership, and Mrs. I. William Crowell, the State director of Junior Membership. The speaker for that meeting will be Mr. Sterling Williams.

Community Service Club of West Newton

Among many interesting afternoons planned by the Program committee of the Community Service Club of West Newton, of which Mrs. Sumner Robinson is chairman, the lecture on January 18th, by Henry Warren Poor will stand out as providing one of the especially enjoyable and worthwhile meetings of the year. The subject was "Famous Paintings; by Old Masters and New."

Mr. Poor is an artist of note, an author, lecturer, and traveler. He gave brief but constructive accounts of the careers of many famous artists, including John Singleton Copley, for whom Copley square is named; Gilbert Stuart, in whose memory Boston's Stuart Street bears his name; John Singer Sargent, Winston Homer, and many other notable painters, showing on the screen beautiful reproductions of the most famous paintings of each, together with the best and most famous from the galleries and private collections in America and Europe.

In contrast to these masterpieces, Mr. Poor showed examples of so-called "modern" art, cubist and futurist in character, fearfully and wonderfully conceived and depicted. His talk was delightfully informal, frequently humorous, and altogether entertaining and enlightening.

A social hour followed the lecture, with tea served by a committee under the direction of Mrs. Stuart B. Dunham. Mrs. D. M. DeBard and Mrs. H. F. Morse presided at a charming tea table, made refreshing and spring-like with a beautiful centerpiece of daffodils and other spring flowers, with tall candles.

Shakespeare Club

Mrs. F. L. Keith was hostess for the Shakespeare Club on Saturday, January 21st.

The work for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. W. E. Moore who brought out through the members the reasons why the four Romantic Comedies, "Merchant of Venice," "As You Like It," "Much Ado," and "Twelfth Night," are classified as masterpieces of Shakespeare. He had ended one great ambition—the historical plays—and not yet commenced his great tragedies. They represented a resting-place, where he sent his imagination into the woods, and into an undiscovered country of dreams, where one is not fettered by the sordid bonds of everyday life.

The many types of love in "Twelfth Night" were admirably drawn by Mrs. B. R. Gilbert. Antonio's fatherly love; Sebastian's the love of a friend; in need; Sir Andrew's, an accomplice's love; Maria's, an ambitious love; Olivia's love maternal; the Duke's fanciful; Mayoles's self-love; but Viola's love of the truest and highest order.

The afternoon was one replete with enjoyment of the great dramatist's art.

Newton Federation

The January meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs took place at the Newton Library, Centre street, on Monday morning, January 23rd.

Attention was called to a meeting of the Mothercrafts Club of Massachusetts to be held on the 7th of February at 2 p. m., at the Abraham Lincoln School, Arlington street, Boston, with a very attractive program by good speakers, and a cordial invitation is extended to all clubwomen to attend.

Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, of Auburndale, chairman of the Legislative committee, gave notice of bills to be presented, and called attention to the State Conference of International Affairs to be held at the Twentieth Century Club, Joy street, Boston, on February 3rd, at 12:30. Attendance is not limited to club members.

The inspection of the new City Hall indefinitely planned last November, has been arranged for Tuesday, January 31st. Mrs. Valentine asks those interested to be at the Walnut street entrance at 9:45 a. m., and all clubwomen are invited.

A report on the receipts to date from the sale of Christmas seals was read by Mrs. Charles A. Riley, of Newton Centre, chairman of the Health Seal committee. Although the total of receipts is not so large as last year, Mrs. Riley expressed satisfaction and pleasure in being able to read so good a report, and paid high tribute to the members of her committee for their earnest work, resulting in obtaining such a large sum. Over $5,380 has been received. This work was separate from the Community Chest drive, being a part of a National movement.

A most cordial and hearty invitation to attend the Mid-Year Meeting on January 26th was extended by Mrs. Daniel M. Goodrich, president of the Newton Community Club. This Club is taking great pride and pleasure in entertaining the Federation at a time when one of its members holds the office of president, and no pains have been spared to make this date a memorable one.

Interest was expressed in the Herold Beautification Contest, and Mrs. Waldo W. Walker, of Newtonville, chairman of the committee on Conservation of Natural Resources, plans to have her group consider the subject.

NOTED WHISTLER IN NEWTON SUN. EVG.

Miss Beatrice Henderson, a noted whistler, will appear at the Newton Methodist Church, corner Centre and Wesley streets, this coming Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Henderson is perhaps America's foremost whistler, rivalling the songbirds in clarity of tone. She whistles the gospel hymns in an unforgettable way. She gave a program at Tremont Temple a few weeks ago and whistled her way into the hearts of the audience. Rev. Mr. Hill, the minister, will present a book sermon based on Channing Pollock's latest play, "The House Beautiful."

SENIOR CLASS PLAY WELL PRESENTED

Working under the handicaps of a partially filled house and the acoustic properties of High School Hall, which are none too good, the cast of the Newton High School Senior Class which presented "The Admirable Creighton" on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, gave a very creditable performance. The roles, without exception, had been well learned, and the eccentric characters and ludicrous situations of Barrie's play which makes a psychological analysis of English social distinctions, were well visualized.

The second act, when the family and guests of the "Hon. Ernest Wooley" with eccentric notions of a condescending democratic relationship between lord and servants, had been wrecked on a South Sea Island, was worked out with a realism in stage setting and costuming which was really delightful. The climax of the play was reached in the third act when the party had lived in true Robinson Crusoe style for two years, and had been organized in their fight for existence under "Creighton," the former butler. While the stage setting and costumes were not fully realistic, the subtle satire of the author was well brought out and the acting was entirely entertaining.

While all parts were well taken, the following players deserve special mention: Julian M. Barron as the Earl for his costuming, impersonation and enunciation; Jean C. Beach as Tweeny for her costumes, her interpretations and her personal charm; Robert P. Giddings as Ernest for his dialect and mannerisms; and Roger Maynard as Creighton for his conventional bearing as the Butler and his restrained dignity as commanding officer.

The players were coached by Miss Nute of the English Department and the class chairman of the costume committee was Carolyn C. Raye.
